Washington, June 4—Uncle Sam's weather experts are up in the air over the present climatic conditions. They do not know the direct cause of the cold spell in April and May, which threatens to continue throughout the summer, but they fully are advised as to the immediate provocation of the temperature that promises to put summer resorts out of business and inflict irreparable damage on crops. It was due to an abnormal distribution of at mospheric pressure and nothing else.

"What about the report that the spell was caused by the globe being joiled out of its course?" one of the weather experts was asked to day.
