THE Y. M. C. A. MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN

Without any doubt George Wilcould have anticipated when in 1844
he laid the foundation of the present
Young Men's Christian Association. He was in the dry goods business at the time, and he had persuaded some of his fellow workers to gather together in a little room each week for prayer and Bible reading. He was only twenty-three years of age at the time, and when he formulated the idea of an organization for the purpose of reaching young men generally, the plan was eagerly accepted by his associates. Later it was decided to get out after the boys also, and no one can compute the tremendous and far-reaching effects of the work. Man is rightfully sail to be largely a creature of his environment, and this is most emphatically true of the youth of the land. Boys are essentially imitative, and there is usually only the one outcome when their surrounding and asso-ciates are of a rough and sometimes mmoral nature. The Y. M. stands for high ideals, healthy recreation and high ideals, healthy recreation and beneficial companionship, and to its agency can be traced countless lives of true and honorable and God-fearing citizenship. The outcome of such endeavor not alone affects and builds up individual character, but in addition contributes to such a magnificent with their lot. Ability is much like riches, the more one has the more one wants. Such men are generally praised or lauded by the community, and this tends to make them unhappy for it is feeding on the wind, the more you eat the hungrier you are.
