A Great Change for the Better in Manila in Two Years-Few U.S. Soldiers Re-enlisting.

WOODSTOCK, Feb. 26 .- John Driscoll of this town, engaged with Uncle Sam's forces in the Philippines, writes as follows to his mother under date of Jan. 18th: "I am now on my way back to the United States to be discharged from the army. I left B company on Dec. 24th at Eclague. We were fortunate enough to find a boat awaiting us at the town of Canyar, so did not lose any time and were soon floating down the Canyar River. We spent Christmas eve at the town of Majillan; a de-Toreato tachment of F company were stationed there. The place was beautifully decorated with paper lanterns of all designs constructed by the Filipinos themselves. Christmas day we spent on the river. On the 28th we arrived " 0 52 at the town of Apavi, which is also the headquarters of the 16th U.S. infantry. I had a very nice time on New Year's day. The 16th band furnished a fine musical programme, which was the feature of the day. On the 5th of January we left Apairi for Manila on a steamship, a Spanish vessel. The first night out the China Sea was ter-0 10¼ 0 04 0 10 rible, and almost everyone on board was sick, myself included. The vessel was pretty well crowded with passengers of almost all nationalities, from the clean Jap to the dirty Chino. We * 2 25 arrived in Manila on the 9th, and as we entered the bay the flagship of the Russian navy was firing a salute of 21 guns. There were seven men-of-war all told, and powerful looking fighting machines they appeared to be. After sailing in further we passed a British war vessel. The jackies gave us three 0 10¹/₂ 0 06³/₄ 0 06 2 25 cheers from her, and of course they were returned with a will. We dropped anchor while the health officers came 3 50 9 00 0 20 3 50 0 00 aboard. They pronounced everything O. K., and we once more sailed on our way. In a short time we were at the mouth of the Pasig River, when a tug 0 14 0 12 hooked on to us and towed us up the river to the docks. From there we 0 06 marched across the bridge of Spain. around the outskirts of the walled city to Camp Wallace, which is the finest driveway in the Philippines. A fine view of the bay can be had from here. It is no common thing to see 500 peo-0 10 0 12 ple of all nationalities sitting around watching the ships riding at anchor. while tugs of all sorts and shapes keep bobbing up around them. There is also plenty of amusement watching the turnouts on the driveway, from the Philippine with his pony to the American with his coach and four There are also automobiles and bicycles mixed in the crowd. Camp Wallace is a city of canvas tents. There are now about 1,200 soldiers here waiting to be sent back to the United States. The men are formed into companies just as soon as they arrive. All the tents have a board floor in them, and two men are assigned to each tent. We have iso canvas beds to sleep on and plent of food to eat, which is of the best; plenty of fresh beef daily, besides vegetables of all kinds. We have no "White Rose" and Ches-ter A" 0 18% guard work to do of any kind, and we ter A"..... 0 00 "High Grade Sarnia" and have only to report twice a day, once 0 17% in the morning and in the evening. 0 16% The rest of the day is our own. The most of the men are in very poor 0 82 health and few of them are re-enlisting, as they are all disgusted with sol-0 52 diering in the Philippine islands. There has been quite a change in Manila since I left it over two years ago. All the streets are clean, as are also the stores and houses, and everything is carried on in a morse business way. The transport Meade sails for the United States on the 17th of Jan., and companies from one to four are going on her, besides all the sick who are now in Mahila. The transport Hancock is booked to sail on the 28th of Jan. If she does that will catch No. 7. If not I do not expect to leave here until the 15th of February. There is a pretty tough gang hanging around the city here, and a number of young fellows have been robbed of their money and in some cases killed by knockout drops served to them in drinks. A big policeman was killed on the 12th that way and robbed of $40. I expect to be in Woodstock some time next April if I am in luck."

fact raises in the mind of the statistician the question: "Is crime on the increase generally?" Socially the usual Lenten quiet prevails in the town. The First Baptist church voted on Wednesday night to paint and otherwise renovate the entire interior of their large church edifice. Work of a similar kind has already been performed on all the other churches of the town.

SACKVILLE, N. B., March 1 .- The concert given by the faculty of Mt. Allison Musical Conservatory on Friday night was a brilliant success. A large and appreciative audience was present. Each soloist received abundant applause, and it would be difficult to tell just who was the favorite of the evening. The first number of Dr. Archibald and Prof. Wilson showed the mastery which they have over their instruments. The notes blended into delightful har-mony, which called forth deafening ap-plause. Miss Hathaway's numbers were pleasing and received recalls. Miss A. Richardson, who appeared for the first time before a Sackville audience, scored a brilliant triumph. All that the press of England and Canada have said of her is true and more. She has a fine voice, a clear accent, perfect enunciation, and a dramatic powe which makes her audience think and feel as she wills. In response to insist ent applause Miss Richardson gave a humorous selection from The Mill on the Floss, which gave evidence of great versatility. In her second number Miss Richardson was equally happy, and when she had finished the enthusiasm was unbounded.

Miss Stark's selections were well suited to her rich contralto voice, and called forth deserved applause. Miss Few sang in a very pleasing manner. Her selection was particularly happy and was much appreciated. Prof. Wilson, who has already endeared himself to Mt. Allison students and to the people of the town, played as few can play. He has the musical temperament, a brilliant technique and a power to put soul into his music. Dr. Archild made his violin give forth exquisite harmony. He handles the bow in a masterful way, and the music called forth ranged from grave to gay. He received a very hearty encore. Miss Pratt received a well merited recall. She has a brilliant technique for so young a player.

ST. ANDREWS, N. B., March 1 .- Al a largely attended meeting of the male rs of the congregation of All Saints' church, held in the school room on Thursday evening, the 27th ult., the the Rev. R. J. Langford, rector, in chair, the following resolutions were unanimously passed, viz.:

1. That the Rev. R. J. Langford be president, and the members of the church corporation, with Messrs. Wm. Holt and H. O. Rigby, vice-presidents; Charles Richardson, secretary-treasurer.

2. Working committee: William Holt, Charles Richardson, D. A. Stuart, jr. H. O. Rigby, Desmond Jenkins and Charles Horsnell.

The concert given on Tuesday evening under the auspices of the Epworth League of the Methodist church was a marked success, the proceeds amounting to over $41. Rv. Mr. Lawson was master of ceremonies. James Corbett arrived home Tuesday from Boston, where he has been at work for a fw months.

Eiline, daughter of James E. Osborne, was taken ill suddenly with congestion this week.

FREDERICTON, March 2. - The heavy rain of last evening and today made the roads leading into the city almost impassable. The crossing on the river by the roads is suspended, as there is from three to four feet of water in places over the ice.

Donald Fraser and Mrs. Fraser returned yesterday from a two months' visit to England and Scotland. J. W. Slipp, who died last week at Hampstead, has left a legacy amounting, it is said, to several hundred dollars to the deaf and dumb institution in this city. The institution is doing a good work for the deaf mutes of the province, many of whom are children of poor parents, and the bequest of the deceased gentleman could not have been given to a more worthy object.

Pain in the Back

makes life miserable. Can it be cured? Yes, in one night. Polson's Nerviline gives a complete knockout to pain in the back, for it penetrates through the tissues, takes out the soreness and pain, invigorates tired muscles, and makes you feel like a new man. Nerviline cures quickly because it is stronger, more penetrating, more highly pain-subduing that any other remedy. Don't suffer another minute, get Nerviline quick, and rub it in, for sure as you were born it will cure you. 25c.
