Early Rose potatoes, $2.75 to $3.25 per bbl., other kinds, $2.50 to $2.50; Smelts (Bathurst), 15 cents per lb.; Smelt (Sheffield), 12 cents per lb.; Alewives $3.25 per bbl.; Lobsters (per doz. cans), $1.35; Mackerel $1.05. Large quantities of potatoes coming in from North of Ire- land, England and Germany are against the speculation.

Fall Prices. The prices are now lowering in fall produce, nearly everyone is getting ap- plied. Turnips are 90 cents per bbl., potatoes are from 95 cents to $1.00 per bbl. Cabbage averages from 30 to 50 cents per doz. heads; Caracut Herring is $3.50 per bbl.; Green Codfish is $3.50 per bbl., and Fry Codfish ranges from $2.00 to $3.50 per quintal; Oysters $1.00 per bbl.

Congregational Meeting. At a congregational meeting of St. Andrew's Church congregation held the 8th Nov. to take into consideration the advisability of retaining the present Manse property, or disposing of it, and funding the proceeds, the interest of which to be taken towards the payment of the clergymans salary. It was de- cided that the Manse be repaired in the meantime, and improvements to be made when funds are collected.

Smelts. Advice from Bay da Vin, say the W. A. Loggie and J. U. Loggie, smel- mongers, were here offering good prices to contract for smelt to be delivered at Chatham Station, so the boom in smelt has commenced. These offers have been the means of giving a new impetus to the trade. Every deviation available for smelt fishing has been taken up, and large quantities of new smelt nets or- dered.

Diphtheria. Mr. Wilcox buried his second child on Sunday last, which died from diphtheria, and what made it more sad was the fact that he could not attend his children's funerals, leaving a heavy attack of the same disease.

A daughter of Mr. Alfred Peterson, at the Cove, also died of diphtheria. She was seven years of age.

On account of diphtheria being in the family of one of our teachers, she has to be replaced by another for a week or two for fear of spreading the disease amongst her pupils.

BUBBLES.

The people of Paris have been seized with a mania for speculation which cannot but end in a great calamity if not speedily checked. This mania has been caused by the success of some institu- tions formed during the years of depression by rich men, which, having been prepared to take the tide of prosperity at its flood, have, during the last year or two, proved veritable bonanzas to their shareholders. One of the most prominent of these institutions was a banking and speculation company called the "Union General," which was started about seven years ago, and which, started a land bank in Vienna, furnished capital for railways, iron mines and foundries throughout the Austrian Empire. So successful has the speculation proved that the called-up capital has, in three years, been advanced from a quarter of a million to six millions, and its deposits amount to four millions. While it is generally credited with controlling over twenty millions. The shares of the institution have risen during the seven years from five pounds, the original value, to eighty-five pounds. There have been several such enterprises started, but at present when people are in haste to be rich and are in a fever of speculation, the unsuccessful ones attract no attention. It is not capitalists alone who are making haste to be rich, but politicians and members of the learned professions, down to the "gamins," all classes and conditions of men are speculating. "With such prizes in the market," says the London Spectator "all industry seems tame, and, from the highest to the lowest, all are speculating; while, as in France, most enterprises can be affected by the State, the solicitations, offers and direct bribes to politicians know no limit. The politicians are crazy for quick fortunes, nearly every journal is influenced by speculators, and if a war with Timbuctoo would pay a war cry would be raised." Rochefort has charged Gambetta and other prominent poli- ticians with having brought about the war in Tunis with no other object, than to promote the financial interests of a speculative company of which they are members. The evidence upon which the charges are based has not been pub- lished, but he has made enough public to make it apparent that they are not at least groundless. He is being pro- ceeded against for libel, and if the prosecution persists the truth will come out.
