An Aristocrat in quest of a say Potatoes.—"Since I have been here I think I have been patronized by all the British aristocracy in the Crimea, and some of the French. Colonel the Hon.——L.——, who came here with us, came on board to beg a few things for himself and Lord Raglan; he loaded himself with as much as he could carry in his haversack, and a ham over his shoulder, with as much as he could carry in his haversack, and a ham over his shoulder, as he was leaving he asked if I could spare him a few potatoes. All I had was dozen cold cooked ones, which I showed him, and he accepted most thankfully and begged me to put them in his beautiful dress coat which he had on; and away he went with a greasy ham over his shoulder and his cold potatoes in his pocket. Every one is obliged to be his own porter here. The next day I met the Colonel on shore with Lord Raglan and the Duke of Cambridge, and all of them thanked me for the potatoes—they said they had tasted for three weeks.

Turkish Seamen.—Dickens, in his Household Words, states, that at the close of the Greek insurrection in 1829, the Turks turned every Greek out of their naval service. Henceforth they were determined to fight, work, and navigate their ships themselves.—The first they could do indifferently well, the second not at all. The seamen draughted on board ship by the marine conscription did not know the use or even the name of one single spar, block, or rope; and the officers were utterly ignorant of the terms of the nautical vocabulary, whereby to convey their orders to the men. Moreover the men could be have understood them, if they had been as learned in nautical slang as an English boatswain or a Dutch skipper. In this dilemma, the Turkish naval instructors bit upon an ingenious plan. They symbolized and named the various parts of the vessel by anything that came nearest to hand. They tied a pear, for instance, to the mainmast, a pomegranate to the mizonmust, a bunch of grapes to the foremast. The poop was distinguished by a strag of onions, the forecastle by a basket of figs, the various sails by pipe-sticks, making the ropes by vine-leaves the various sails by pipe-sticks, matter bones, rice-bags, or any other conven-odds and ends. Here was a new na dictionary invented at once: "Haul down the pipe-stick!" "Take two reefs in the ne pape-stor.
rice-bags!" "Stand by the grape-mast!"
"Go forward to the onion-castle!" were as good words of command when anderstood them (which they soon is to do) as the correct ones; and men who, on their arrival on shipboard, scarcely knew a clew-line from a kedge-anchor, or stem from stern, speedily acquired a competent knewledge of the different parts of the ship.

THE GREAT DEBATE NUISANCE.—We confess we did not like the aspect of the Times on the morning after the assembling of Parliament. It is bad emough for the country to be at war with Russia, but it is an aggrevation of the evil to find an attack made upon our patience by thirty-me colmade upon our patience by thirty-size col-umns drawn up in close order beauty and our very breakfast table. Buster's Balsam. It is not often that we can say anything favorable of patent medicines, on the testimony of those with whom we are acquainted, twho have used and tested their merits. But in regard to Hunter's Balsam, put up by our fellow citizen, Jeremiah Curtis, Eq. we have the testimony of many of our own citizens and those of neighbouring towns, unanimous in its praise. The testimony of one individual with whom the public are acquainted, carries with it more weight than whole columns of corillentes from strangers, whose faces we never aw, and whose certificates, for aught we know, may have been procured by fraud. CAPT. DANIEL ABBOTT, Brooklyn, Maine, July 16, 1843, says: "I was taken sick one year ago, lest April, upon my passage from Havanna to Charleston, S. C. At the latter place I took medicine and procured a physician, but for ten days could obtain so relief, no sicep or appetite. At last taking up a newspaper laving your advertisement of 'Hoofland's German Bitters' in it, I sent for some immediately, of this was about 10 o'clock, at II o'clock I took the first dose, and another at 6 o'clock. The effect was so rapid on me, that I had a geodappetite for supper, and rested well that night, and the next day found me a well man. I have not been without your medicine since, having been sailing between Baltimore, Charleston and the West India Islands ever since. I have now given up going to sea, and reside in this place, where you should have an agency, as you could sell large quantities of it."

PERMANENT CURE OF A DISEASED LIVER OF MANY YEARS' DURATION.

OF MANY YEARS DURATION.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. Gamis Chemist, Yeo-vil, to Professor Holloway.

Dear Sir,—In this district your Pills command a more extensive sale than any other proprietary medicine before the public. As a proof of their efficacy in Livre and Bilious complaints, I may mention the following case: A lady of this town, with whom I am personally acquainted for years, was a severe sufferer from disease of the Liver and digestive organs; her medical attendant assured her that he could do nothing to relieve her sufferings, and it was not likely she could survive many months. This announcement naturally caused great alarm among her friends and relations, and they induced her to make a trial of your Pills, which so improved her general health that she was induced to continue them until she received a parfect cure. This is twelve months ago, and she has not experienced any symptoms of relapse, and often declares that your Pills have been the means of saving her life.

SURPRISING CURE OF A CONFIRMED ASTH-MA, AFTER FIVE YEARS' SUFFERING.

The following testimonial has been sent to Professor Hollogicay, by a gealteman named Middleton, of Scotland Road, Literpool.

Sir,—Your Pills have been the means, under Providence, of restoring me to gound health, after five years of severe affliction. During the whole of that period, I have suffered the most dreadful attacks of Asthma, frequently of several weeks' duration, attended with a violent cough, and continual spitting of phlegus intermixed with blood. This so shook my constitution that I was unfitted for any of the active dates of life. I was attended by some of the most eminent medical men of this town, but they failed to give me the slightest relief. As a last remedy, I tried your Pills, and in about three months they effected a perfect cure of the disease, totally eradicated the cough, and restored tone and vigor to the chest and digestive organs.

AN EXTRAORDINARY CURE OF DROPSY AFTER SUPPERING, FOR EIGHTERN

To Professor Holloway,
Sir,—I have much pleasure in informing you of a most surprising cure of Dropsy, recently effected by yor valuable medicines. Captain Jackson, of this place, was afflicted with Dropsy for upwards of eighteen months, to such an extent that it caused his body and limbs to be much swellen, and water oczed as it were from his skin, so that a daily change of app and became necessary; notwithstanding the various remedies tried, and the different medical men consulted, all was of no avail, autih the commenced using your Pills, by which, and a strict attention to the printed directions, he was effectually cured, and his health perfectly re-established. If you deem this worthy of publicity, you are at liberty to use it. To Professor HOLLOWAY,
