THE MONTREAL OUTRAGE

Judge Dugas and the other Montreal authorities which were connected with the gross outrage involved in the arrest of Miss Tibbitts of Fredericton, remained true to their character to the last. There was a consistency of conduct in their conduct which points them out as admirably adapted to the police service of Canada, but which rather impairs their usefulness in a country where the British flag waves. Judge Dugas, who is possible more culpable than any one else concerned in this infamous business, made an attempt to conduct the inquiry in private, and it was only on the strong remonstrances of the press of Montreal that his representatives were admitted to this British court of justice, which like all other British courts should be open. This attempt to dispose of the case in secret was quite in keeping with the proceedings of this letter on the case of Justice Dugas. He has been expelling his indignity in a vain effort to justify his conduct in issuing such a warrant as that under which Miss Tibbitts was arrested, but without any sort of success. The fact is that quite independently of the badness of the warrant in other respects, there was no proof whatever that the lady was a woman against whom the warrant was issued had committed any crime. If Miss Tibbitts had been in Montreal on the 25th of March last, and if she had been seen to take the arm of Henson, senior, and walk away with him, there was nothing whatever in these facts to justify the issuing of a warrant against her. The whole case of the Mulcahy family over which Judge Dugas grows so pathetic, is either a mere delusion or is being used by them to cover up something of which they are ashamed. Time, no doubt, will disclose the cause of all this commotion in the Mulcahy family, in whose proceedings Judge Dugas takes such a remarkable and unusual degree of interest.

When Miss Tibbitts was arrested every effort was made to conceal the fact from the press. Although the arrest was effected early on Saturday no Montreal newspaper knew anything about it until Monday morning, when a telegram was sent from the Gazette office to Montreal journal. It was then with the utmost difficulty that the facts in regard to the arrest were obtained. We have already commented on the infancy of the conduct of the police authorities in attempting to extort a confession from the young lady, and their refusal to permit the friends of Miss Tibbitts to her counsel to see her. The only thing apparently wanting to bring the Montreal police court in line with the most modern of the dark ages is the intention of the tribunal to screw the rack.

The Mulcahy persisted to the last in defiance of light and reason, in the attempt to prove that Miss Tibbitts was the young woman for whom they were looking, and they engaged a criminal lawyer who extorted his indignity in efforts to entangle her in contradictions when she gave her testimony on the stand.

These despicable tactics were worthy of the people who employed them, and of the cases in which they were employed. To them the evidence of the college books and of its president was as nothing; they were determined to make Miss Tibbitts appear to be the guilty party, and but for the pressure which compelled this modern Jefferys, Dugas to open his Court, Miss Tibbitts would, no doubt, have been committed for trial, in spite of the clearest proof that she was an utter stranger to the Mulcahy and their shady proceedings.

As we said yesterday, the friends of Miss Tibbitts must not allow this matter to rest where it is, but must prosecute the Mulcahy and Judge Dugas to the full extent of the law. It is time that the manner of administering justice in the Province of Quebec was made the subject of a searching inquiry.

LET VOTERS REGISTER.

The other day we called attention to the fact that the Conservative leaders here were making no effort to have Conservative voters registered, but that they were being allowed to drift as they were prior to the last general election. The leaders seem to have awakened to the fact that public opinion would condemn them for their neglect, and accordingly we find the following in the Sun of this morning:

The committee have secured an office at 507 Palmer Chambers, Princess Street, where all friends are invited to call and obtain the necessary information and assistance to have their names enrolled, thereby enabling them to vote at the next Dominion election.

No copy of this announcement has been sent to the Gazette office, nor have we been favored with the names of the committee, but we cheerfully give the notice the benefit of our large circulation, and trust that every Conservative in the city and county of St. John, whose name is not on the list of voters and who is entitled to a vote under the Dominion statute, will see that his name is placed on the list at once. There is no doubt that young Conservatives in this constituency who are in this position, and who should be voters at the next election, will be a great deal more diligent in the result of the next election in St. John, and

THE ALLEGED SHORT CROP.

The cable yesterday brought the usual stories, which are always current at this season of the year, in regard to the crops being short in Europe and the East. These reports may possibly be true, but they are much more likely to be false, for they are issued for the purpose of raising the price of wheat and enabling a few speculators in Chicago to control the market. Last year, as our readers will remember, the price of wheat and of flour advanced sharply to a figure which had not before been reached for a long time, and yet, as was abundantly proved later, there was no good reason for such an advance. The world's crop of wheat was not short. When American wheat rose above its proper value the British purchasers simply refused to buy it, and looked elsewhere for their supplies. The consequence was that the export of wheat fell off very largely, and that a vast amount of last year's wheat still remains in the hands of the western farmers, unsold.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

The Halifax Herald advises all its friends to prepare for the elections. Dominion as well as local, and points out that the change of a few very votes will give the Conservatives a majority in the Provincial Legislature. The following statement, which our esteemed contemporary makes is interesting:

In Annapolis a change of 13 votes would have left J. W. Lundy at home. In Colchester a change of 70 votes would have left F. A. Lawrence at home. In Cumberland a change of 23 votes would have left John A. Fraser at home. In Kings a change of 42 votes would have left Leander Band at home. In Pictou a change of 10 votes would have left Jeffery McGill at home. In Queens a change of 81 votes would have removed W. J. MacCoy. In Victoria a change of 24 votes would have left John A. Fraser at home. In Richmond a change of 82 votes would have left John A. Fraser at home. In a word, a change of no more than 53 votes in the province of Nova Scotia would have given the Liberal-Conservative government a majority of four members in the house of assembly, even in the repeal of June, 1898.

The Globe, after its usual custom, yesterday manufactured an editorial, by writing three lines of introduction, and seven or eight lines of conclusion, the rest of the editorial being boldly clipped out of an American paper with the scissors. The article was headed "Two Lives," and it described the careers of the late S. L. Barlow, a New York lawyer, and Maurice B. Flynn, a New York politician. The people of St. John were invited to admire the lives of these two men, especially of Flynn, who, we are told, died worth $200,000. The Globe says: "It is a noteworthy fact that the United States gives men great opportunities for education, for work, and for the accumulation of wealth." The Globe should have told its readers that when Flynn, who is held up as an example for imitation by the youth of New Brunswick, had a narrow escape from being sent to the penitentiary.

The Globe yesterday had an alleged interview with Mr. Collingwood Schreiber, in which he is reported to have expressed himself as follows:

St. John people, he said, would not be pleased to learn that the Harbord wharf survey has been pushed and that it looked as if they would shortly be the distance by about 33 miles instead of 27, as was at first supposed.

If Mr. Schreiber really expressed himself as above reported it would seem to indicate that he takes a particular and personal interest in displaying his hostility to St. John. This is hardly wise even for so great a man as Mr. Schreiber would seem to be.

The Gazette yesterday again distanced its evening contemporary by the publication of the only account of the proceedings of the Court in Montreal in the case of Miss Tibbitts, up to the hour of going to press. The Globe, both on Monday and yesterday showed its incapacity to give the public the news which they were so anxious to hear.

The Toronto Mail wants to know what "service" means by saying that the view of its despatch, and "service" privileges Halifax ought to be reduced to "the measure of the measure." The meaning of this is that Halifax, which has always been unduly favored in the expenditure of public money, should no longer be given the preference over St. John, as has been the case in times past. Halifax should no longer be treated as if it was Canada's only port, but it should be placed on an equal footing with other Canadian ports and given no undue advantage over them.

If we were to judge of the character of the people of the United States by their newspapers we would be forced to place them on a very low scale. They still continue to be filled with details of the doings of Sullivan and Kilrain. The New York Sun on Sunday devoted a page and a half to details of the fight, with illustrations taken from instantaneous photographs of its various phases. Sullivan, in the eyes of the American newspapers, is a greater man than George Washington ever was.

Provincial Points.

The effect of a decision by the Supreme Court, on Monday, in the matter of the St. John Building Society, is that all mortgages escape liability. The decision is very important, too, as regards the holders of stock.

At the opening of the July circuit of the Supreme Court in Fredericton yesterday, Judge King commented severely on the condition of the jail and thought that if the council allowed it to continue, the government should compel a proper regard for the safety and health of prisoners confined there.

The Odd-fellows of Sussex opened their new lodge room last evening with appropriate ceremonies. The following officers were publicly installed: W. B. McKay, N. G.; W. J. Miles, V. G.; J. Thompson, R. M.; and P. W. W. Smith, T. The remainder of the evening was spent with speeches, music, etc.

Those who investigate for excellence and unexcelled beauty in photography should call at Mr. C. M. German street.

OUR TORONTO LETTER.

HOW "THE TWELVE" WAS CELEBRATED IN ONTARIO.

The Jesuit Question Discussed in Many Cities and Towns—Ontario Schools.

Toronto, July 15.—"The Twelve" has come and gone. It was the latest day of Orangemen's Ontario has ever known. The Orange body in this part of the Dominion is strong in numbers and in influence. Many of the most active politicians are found in its ranks. It has been the backbone of the Conservative party in Ontario. Sir John Macdonald was made an Orangeman many years ago. The body had for its head master for a number of years the late Hon. John Hilyard Cameron, one of the ablest lawyers, and one of the most perfect gentlemen Ontario ever saw. The order was never more popular than it is today. Owing to the feeling aroused by the discussion of the Jesuit estates Act, thousands of Ontarians have joined the Orange lodges of Ontario during the past few months. In Toronto alone they have gone in recently 150 in a day. In Friday's procession in Toronto from 6,000 to 7,000 walked, the procession being an hour in passing a given point. 27 bands played. These were mostly local Orangemen. In scores of Ontario towns there were similar gatherings. The day being kept as a holiday wherever these enormous crowds assembled. The bodies of spectators at the different places were numbering the thousands. From 5,000 to 10,000 in the rural districts, to 25,000 in Toronto. To say that a quarter of a million of people turned out to see Orangemen marching on the streets of Ontario is no exaggeration, for it is far within the mark. The railways and steamboats did a rushing business. The most prominent speakers were Dalton McCarthy, M. P. (St. Catharines), John Charlton, M. P. (St. Catharines), John White, M. P. (St. Catharines), and John H. Macdonald, M. P. (St. Catharines). In Kings a change of 42 votes would have left Leander Band at home. In Pictou a change of 10 votes would have left Jeffery McGill at home. In Queens a change of 81 votes would have removed W. J. MacCoy. In Victoria a change of 24 votes would have left John A.
