The first military church parade of the 24th Regiment this season was idians now in Rome, numbering 60, inheld yesterday to the First Presbyterian church. It was a welcome Pope said he was delighted to see the sight to see the soldiers once more Canadians, and gave his benediction to parading the streets after a long rest during the summer months and they made a very attractive and "I hope to see Your Holiness on my next visit to Rome three years hence." The Pope replied: "I will wait for you." soldierly appearance. The turnout was not as large as could be expected, but as the season for parades progress, it is expected that they will be better attended. Latest Quotations For Grain and

Rev. W. E. Knowles, chaplain of the Regiment, occupied the pulpit and preached a masterly sermon, choosing for his subject Romans xiv, 7: "None of us liveth to himself."

He dwelt with great emphasis on the example of parents, and the influence, either for good or evil, one soul over another.

commonties offered. Prices showed little important change. The total offerings of grain were 4,900 bushels.

Wheat-500 bush of white sold unchanged at 72c to 72½c, 300 bush of red ½c lower at 72c, and 500 bush of goose unchanged at 66c. "Those who make the most outward show," said he, "are not always the ones who have the most Godly influence. The quiet, unassuming Christlike nature is the one which, perhaps in many cases, unconsciously, ears the most influence for good. When one human soul passes from this life this world is made so much poorer, either for good or evil. Everyone has a certain amount of influence and we cannot shirk the responsibility which rests upon us. Straw—Was weaker; three loads of sheaf sold $1 to $2 lower at $10 to $12 per ton. Butter—Oferlags large and movement active. The chief demand, as usual, was for choice pound rolls, and these sold steady at 20c to 22c. The greater part of the offerlags went at 20c. Large rolls were quiet and unchanged.

Eggs—The warm weather has had the effect of increasing offerlags, but the demand is no heavier, and prices were easy. Some holders asked 40c for their eggs at the opening of the market, but they were forced to take a lower price. At the close the best eggs were selling at 30c, but 35c was obtained for a few lots. Held eggs are dull and unchanged.

P. Eitry—Market is only moderately active, the high temperature interfering with the demand. The fowl were in good condition, considering the state of the weather, and holders asked rather high prices, but buyers were not enger. Frices were unchanged, except for turkeys, which are firmer at 11c to 13c.

Apples—Receipts were very heavy and the market was slow. The demand is not keen and holders make concessions frequently. Prices are unchanged. \(\text{Vegetables—Potatoes are a shade easier at 75c to 80c per bushel and $1 to $1.10 per bag. Other vegetable are steady.

Dressed Hogs—Market quiet, with prices steady at $8 to $8.50 per cwt. No matter what kind of a life we lead there are certain people who are inclined to copy after us. The only way then that we can bear a Christian influence is to learn ourselves through the first example of Christ and pattern our lives after His."

Upon the return of the Regiment to the drill hall Colonel Rankin complimented the men upon their good appearance and announced that it was his intention to keep up these Sunday church parades. He described the band and bugle band as perfect. They are the only organizations in connection with the Regiment who appeared with full ranks.

Chief Pritchard said the only explanation was that the key had been stolen from some other box. The keys were all alike and the difficulty would be to find the right one.

Searching parties were sent out to all the boxes around and Foreman Jacques found that it had been stolen from box 35, at the corner of Harvey and West streets. The glass in the box had been broken and the key taken.

"Anyone who would do that would commit murder," said Dick Pritchrd, Chief of the fire department. "While that key was gone a fire might have broken out in the vicinity and much property and probably life lost. It was a very dastardly trick." Investigations since have given a clue to the offender and the Chief hopes in a day or so to make Chat-ham very hot for the individual, no matter who it is.
