THE LION OF THE HOUR

Mr. Dreyfus After Years of Martyrdom is Made a Chevalier of France

HONOR UNNERVED HIM

Paris, July 23.—In the presence of a distinguished military assemblage, Major Alfred Dreyfus Saturday received the Cross of Chevalier of the Legion of Honor. The ceremony, which occurred in the courtyard of the military school, was rendered doubly impressive by he nent figures in various stages of the controversy, were among the spectators, and outside the circle of troops stood Mme. Dreyfus and the little son of Dreyfus. Brigon Picquart, who shared in the court's acquittal of the famous prisoner; Anatole France of the French Academy, and Alfred Capus and other literary men, who aided in Zola's campaign in behalf of a revision of the first trial.

The Ceremonies.

Major Dreyfus took up a position at the head of the two batteries of artillery by the side of Col. Targe, their commander, the man who made the recent discoveries at the War Office which led to the rehearing of the case. Stepping into the circle, General Gillan announced the decoration of Targe as a commander and Dreyfus as a as a commander and Dreyfus as a Chevalier of the Legion of Honor. Dreyfus and Targe, with their sabres drawn, then advanced to the centre of drawn, then advanced to the centre of the troops, taking a position before Gen. Gillian. The general first bestow-ed the decoration on Targe, and then, turning to Dreyfus, said: "In the name of the president of the republic and in virtue of the powers entrusted to me, Major Dreyfus, I hereby name you a Chevaller of the National Order of the Legion of Honor."

Chevaller of the National Order of the Legion of Honor."

After pinning the cross on Dreyfus' breast, the general gave the major the military accolade, the trumpets sounding and the spectators applauding.

The officers who had not taken official part in the ceremony also came forward to greet their comrade.

Turning to Anatole France, Dreyfus said: "I thank you more than I can say. You, who have always struggled for my cause."

M. France replied. "We merit no

M. France replied. "We merit no thanks, for what has been done was in the interest of right and justice. We felicitate you all the more, since so many others who have struggled for justice have died before it was attained."

Col. Targe terminated his felicita-tions by conducting Major Dreyfus to the officers' quarters, where Mme. Dreyfus was waiting for him. The meeting between the husband and wife was most affectionate, the spectators withdrawing to permit them to b alone. The ceremony was over in five minutes.
