MEYNELL 3 DOORS WEST FROM MARKET

DOWNEY—CHAMPAGNE

The sun shone brightly this morning on the celebration of the nuptials of Miss Julia Ellen, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Basco Champagne, Brockville, who was united in marriage to John B. Downey, an esteemed resident of Chatham, Ont., and first cousin of Joseph P. Downey, editor of the Guelph Herald and M. P. for South Wellington. The happy event took place at 9.30 a.m. at St. Francis Xavier church, which was well filled with relatives and friends and acquaintances of the contracting parties. Rev. Dean Murray officiated.

The bride, who was given away by her father, carried a white prayer book in place of the regulation bouquet. She looked pretty in a costume of cream crepe de chene with applique trimming. Her hat was cream chiffon decorated with a large white ostrich plume. The bridesmaid, Miss Mary E. Downey, of Chatham, niece of the groom, was costumed in cream silk, trimmed with chiffon and applique and hat to match. Miss Downey carried a magnificent bouquet of cream roses. Alfred Champagne, brother of the bride, was the best man. Returning to the home of the bride's parents, a large number of invited guests dined sumptuously at the wedding breakfast. The toast to the health of the bride was gracefully responded to and a merry times spent until the afternoon, when Mr. and Mrs. Downey left for the east on a honeymoon trip to Montreal, Quebec, St. Anne's and other points. Returning they will make a short visit here before settling in Chatham, where the groom has a cosy home in readiness for his charming young bride. Mrs. Downey will be greatly missed by a wide circle of friends with whom she was very popular, evidences of which were shown in the number and quality of the wedding gifts. Mr. Downey, M. P., sent a handsome present, as did also relatives and friends of the bride and groom in Brockville and other points of Ontario. The groom is connected with the S. Hadley Mfg. Co., Chatham.

Among those at the wedding from a distance were E. J. Downey and Miss Longman, Chatham, and Miss Mary Downey, of Brussels, Brockville Times.

Happiness often hangs on a thread that is exceedingly slender.

The average man is quick enough to grasp an opportunity to make a fool of himself.

CANNOT DEPORT ALIENS

Labor Law Ultra Vires of the Dominion Parliament.

Judge Anglin Gives Judgment Which Cannot Be Appealed Upholding the Appeal of the Threatened Pere Marquette Railway Officials—Question of Territorial Jurisdiction—Deportation Involves Extra-Territorial Constraint.

Toronto, June 19.—The Pere Marquette men cannot be deported from Canada, and the alien labor law is ultra vires of the Dominion Parliament.

Such was the opinion handed out by Judge Anglin on Saturday morning after fully considering the evidence brought out at the hearing of the appeal of Everett E. Cain and James Gihula for a writ of habeas corpus. Judge Anglin based his judgment on the ground that the Canadian Parliament had no power to deport aliens by force to foreign territory.

The order for the discharge of Cain and Gihula has not yet been issued, and they may not be formally released until this week. In order that Col. Sherwood may not be liable to prosecution by the prisoners, a special clause will probably be inserted in the judgment.

The judgment is final, says Judge Anglin. There can be no appeal, as might have been the case if the writs had been made returnable before a divisional court.

The text of the judgment is as follows:

Text of the Judgment.
 Because no appeal lies from the order which I find myself obliged to pronounce, I regret that counsel were unable to argue, or to suggest, made upon the application for the writs of habeas corpus, that these writs should be returnable before a divisional court.—R.S.O., Chap. 51, Sec. 67.

Numerous grounds were urged in support of the motion, but in the view which I take of the matter it becomes unnecessary to deal with any ground other than that upon which I am about to dispose of it.

As amended by 1 Edward VII. chap. 13, Sec. 3, the sixth section of the 10-12 Vic., Chap. 11 (d), reads: as follows:—

"The Attorney-General of Canada, in case he shall be satisfied that an immigrant has been allowed to land in Canada contrary to the prohibition of this act, may cause such immigrant, within the period of one year after landing, or entry, to be taken into custody and returned to the country whence he came, at the expense of the owner of the importing vessel, or, if he entered from an adjoining country, at the expense of the person, partnership or company violating Section 3 of this act."

This statutory provision contains the sole authority for the issue and enforcement of the warrants above set out. Its validity is impugned by the applicants upon the ground, inter alia, that inasmuch as it purports to authorize the Attorney-General, or his delegates, to deprive persons of their liberty without the territorial limits of Canada, it transcends the powers of the Dominion Government.

Territorial Restriction.
 By the 1st section of the British North America Act the Parliament of Canada in relation to all matters not for the peace, order and good Government of Canada is empowered to make laws in relation to the classes of subjects assigned exclusively to the Legislatures of the Province; and it is by sub-section 25 given "exclusive legislative authority" in regard to "laws and naturalization."

In many judgments the Privy Council has declared that our Parliament "has and is intended to have powers of legislation as large and of the same nature as the language of the British North America Act being 'apt to authorize the widest discretion in the exercise of the power of the objects pointed to.' But that the area within which the powers so conferred may be exercised is restricted to the territorial limits of the colony to whose Legislature they are granted, is equally well established."

This is but one of the several restrictions necessarily flowing from the inherent conditions of a dependency. Counsel for the Attorney-General was, therefore, well advised in conceding at bar that if the return of the immigrant to the country whence he came, as provided in the sixth section of the statute, would necessarily involve his detention or subject him to constraint by the agent of the Attorney-General without the territorial limits of Canada that provision is ultra vires of the Dominion Parliament, giving full effect to the argument of the learned counsel that, if at all possible, the statute should receive a construction consistent with jurisdiction, not desiring "to attribute to the Colonial Legislature an effort to enlarge their jurisdiction to such an extent as would be inconsistent with the powers committed to a colony."

I have striven to discover some means for the performance of that which the warrants to the commission require him to do, viz., to take into custody the applicants and return them to the United States of America, whence they came—that would not involve an assumption of extra-territorial jurisdiction. In this I have failed.

Disagrees With Shepley.
 Mr. Shepley argued that the requirements of the statute must be deemed satisfied if the "immigrant" to be deported is "put in the course of return" to the country from which he came. I cannot so read the words "return to."

If the constraining force of the officer acting under the Attorney-General's warrant ceases before the subject of it is within the territorial limits of the foreign country, I cannot understand how he can be said to be returned to that country by virtue of the warrant. If such force ceases, the subject is not in the course of return to the territory. His extra-territorial exercise cannot be denied.

Law Stops At Line.
 In effecting the return of an "immigrant" to the United States, it is suggested that the officer charged with that duty may take his subject in custody to the imaginary line forming the boundary, and then, remaining himself on Canadian territory, may push his prisoner across the line and into the United States. But were it possible for the officer to effect a return of the subject without risk of projecting any part of his own person upon United States soil, in my opinion, the application of the propelling force operating upon the person of the alien while wholly or partly within the foreign territory is an extra-territorial constraint of such alien by the Canadian officer, and such constraint is authorized by the Dominion Parliament.

Again, counsel suggests that the officer may select such a point as Windsor for the deportation and may discharge his duty by placing his alien prisoner upon a ferry boat, crossing the river to Detroit. Here the alien is upon Canadian territory until the middle of the stream is reached. If the custody ceases when the alien is placed upon the ferry boat, it cannot be said that he is returned to the United States by the officer charged with the execution of the warrant. If the custody continues until the ferry boat reaches midstream, apart from the difficulty of determining the precise moment at which the boat crosses the imaginary line, beyond which any constraint by Canadian authority is admittedly unwarrantable, and the danger of an involuntary violation of United States territory, it is impossible to say that the deported subject is not under actual constraint imposed by Canadian authority until the boat reaches the Detroit docks. He is upon the ferry boat, not of his own volition, but because Canadian power has placed and kept him there. In theory his imprisonment may cease at the instant his body is carried over the border; in fact, he is not carried to the border, but to the City of Detroit, in United States territory, by compulsion of Canadian law. Involves Extra-Territorial Constraint.

The difficulties of returning "immigrants" to countries separated from Canada by the high seas without exercising extra-territorial constraint are even greater. The statute extends to all foreign countries which have enacted and retain in force laws or ordinances applying to Canada of a similar character.

"In so far as they possess legislative jurisdiction, the discretion committed to the Parliament, whether of the Dominion or of the Province, is unfettered. It is the proper function of a court of law to determine what are the limits of the jurisdiction committed to them." Discharging that function I have reached the conclusion that the provision of the Dominion statute, that the return of certain "immigrants" to the country whence they came is ultra vires.

Deportation and Detention Wrong.
 Neither may that statute be invoked to justify the custody in which the applicants are held. While detention is merely a means to an end, that end being deportation, the applicants are not in custody for any other purpose. Their apprehension is authorized by the Legislature only as something subsidiary to their return to the United States. If the return itself cannot be legally effected the detention for that illegal purpose is unwarranted.

The applicants are, therefore, in my judgment, entitled to an order for their immediate discharge, and that order I accordingly pronounce.

UNDERSTAND HOW HE CAN BE SAID TO BE RETURNED TO THAT COUNTRY BY VIRTUE OF THE WARRANT.

If such force ceases, the subject is not in the course of return to the territory. His extra-territorial exercise cannot be denied.

PUTTING ON BOOTS, IS SHOT.

Farmer Hung Gun on Wall and It Went Off—May Die.

Barrie, June 19.—William Reynolds, a farmer of Craigvale, about 53 years of age, was accidentally shot in his house about six miles from here on Friday morning.

Reynolds had been hunting ground hogs on the previous evening, and on his return home hung a muzzle-loading shotgun, still cocked, by the trigger guard on the wall in his kitchen, placing his boots below it.

The following morning, as he leaned against the wall to put on his boots, he touched the gun and the whole charge lodged in his back.

Three ribs were severed and he is now in a serious condition.

BOY HERO IN REAL LIFE.

Alex. Osler Loses His Life In Endavouring to Save His Comrade Harry Mowson From Drowning.

Toronto Junction, June 19.—Little nine-year-old Alex. Osler lost his life in the deepest hole in Black Creek Saturday afternoon, and if ever there was a boy hero in real life it was Alex. Osler. He lost his own life in trying to save that of a comrade, Harry Mowson, of 113 Sydenham Avenue.

Boy Drowns in Shell's Lake.

Brampton, June 19.—The nine-year-old son of Walker Wilkinson, a "blacksmith" at Shell's Lake, near here, was drowned in Shell's Lake Saturday evening. Drowns at Kingston.

Kingston, June 19.—James McCormack and James Robinson were out rowing near the mouth of the Rideau when the boat capsized. McCormack went down, but Robinson was rescued by two soldiers. The dead man was 40 years old and married. He lived in Portsmouth.

GEN. GOMEZ IS DEAD.

Fought For Cuban Liberty and Was Almost Defeated.

Havana, June 19.—Gen. Maximo Gomez died Saturday evening. El Caudillo (chieftain), as the leader of the Cuban revolution was called by his countrymen, expired just as the sun was sinking across the gulf, in the presence not only of his weeping family but also his old-time friend, Estrada Palma, President of the republic. The dying man was unable to recognize anyone. His real illness extended over forty-six days, although his health had been failing for some months prior to this. Gen. Gomez originally suffered from debilitation of the heart and liver. Later an abscess developed in his hand, which was operated on after his arrival at Santiago. Gangrene appeared, and he underwent a second operation.

The admiration of the mass of Cubans for Gomez amounted to almost idolatry. His death admittedly is a severe blow to any political interest to which he was allied.

Gen. Gomez leaves a widow, five sons and one daughter. He was born at Bari, Santo Domingo, in 1826, and came of a Spanish family which had settled there.

BAD RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

At Least 15 Lives Lost in a Wreck Near Baltimore.

Baltimore, Md., June 19.—At least 15 people are believed to have been killed and a score or more injured in a wreck on the Western Maryland Railroad Saturday night, near Patapsco. Passenger train No. 6, west-bound, was running at a very high rate of speed when it crashed into a doubleheader freight running east. All three of the engines were reduced to scrapiron, the express and baggage cars of the passenger train were smashed and a number of freight cars splintered.

The passenger coaches sustained little injury and almost without exception their occupants escaped with nothing worse than a bad shaking up. The crews of all three engines were killed. The bodies are all believed to be under the wreckage of the engines.
