FIRE APPARATUS IN READINESS WAS MEANS OF PREVENTING A BAD FIRE ON STEAMER SENLAC

A serious fire was prevented on board the steamer Senlac yesterday afternoon by the fact that the apparatus for extinguishing the flames was quite by accident ready to the hands of those on board.

The blaze broke out in the engine room, where painting is being done in the course of a general overhauling of the vessel.

A piece of lighted tow was dropped into a can of paint oil, which immediately blazed up and caused the man who held it to drop the can. The flames followed the oil and the sides of the engine room were immediately a mass of fire.

Fortunately, however, the process of filling the boiler with water had just been completed, and the hose was still attached. The engineer had the hose in hand in a second, and the blaze was soon deadened.

However, the situation was decidedly serious, and under other conditions, considering the gale that was blowing, the Senlac might very easily have been a total loss. If the water had not been thrown on directly, it would have been impossible to get near the engine room by the time the hose could have been attached.

Another fire broke out about the same time in a house near where the Senlac is lying. It was in the house the ownership of which is disputed by Capt. Porter and Mr. D. J. Purdy.

This blaze is supposed to have been caused by a spark from one of the river boats, which entered an open window near the edge of the wharf, and landed on the portion of the house where the fire caught, which is occupied by Mr. George Upton. The door of the room where the fire was located was locked, but when the other tenants of the house found it filled with smoke, they smashed the door and extinguished the blaze without the aid of the fire department.

To the older residents of Indian town, the occurrence recalled the fact that it was on this identical spot that the second largest Indian town fire originated and the fact that it broke out under just such weather conditions as prevailed yesterday made the memory additionally strong.

The Senlac is now almost in readiness to be taken around to the Gaspe route about May 24th.

...A... Carpet QUESTION Answered!

"Why can't I get the old-time, closely woven, all-wool carpets in the new style, artistic effects, demanded by present day furnishing?"

This question is often asked by some of our oldest customers, and certainly indicates a shrewd buyer, for they want to combine "durability with appearance."

We are glad to inform our customers that the Ingrain Carpets of today meet these requirements in every particular. They are being better made in more attractive styles, without losing any of their former reputation for long wear.

IF THEY ALL SHOULD GET IT WHAT THEN?

Ald. Belyea, one of the ferry committee's new members, attempted to put into practice some of his theories in regard to the shaping of the Landing's course from all to slip.

The experiment was not a tremendous success. The question now arises, is the alderman officially properly qualified to guide the Landing in her often erratic course? If not, what should the ferry committee do about the matter?

Again, suppose the habit of becoming personally acquainted with the work of their respective departments should become popular among the aldermen, what would happen? The citizens might any day see Ald. Vauvart's well-known form in Chief Kerr's wagon on his way to direct the efforts of the firemen at a fire.

Ald. Spruiell might take the notion to experiment personally with concrete in the N. B. Telephone Company's conduit trenches. Ald. Baxter might examine in detail the workings of the Treasury Department by becoming for a time a junior clerk in the chamberlain's office. Again, Ald. McGoldrick might get a job on a dredge in order that he might use the dredge to dig so gained in furthering harbor improvements.

Ald. Belyea's experiment has opened up a limitless field of possibilities.

MR. HEARN, K. C. PAYS MR. HAZEN A COMPLIMENT

Mr. J. H. Hearn, K. C., of Sydney, who was associated with the Plaintiff in the defence of Endiel, was in the city last evening, and took the night train for home. This is the first time that Mr. Hearn has appeared in a New Brunswick court. He is disposed to compliment the Province on the Attorney General, who in his opinion, conducted the prosecution with due regard for his duty to the people, and with all proper consideration for the rights of the accused.

Mr. Hearn is the same age as Judge McLeod, and is the senior lawyer in Sydney and its neighborhood. He has been in the law for many years but with but a small increase of population, and then spring forward at once to high rank as an industrial center.

Taught Premier Murray. Premier Murray was a student in Mr. Hearn's office, as were many of the younger practitioners in Cape Breton. Among these was Mr. Hearn's brother, who took some interest and fought various political battles in Richmond County. The younger Mr. Hearn is a Liberal, and represents the crown in criminal prosecutions in that neighborhood. The elder brother is a Conservative, and is quite commonly called for the defence. They meet occasionally on the political platform.

Mr. Hearn has great faith in the future of his own community. But he is not narrow. He declares emphatically that St. John is a fine city.

BIG DEMAND FOR JUVENILE FARM HANDS

Mr. G. Bogue Smart, of Ottawa, Dominion superintendent of juvenile immigration, left for his home on last evening's Montreal train, after spending a day here. Mr. Smart came here from Halifax, where he has been in the course of his duties.

Mr. Smart said that he had not visited Mrs. Closer's home for English immigrant children at Nauwigewauk, but that he would be in the province again in the not very distant future. The demand for juvenile farm laborers is still so great, said Mr. Smart, that the societies are unable to compete with it. Not all of the English unions devoted to the exportation of poor children, are in favor with the Canadian immigration authorities. The Government has discontinued receiving children from the Bristol Regis Union, because that organization has refused to establish a home in Canada from which the children can be distributed.

WHERE WERE WATER CARTS YESTERDAY?

"Where were the watering carts?" was the cry of the public of St. John yesterday. The cry had no connection with the recent local option campaign as the query did not refer to the "water-wagon" of popular fame but to the civic department vehicle used for laying the dust. It was badly needed yesterday. The dust rose in clouds on every street and borne by the wind fell alike upon the just and the unjust. Every person who had to walk upon the streets had eyes, ears, mouth and nostrils filled with fine, gritty dust. And this dust undoubtedly contained its share of tubercular germs. In some quarters it is urged that there are not enough watering-carts to properly cover the city's streets. If such is the case the defect should be remedied.

The quarterly meeting of the county branch W. C. T. U. was held yesterday afternoon in the W. C. T. U. rooms, in Fairville. There was a large attendance present and the county president, Mrs. J. McAvity, presided.

The meeting opened with a half-hour devotional work led by Mrs. Joseph Seymour. Encouraging reports of the work done, were received. During the last three months a wonderful amount of charity work was done, and the sick were very frequently visited by the members of the union.

Some discussion took place regarding the preliminary arrangements for the meeting of the Dominion W. C. T. U. to be held here in October, and the committee to carry out the work will be appointed at the next quarterly meeting.
