Above, The new bungalow camps are built after this style. Below, Fishing scenes: left, Nipigon; right, Lake of the Woods. camps at French River, Nipigon River and Kenora (Lake of the Woods). These camps will be similar to those which have proved so successful along the line of the Canadian Pacific in the Canadian Rockies. A well built central club house, where meals will be served and facilities provided for social diversions, will be surrounded by cosy little bungalows, designed for one, two or four persons, equipped simply but comfortably with a camp bed and a few other accessories. The simple construction and low cost of maintenance will enable the management to charge much lower rates than are possible in the standard hotels.

FOR a distance of 880 miles, between Sudbury, the junction of the two main lines of the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Manitoba boundary, there are only twelve points with a population of over 200. This means that for 880 miles there are only twelve points at which civilization has to any extent encroached upon what is one of the last few remaining accessible wilderness regions of the North American continent. From the French River, north of the Georgian Bay and Lakes Huron and Superior to west of Kenora, a tract of land 880 miles long and of unknown depth is practically unexplored, and yet this part of Northern Ontario is one of the most richly endowed sections of Canada in natural beauty. Sylvan lakes, streams and larger waterways form a network through the country and almost incredible stories are told of the size and quantity of fish, particularly red and speckled trout to be found there. It is a well known haunt of big game.

The French River bungalow camp is located on an elevation which commands a magnificent view of the main channel of the French, within 200 yards of the railway station. The scenery is characteristic of the Georgian Bay region, rocky islands, deep waterways, and dense pine forests in which all kinds of game abound. The Nipigon is called the home of red and speckled trout, and with some truth, for it is undoubtedly the most prolific breeding place for these sporty fish in the world. The world's record speckled trout came from there in 1915 when Dr. J. W. Cook, of Fort William, Ont., took one out weighing 14 1/2 pounds and measuring 31 1/4 inches from head to tail and 11 1/4 inches across. What need to say more, unless it be that the scenery is equal to any seen at the French River or Lake of the Woods.

Wm. Webber, Montreal, Marquis de Sligo, Captain G. Griffiths, R.N.R., "Empress of France," Marchioness of Sligo.

AFTER a two-year holiday, completing a mileage of 46,000 miles on Canadian Pacific railway and steamships, the Marquis and Marchioness of Sligo returned to their London home. During their stay in the Western hemisphere, the Irish peer diverted from his main course of travel, visiting all the leading republics of South America and in the latter days of his travel diverted his course to Southern China, where he narrowly escaped by some few minutes being taken by bandits.

Prior to his departure on the S.S. "Empress of France," the distinguished visitor forwarded to the Canadian Government an interesting document found in the Sligo family correspondence, being a letter from the Hon. Henry Browne, who was associated with the capture of Quebec.

For some time past, the Marquis has been occupied in gathering data about his family and the part they played in the history of Canada and the Dominion is to reap the benefit of his research. The Marquis began his researches with the famous picture of the death of Wolfe, by West, and after careful investigation he has succeeded in identifying a number of the individuals who surrounded the general as he lay on the ground. Chief among these is Lt. Henry Browne who was the standard bearer in the Louisburg Grenadiers which fought on the right of the line in Wolfe's army. In the picture the Lieutenant is shown holding the standard. Later, according to evidence gathered by the Marquis, his ancestor helped to carry the general off the battlefield after he had died.
