Scores Frances.—Sponge fishing is said to have become a very profitable business in the neighborhood of Key West. One hundred thou-sand pounds are reported to have been gathered during last year, and the esiles amounted to twenty-five thousand dollars. The article is mostly procured by the natives of the Bahamas. this is a new branch of business for Key West, and was formerly confined to the Mediterrane-as. We believe, however, that the finer quali-ty of sponge is not found on our coast, sithough the course description is abundant all about the course of Florida and the Bahamas Banks of the terms of the statement of the site of the second the course description is abundant all about the
