THE LAND OF THE AZTECS.

Who has not read of the glories and wonders of old Mexico? The days when Montezuma held gorgeous court in the ancient capital of Gran Tenochtitlan are departed, but they have left behind them some of the most interesting countries in the world. Picturesque ruins and relics, in a setting of flowers and sunshine, everywhere delight the fortunate visitor; each day's travel reveals fresh beauties. And out of the ruins a new Mexico is arising, a land of possibilities, abounding in resources of all kinds. In the peasants' hands the soil will yield five crops a year, metals and minerals in abundance. Our business men have here a splendid field for investment, and should see and judge the land for themselves. Leisurely investigation under sunny skies will be pleasant work, while the ladies will be delighted with their bargains in native work and precious stones.

An attractive itinerary, covering the whole of Mexico and the best of the Southern States, and including a visit to Cuba and New Orleans for "Mardi Gras," has been arranged for the Outboard House-party tour, leaving Toronto early in February next, being the most extensive trip ever taken by any party. The special private train will contain every possible comfort and luxury, and the cuisine equal to that of a first class hotel. A pleasant smooth running trip is assured, the management having had long experience in this branch of travel. Canadian enterprise, when it is the best, is worthy of your attention. For particulars, with descriptive literature, upon application to E. M. Cuthbert, 25 Maitland Street, Toronto, or C. B. Foster, District Passenger Agent C. P. Ry., Toronto.

Goodness thinks no ill where no ill seems.

THE OLDEST COUNTRY IN THE NEW WORLD.

Everybody is talking about the high-class special excursion which the Grand Trunk Railway System are organizing, and which will leave Montreal 9.09 a. m., January 29th, 1906, in special Pullman cars on the "International Limited." Tour will last about forty days, and will cover the most interesting portions of the "oldest country in the New World." Apply to any Grand Trunk Agent or to J. D. McDonald, Union Station, Toronto, for all information, descriptive matter, rates, etc.

It doesn't take a man of mettle to steal.

NEW ROUTE TO SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA.

The opening of traffic of the San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad, known as the Salt Lake Route, between Salt Lake City and Los Angeles, makes available a most desirable short line to Southern California. This will doubtless be of great interest to the ever increasing number of people who journey each winter to this sunny clime.

In anticipation of a large volume of this class of traffic a handsome equipment of modern vestibuled trains has been placed in service in connection with the Overland Limited train of the Chicago, Union Pacific and North Western Lines, the most luxurious train in the world. This forms a new and interesting route by which first class tourist travel can reach the sunshine and flowers of Southern California, travelling on fast schedules and in luxurious comfort. Rates, folders and full information can be obtained from B. H. Bennett, General Agent, 2 East King Street, Toronto, Ont.

MISS CARRIE HARRISON.

Herbarium Expert in the Department of Agriculture.

Miss Carrie Harrison, a graduate of Wellesley and Cornell, who is employed in the agricultural department of the national government at Washington, is one of Uncle Sam's valued employees. She organized the United States national herbarium and placed it under the Durand system. Miss Harrison studied herself in Europe, where she obtained many collections. The most noteworthy of these is the nearly complete flora of Porto Rico, which she secured in Germany and which is the only one of the kind in Washington. Another Cornell woman in the same department is Miss Anna L. Kenball, who does work in plant history.

MISS CARRIE HARRISON.

men. A woman entering one of the divisions of the agricultural department as scientific aid and showing any ability would doubtless have a chance to rise. A number of women have been appointed to these positions, which pay at the start $40 a month.

One of the scientists said that he preferred a woman to a man because of her more delicate touch in working with cultures. But he complained, as soon as he succeeded in training her she left to be married.

Men in the department—the broader, scientific men—are likely, as a general thing, to help advance a woman. As much as possible the women in the several divisions of the agricultural department are allowed to do field work around Washington.—Exchange.

Two Kinds of Housekeepers.

There are just two kinds of housekeepers in this world, she of the dusty parlor and immaculate kitchen and she in whose domain conditions are reversed. We don't know which kind is preferred by the average husband, but a sensible man would certainly choose the first woman for his wife. She knows the true inwardness of the housekeeping problem. She knows that to be tidy is not necessarily to be clean.

We are acquainted with an exceedingly neat family of adults. Nothing can surpass the tidiness of their house, with its comfortable cushioned parlor chairs and staid furniture. The mistress was once heard to say that she kept the shades down most of the time because she did so hate dust, and the air always appeared to be full of it when the sun streamed in. But that house smells musty somehow. You know that pungent smell lingering in old churches? Well, that precise odor rushes out when the front door is opened, and callers have been known to sneeze before they had time to ask if the family were home. We suspect that if all the dark corners were explored discoveries would be made.

Then we know another house where the shutters are always thrown open, so that the notes of dust have much opportunity to prance religiously in the sunbeams; and we confess to a certain untidiness about its interior. Sometimes the polished sideboard betrays finger marks owing to a light covering of dust. Sometimes the baby's toys litter the mantelpiece. But then the whole dwelling is so wholesome. No mustiness is there. You may roam from cellar to garret, and nowhere will you come on any undue accumulation of rubbish, anything unclean. The kitchen utensils shine from scouring, and the kitchen sink is as clean as the china on the dresser.

"Truth is the inward part" was the favorite text of an old Scotch preacher, and it applies very well to housekeeping, the test of which is thoroughness all the way through.—Exchange.

Don't Let Grass Grow Under Your Feet.

During the house cleaning season old woolen cloths are used for cleaning furniture and floors. Extreme care should be taken to destroy these, as they are a menace to the house. Many unaccountable fires come from just such sources. Two woolen cloths used to clean a floor, with a mixture of lard, oil, turpentine and kerosene, were found in the evening in a red glow, the floor and the base under them burned through. They were not packed tightly away, but lying loosely on the floor of a closet. If a breath of air had reached them they would have been in flames. Let the person who uses such rags understand they must be burned at once for fear they are forgotten later and cause a serious conflagration.

The "Bump of Necessity." Early and persistently must be the warning which warns the girl late we-manhood with her "bump of necessity" well developed. Unless inherently fastidious during school days she is liable to drift into careless habits which she never outgrows. One girl may have a trick of leaving shoes about her room. As a mere tot she was permitted to do this, and as she grew older the untidy custom was never abandoned for the simple reason that she herself did not notice anything unusual about it, and probably nobody else took the trouble to correct her. Another slovenly habit is leaving a bunch of combing in her comb or on her dressing table. Constant vigilance on a woman's part is necessary in these small traits unless she would be judged unworthy of her birthright daintiness.

Fried Apple Toast.

Cut six apples into quarters, take the core out, peel and cut them in slices. Put in the saucepan an ounce of butter, then throw over the apples about two ounces of white powdered sugar and two tablespoonfuls of water. Put the saucepan on the fire, let it stew quickly, toss them up or stir with a spoon. A few minutes will do them. When tender cut two or three slices of bread half an inch thick. Put in a frying pan two ounces of butter, put on a fire. When the butter is melted put in your bread, which try to a nice yellowish color. When nice and crisp take them out, place them on a dish, a little white sugar over the apples about an inch thick. Serve hot.

Don't Expect Too Much.

If you wish to be young looking and happy adopt as your principle in life never to expect too much of people. A large amount of worry and trouble arises from our too great expectation of others. We expect too much of our children. They must be gifted, beautiful, obedient, little compendiums of all the virtues, and if they are not that we think bitter things and sow wrinkles and gray hairs for ourselves. We expect too much of our friends, and ill nature is the result of the disappointments encountered. The housekeeper develops into a domestic pessimist who does not find the orderliness and cleanliness which she expects.

Table Decorations.

Flowers are no longer massed in the center of the table. A few choice blossoms are used, distributed in a dainty way about the table surrounding the central cluster, which, compared to what we have been accustomed to, is meager. This sparse use of floral decorations requires a new set of vases or flower holders, and specially made for the purpose are crystal stands banded with silver. For the table center is a circle in two halves, to be used separately if one wishes. To go with it are small single vases for the corners.

A Wrinkled Forehead.

A drastic method of smoothing a wrinkled forehead is to make a little slit at the roots of the hair, pull the skin up smooth and secure it there. A titled American woman had such an operation performed, says the Pilgrim, and only a slight scar, which the hair covered, remained to show what had been done. Her forehead was as smooth as that of a debutante. "But," said the specialist, "if you frown or think hard the wrinkles will come back again."

Some Hair "Don'ts."

The woman who asks about caring for her hair will have gained some knowledge if she remembers a few don'ts. Don't break your hair or irritate the scalp by using too many or too heavy hairpins. Don't use an iron on your hair any oftener than is necessary. Don't use too fine a comb upon your hair. It breaks it, snarls it and is absolutely fatal to it. Don't use soda upon your hair. It dries it, coarsens it and makes it split.

Baby Exercises.

Place a baby on his back on a rug, and he will soon show you his own ideas about suitable exercise. If his clothing is not too tight he will wave his little legs and arms in the air and kick and sprawl with great delight. This is excellent for the muscles, and baby will show his appreciation of it by his evident pleasure in the little gymnastics he performs.

Glass Furnishings.

Glass furnishings for the dressing room and bathroom are more and more popular. Sets of shelves with nickel supports, glass towel rods and other fittings have superseded to a large extent nickel and even silver in homes of wealth. Glass bathtubs are not very new. They are still too expensive to have come into common use.

Cushion Filling.

A very good substitute for down or feathers in cushions is found in the cork dust used for packing fruit, principally grapes, from abroad. This can be bought quite inexpensively from grocers and fruiters, for when the fruit is unpacked they have no further use for it.

Cold water is often more satisfactory than warm water for washing glass if it is left to drain and then polished with dry. The glasses will look much brighter if done in this manner.

A box cover may not be found as comfortable as some others, but if one has little closet room it will be convenient for storing away clothes, bedding, etc.

Warm water in which an onion has been boiled will restore the gliding to frames. Dry quickly with a soft, clean cloth.

Keep an account of all supplies, with cost and date when purchased.

A Mighty Desert Wind.

The samiel is a hot, noxious electrical wind which passes over the sandy deserts of Arabia and Africa. It moves with the quickness of lightning and passes in narrow currents for a few minutes at a time. It deals instant death to every man or beast happening to face it, and it is said that it so decomposes them that their limbs fall asunder. The approach of it is indicated by thick haze in the horizon, and travelers, if they have time, throw themselves on their faces, with their feet toward it, till it has passed. The sirocco is another blighting wind, which prevails in Italy and adjoining districts about April. The West Indian hurricanes are of a totally different description, being simply vortices of great force, and they have been known to blow heavy cannon out of a battery and carry a man over a ten foot wall.

TERRIBLE PAINS ACROSS BACK

SUFFERED EIGHT MONTHS WITH KIDNEY TROUBLE. WOULD HAVE TO STAY IN BED FOR THREE DAYS AT A TIME

Doan's Kidney Pills CURED HIM

Mr. Thomas Fitzgerald, Hazeldean, Ont., writes us as follows: "I was a great sufferer from kidney trouble for eight months. I had terrible pains across the small of my back. I would have to stay in bed for three days at a time and could not do any work. I tried several remedies but they were of no use."

One day a neighbor of mine advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I was so much discouraged I told him I was tired of trying remedies, but he urged me to try one box as I purchased one, and before I was through using it, I found a change for the better. I got five boxes more, and I have had no trouble with my kidneys since. I would not be without Doan's Pills in my house."

It is really not difficult to cure kidney trouble in its first stages. All you have to do is to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial. They are a never-failing cure for all forms of kidney trouble. They quickly relieve the congested, overworked kidneys, and gradually bring them back to health.

Doan's Kidney Pills 50 cents per box or three boxes for $1.25, all dealers or The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

MEAT DISHES.

Possibilities of the Interior Part of the Round of Beef.

Let us consider what shall be done if we have to deal with something inferior to the top of the round.

One of the homeliest, cheapest dishes in a housewife's menu list is a beef stew, and yet nothing is more appetizing, especially in cold weather. One pound of round steak will make a plentiful dinner, even if there are six at the table. Put the steak to cook very slowly in three pints of boiling water, add half a chopped onion and seasoning of salt and pepper, let it simmer till the meat is tender, then take it out and cut it into small cubes. In a saucepan blend two tablespoonfuls of butter and a quarter of a cup of flour. Pour over it slowly the stock from the steak, beating it steadily with a wire spoon till creamy; add the meat and a quart of cold potatoes cut into cubes. Let it boil up, then dish.

A Meat Pie.

For a meat pie cut the steak into fingers, then cook it very slowly as for a stew, only with a pint of water. It is a gravy that is now required, not a soup. Take it from the fire before it is quite tender, thicken the liquor slightly, season it and pour into a deep baking dish. If there is not sufficient meat to support a crust, turn a cup upside down in the center of the dish, then cover with a baking powder biscuit dough enriched by more shortening than the ordinary recipe demands. Make several holes in the paste for the steam to escape. When the top is a brown crisp crust the pie is ready to serve, accompanied with mashed potatoes.

Hamburg Steak.

Hamburg steak as it is found on many a table is anything but an appetizing dish, but when properly cooked it can be made very good. In the first place, make your own Hamburg steak by purchasing a pound of round steak and putting it through the meat chopper. If you do not own a meat chopper, purchase the steak and ask the butcher to chop it for you under your own eyes. Season the meat with pepper, salt and a little minced onion, then shape into small, flat cakes, handling them as little and as lightly as possible. Roll each one in melted butter and broil in a greased spider. When they are nicely browned lift to a hot platter, and in the spider put a tablespoonful of flour, a little butter, pepper and salt, a teaspoonful of essence of beef or kitchen bouquet and a cup of boiling water. If beaten till creamy the result will be an excellent gravy which can be poured over the steak and make it much more savory. Should you prefer to broil the steak shape it into a roll and lay it between the greased wires of a broiler, then cook it over a hot fire.—Good Housekeeping.

Oyster Cocktails in Red Peppers.

Medium sized sweet red peppers should be selected in carrying out the following recipe of the Boston Cooking School Magazine: Cut the stem end carefully to allow the pepper to stand level on the plate. With a thin, sharp knife cut the opposite end in points, thus forming a cup. Loosen the seed receptacle carefully from the pepper that it may hold the liquid. The pepper cups may be used to hold the oysters and the cocktail liquid, or the oysters, set in place on oyster plates, may when eaten be dipped into the cocktail liquid in the pepper cups, set in the center of the oyster plates. In either case let the oysters be thoroughly chilled. Serve five or six oysters as one service. For these mix one-fourth of a teaspoonful of grated horseradish, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce, one tablespoonful of tomato catchup and about half a tablespoonful of lemon juice.

OYSTER COCKTAIL IN PEPPER CUP.

Dessert and "Leftovers."

Desserts can be made so easily and in such inexpensive variety that we ought not to have to face the remnants at any second meal. A substantial pudding, such as a steamed fruit pudding, can, indeed, be served very acceptably cold, but any dish is which meringue, whipped cream or other delicate substance prevails should not supply the demand. Jellies left over can furnish some other pudding or dessert, and cold boiled or steamed rice, sometimes served as dessert, can be used in numerous dishes.

Peanut Butter.

For peanut butter use freshly roasted peanuts and nothing else. They are ground exceedingly fine, packed in five-gallon jars and allowed to stand. The oil in the nuts moistens the fine meal and, if fresh, rises like a covering to the top of the jar. In using this butter some prefer to add salt, but many like it better without. For sandwiches nothing is more delicious.

Tidy Sweeping.

For sweeping stair carpets use a whisk broom and dustpan, sweeping and taking up the dust step at a time and not scattering it broadcast.

In Cleaning Brass.

Hot vinegar and salt will cut verdigris on old brass and render the scouring with other materials a much easier process.

THE WATER SPIRIT.

Origin of Old Beliefs About Rescuing Drowning Persons.

In Great Britain the belief that you must rescue a drowning person is most prevalent in Cornwall and various parts of Scotland. The French sailor and the boatman of the Danube bow to the decree, together with the Russians, and let the people drown.

Dr. Taylor in his "Primitive Customs" declares this lingering fondness for this old creed is because the water spirit is angry at being despoiled of its victim, and should the unlucky person who has dared to frustrate him turn himself to the water's power he will drown as sure as fate.

The Bohemian fisherman shrinks from snatching a drowning man from the waters, fearing the water demon will take away his luck in fishing and drown him before he gets to shore with the would be victim. In Germany when some one is drowned they say, "The river spirit claims its yearly sacrifice," or, "The mix has taken him."

The belief is current not alone in those countries above mentioned, but the Kamchatkans rather than help a man out of the water would force him under, and if he should escape to the shore no one would dare receive him into his house or dare to give him food. He is supposed to be dead after once falling into the water.

RAY PORTAGE, October, 1905. I was troubled for about two years with kidney trouble, so common among railway men. I tried the regular way and took a great deal of medicine, but received no benefit. My physician recommended GIN PILLS, and I at once wrote for a sample. After taking the first box I felt relief, and after taking the second box I felt a great deal better. I feel now that I am well, and I feel that I am well, and I feel that I am well.

Farthings.

As we have pointed out in these columns, the farthing is almost peculiar to London, while the omnibus conductor, has the strongest objection to the coin. The explanation of that objection is simple. For the omnibus conductor is expected to pay in his day's takings with as few coppers as possible. Therefore on his last journey he gets as much silver as he can in exchange for the coppers at his favorite public house. A public house sells nothing for a farthing, has no use for the coin. Nor has the omnibus conductor.—London Chronicle.

ORDER OF THE GARTER.

Its Alleged Ballroom Origin Only

The origin of the Order of the Golden Fleece is, like that of the Garter, shrouded in mystery. Very few modern archaeologists attach any credence to the vulgar tradition, wholly unsupported by any authority, that at a court ball given by Edward III., a lady, supposed to be the Countess of Salisbury, dropped her garter, and the king, taking it up and observing some of his courtiers to smile as though they thought he had not obtained this favor merely by accident, exclaimed in a loud voice, "Honi soit qui mal y pense."

There is another opinion which traces the origin of this order, which, according to the learned Seldon, "exceeds in majesty, honor and fame all the chivalrous orders in the world," to Richard Coeur de Lion having upon the occasion of some warlike expedition during his wars in Palestine chosen a leathern thonged garter as the distinctive mark of his partisans. Yet another theory ascribes the foundation of the order to the fact that Edward at the battle of Crecy issued his garter as a signal for battle, which, proving successful, determined him to institute the order in memory of the event.

Both these opinions are to a certain extent feasible, and the first is materially fortified by the well known fact that when the crusaders captured St. Jean d'Acre in a nocturnal assault the knights of the Christian army were ordered to wear straps of white leather bound round the leg under the left knee in order to distinguish them from the infidels.
