SPORTING MATTERS

MONTEAL MEN WON.

TRURO DEFEATS MONCTON. TRURO, N. B., Jan. 21.—Real interest in the game of hockey was witnessed tonight by a contest between the Moncton and Truro teams. Nearly a thousand people attended. Play was called at nine o'clock. The Moncton men were very loudly cheered when coming on and manifestations of a hearty desire to see them show their mettle, greeted them on every side. Truro's men had made every preparation to give them a big battle. Especial strength was given to the protection of the goal. Here were placed William Hay as cover, McGrath at point, and Seymour MacKenzie in goal. The plan was well executed, and to this it is to be credited that Moncton's centre to within a few feet of Truro's point. A melee ensued and for fully five minutes the play continued in this neighborhood. Then McGrath got hold and carried it up near to Moncton's goal, whence it found a way home, but who shot it there is a question. McGrath's shot was a quick one. Truro's defence was a battery of sticks, only to be stopped by the buttresses of MacKenzie, Hay and McGrath. When the ball rang the score stood one to nothing in favor of Truro. The spectators thought when the half ended that they had never witnessed a more exciting or better played hockey match. They were treated to a surprise throughout the second half. Moncton determined to break Truro's defense and a battery seemed to have been sprung anew. Shot after shot was piled in only to be stopped amidst vociferous applause. It was whirlwind work, McGrath of Truro giving the visitors some lovely Truro scores again. This was accomplished by David Hay, McGrath and run the length of the ice had pushed by Styles, Gregory and Crockett. He fell but managed to pass to Hay. The latter shot home and goal two was scored. The last ten minutes Moncton made a most determined onslaught. They shot to Truro's goal ten times to one, but were stopped by McGrath. Their work was futile, however, and the game ended without further scoring. Truro audiences have witnessed many contests, but never such an one as this. They crowded round both teams and without discrimination loaded the members with praise. Those who missed this game may be said to have missed the game of their lives. The teams lined up as follows: Moncton. Goal. MacKenzie. Point. Crockett. Brown. Cover point. W. Hay. Styles. Centre. D. Hay. Gregory.

MARYVILLE DEFEAT SUSSEX.

SUSSEX, Jan. 21.—The feature of the Maryville-Sussex hockey match this evening was the fine team play of the men from the cotton town. Sussex mixed with great vim at the start, and kept their opponents guessing for a few minutes. But Maryville soon found the weak spots and scored four goals in the first half. In a minute after play began again they found the net for another and then Sussex rallied, made a fine rush, and Odell scored. The Maryville combination, however, proved too much for them after that, and the game ended with the Sussex boys at the small end of an 8 to 1 score. The game was a fast and clean one, and much more interesting than the score would indicate. Individually the Sussex team worked hard and McLeod defended his goal well, but team play was lacking. The general opinion is that Maryville has good chances of winning over Sackville tomorrow night. The lines up was as follows: Maryville. Goal. McLeod. Fullerton. Colgin. Point. Brogan. Cover point. Cain. Wright. Right wing. Hovey. Wallace. Centre. Inch. Doyle. Left wing. Dennison. Odell. Rows. Robinson. Burden.

CURLING.

MONTEAL BONSPEL. MONTEAL, Jan. 21.—There were no granite competitors in the Centenary bonspiel today, consequently the New Brunswick curlers did not play. Most of the St. John men saw the Stanley cup contest at the Arena tonight between the Wanderers and Kenos. The granite competition will start tomorrow. In the single rink championship St. John or Fredericton does not play in the first round. Draws for the second round include: The winner of Mattison and Robertson vs. T. L. Fowler, Fredericton; Jas. Tibbits, Fredericton; vs. A. D. McFear, Toronto; G. C. Allen, Moncton; vs. A. A. Andrew, Campbellton; W. B. Dillon, Kingston; vs. J. S. Malcolm, St. John; D. Guthrie, St. Lawrence; vs. J. P. Shaw, St. John. For the granite cup first round this evening, St. John, will meet Prescott; Campbellton plays Peterboro; Quebec and Moncton against New York.

BASKET BALL.

LAST NIGHT'S GAMES. The basket ball games in St. Paul's gymnasium were of the first class for last evening, and the crowd who were there saw some fine sport. The first game was between the Portland Methodist and St. Paul's teams. The game was an easy one for the Portland, who won by a score of 25 to 6. The teams lined up as follows:

Portland Methodists. St. Paul's. Defense. Starks. Wilson. Gandy. Centre. Stevens. Forwards. Knox. Coram. London. Geo. Stubbs referred. The game between the Marathons and Algonquins was more even, the Marathons winning by a score of 15 to 7. For the victors Stubbs and Crawford were the stars, while Rising marked Thorne well, he being the most dangerous man for the Indians. A. Roberts played a good defense game for the Indians. The teams lined up as follows: Marathons. Defense. Algonquins. Crawford. Pinley. Stubbs. A. Roberts. Centre. Thorne. Rising. Forwards. Brown. D. Roberts. Ledingham.

ON THE ALLEYS.

FREDERICTON, N. B., Jan. 21.—The roll-off of the five highest contestants in candle pins and ten pins, for the week, the former at the Queen Hotel, this evening drew a large number of spectators. F. P. McLeod carried the prize in candle pins, rolling a total of 290, composed of three strikes, 96, 93, 91. John Fairley won the ten pins series with a total of 413 as follows: 156, 149 and 154. The bowling in this contest was not up to the average, the winner having but an average of 115-5-4.

THE NOTORIOUS POWERS FAMILY

Tried in Supreme Court at Charlottetown

Some of the Gang Assaulted an Indian—Others Charged With Beating Policemen.

(Special to the Star.) CHARLOTTETOWN, Jan. 21.—At the present session of the Supreme Court, there were three criminal cases. Two of these were of especial interest to Charlottetown people from the fact that three members of the notorious Powers family were implicated. For a number of years it has generally been a conflict between the policemen (the powers that be), against the Powers that would be. The family consists of the father and four sons, all men of more than ordinary stature, of great strength, and who are regular demons when drunk. While the father has practically retired from active disorder, the sons are by no means so docile, and figure more prominently in the police court than any family in the province. They have not come off wholly unscathed in the various affairs in which they have participated. Several years ago William Power threw a custodian at a barkeeper, the latter in return firing a bullet in William's leg, necessitating the amputating of that limb. Frank lost an arm, as a result of an escapade, and the old man carries somewhere in his body a bullet, also received in a brawl. Some years ago two of the police were badly injured in an attempt to arrest several members of the family and their friends. One of the Powers fled the island, was in an insane asylum, and after a number of years came back to Charlottetown. Not long after his arrival a woman named Warren was found murdered with her head badly hacked with an axe. A suspicion strongly pointed to Michael Power, but although Pinkerton detectives were here for some time on the case, they were unable to secure sufficient evidence to lead to his conviction, although it was currently reported that the people of that neighborhood could divulge information if they were not afraid of the Power family. At the two Michael Power is now in the asylum as a criminal lunatic. In the two cases above mentioned tried at Charlottetown this week, one was against William Power, the one-legged man, and a certain John King, another notorious character, charged with brutally beating an Indian, Noel Abraham, at a certain lodging house of rather questionable reputation in the city. The Indian, who was sleeping on the lounge in the sitting room was awakened at midnight by these men, and when he arose to leave the room was kicked, cuffed and knocked about generally. To escape them, he squeezed himself through a window pane, reached the street and from thence sought the police station, half dead on a cold wintry night. The defence claimed that the Indian was the aggressor, that he uttered a warwhoop, and leaped upon William Power's back, but Abraham was a very small man, of peaceful disposition, and the jury, not believing the prisoners' story, found them guilty. The second case, to the disappointment of the law-abiding portion of the community, who earnestly wished for a conviction ended in a disagreement by the jury. In this case Francis Power, the one armed man, his brother James Power, who has still all his limbs, John King, and one Edward Hennessey, were charged with assaulting Police Officers Taylor and Kiggins, after midnight, on the 10th inst. in the lounge in the lower part of the city, when they heard the four prisoners utter obscene and profane language. The officer told them that this language was not allowed on the streets and walked past them. On coming up the street again they found the four men sitting on a window sill and ordered them to move on. All obeyed except James Power. Taylor took him by the arm and told him that he must move on, where, at the moment, according to the officer's story, made at him in a fighting attitude and was struck by the officer's club. Kiggins, the other officer, got into a tussle with Francis, and the three others devoted their attention to Taylor, who in a moment had his head split open, his arm cut, his body bruised and received on the whole a very severe punishment. The officers were unable to make an arrest and for some weeks as a result of the beating he received. Some of the words were made with a piece of board, that one of the prisoners had picked up off the street. Two of the prisoners were arrested in Charlottetown, and two others at Fort Morien, C. B., where they had gone as stowaways on the steamer Garibaldi. They were tried in the magistrate's court, and sent up to the supreme court.

NORTH DAKOTA IN THE GRIP OF A BLIZZARD

Storm is So Bad That Trains Are Unable to Move—The Worst in Fifty Years!

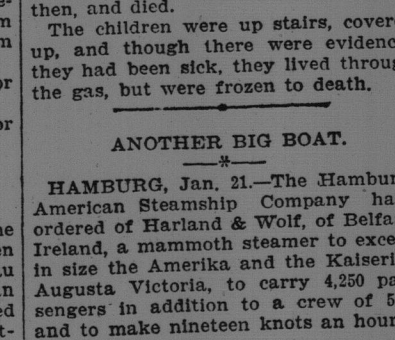

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 21.—The heavy snow which covers North Dakota for miles is piled in drifts of unprecedented depth, covering in some cases houses and barns. In anticipation of the blizzard all the railroads were closed every effort to bring to the towns of the state trains filled with coal and provisions, for now every line in North Dakota is at the mercy of the elements. Not a train had been received at St. Paul for three days. The blizzard which swept over the Northwest on Friday night, was the worst in fifty years. The weather, however, moderated today, and everywhere gangs of men were at work shoveling to clear the snow from houses and from railroad tracks. CALGARY, Jan. 21.—Edward Ferdinand, of Calgary, and his wife and probably two children, came to their death a couple of nights ago. On Saturday the police broke into the house and found Ferdinand and his wife dead, a still born child in the bed and two children nearly dead, who have since been revived. Mrs. Ferdinand was found near the stove, and the stove pipes were apart. Ferdinand was in bed. The theory advanced is that Ferdinand was overcome by gas, that his wife rose to fix the stove, that her baby was born under these circumstances, and that she rose up again, making a supreme effort to save herself and children, as shown by her footprints upon a chair by the stove. Evidently she fainted then, and died. The children were up stairs, covered up, and though there were evidences they had been sick, they lived through the gas, but were frozen to death.

TRAGEDY AT CALGARY.

Another Big Boat. HAMBURG, Jan. 21.—The Hamburg-American Steamship Company have ordered of Harland & Wolff of Belfast, Ireland, a mammoth steamer to exceed in size the America and the Kaiserine Augusta Victoria, to carry 450 passengers in addition to a crew of 500, and to make nineteen knots an hour.

The weather, however, moderated today, and everywhere gangs of men were at work shoveling to clear the snow from houses and from railroad tracks. CALGARY, Jan. 21.—Edward Ferdinand, of Calgary, and his wife and probably two children, came to their death a couple of nights ago. On Saturday the police broke into the house and found Ferdinand and his wife dead, a still born child in the bed and two children nearly dead, who have since been revived. Mrs. Ferdinand was found near the stove, and the stove pipes were apart. Ferdinand was in bed. The theory advanced is that Ferdinand was overcome by gas, that his wife rose to fix the stove, that her baby was born under these circumstances, and that she rose up again, making a supreme effort to save herself and children, as shown by her footprints upon a chair by the stove. Evidently she fainted then, and died. The children were up stairs, covered up, and though there were evidences they had been sick, they lived through the gas, but were frozen to death.
