

My Four Splendid Boys

Yes, I know there are stains on the carpet. The traces of small boys' boots, And I see your fair tapestry glowing.

And I know that my walls are disfigured With prints of small fingers and hands. And that your own household most truly In immaculate purity stands.

The Sentinel Pine

In the old room in the west gable a lad was packing his suitcase—a new suit-case, bright with brass trappings, bought for a first venturing into the world of strangers.

When he awoke the spell of the dream was still upon him. He cooked his breakfast mechanically and sat lost in thought. He recalled superstitions common among miners he had known, and strange experiences that had been told around the camp fires.

So you can't give up the trip, son," she began tentatively. It was a last attempt and, she almost knew, a futile one. "Why, mother—" his voice boomed cheerily in the room, seeming to emphasize the hopeless note in hers.

At the base of the cliff a little stream gushed from between the rocks. The prospector wondered if the stream was a continuation of the cascades up among the trees, and he began a careful descent. Picking his way to the stream he found that it sprang from a fissure in the hill itself.

He was holding a small nugget close to his view, and groping with trembling fingers at the rock-grotto from which the water issued. "Gold!" he said again, huskily in incredulity.

His mother watched his face. In the fingers, toes, arms, and other parts of the body, are joints that are stiffened and swollen by rheumatism—the acid condition of the blood which affects the muscles also.

Aching Joints

Yes, I know there are stains on the carpet. The traces of small boys' boots, And I see your fair tapestry glowing.

With prints of small fingers and hands. And that your own household most truly In immaculate purity stands.

While you sit in your unmolested And dream the soft quiet way. Yes, I know there are four little bedsides

Where I must stand watchful each night; While you go out in your auto, And flash in your dresses so bright.

Now, I think I'm a neat little woman; I like my house orderly, too; And I'm fond of all dainty belongings—

Yet would not change places with you. No, keep your fair home, with its order, Its freedom from bother and noise.

And keep your fanciful leisure, But give me my four splendid boys!

Food's Sarsaparilla removes the cause of rheumatism—no outward application can. Take it.

Obstinate Coughs

Obstinate Colds, The Kind That Stick, The Kind That Turn To BRONCHITIS, The Kind That End In CONSUMPTION, Become a Serious Matter IF NEGLECTED.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. This old and well-known remedy has been on the market for the past 30 years. You will find that a dose or two will stop the cough, soothe the throat and bronchial tubes, and if the cold has become settled on the lungs the healing properties of this famous cough syrup will soon bring complete and permanent relief.

His very soul gloated on his riches. So dazed was he that his mind failed to grasp the significance of something that his eyes rested upon. Then what at first seemed to be a large moss-covered boulder resolved itself into a hut—small, dilapidated, but a human habitation with the door ajar.

For a moment Copeland's heart stood still. The significance of it came to him. Someone else had prior claim—the gold was not his. A chaos of thoughts hurried through his mind. He had obeyed a dream, he reasoned, he had been told that there was something for him here and he accepted the message; the find must be for him.

Copeland heard himself laugh aloud. So this was his rival! Just lay thick and unmarked upon everything. Through a small window the sunlight entered the room, throwing a broad, white shaft across the table, the door and the time-stained walls; the little particles in the dust shone with iridescent light, but the heap of bones lay untouched by the sunlight glory.

Something of pity stirred in Copeland's heart. The echoes of his laugh rang in his ears unpleasantly. He went over to the table and stood looking down at the figure. The arms were thrown out across the table, and under the bony fingers of one hand was a little heap of nuggets.

As he leaned closer Copeland accidentally pushed the table, jarring the skeleton. There was a rattle, and something fell to the floor. He recoiled for a moment then stooped and picked up a knife. The blade was rusted and discolored, almost to the handle.

Hot Flushes, Fainting Spells, So Weak and Nervous Could Not Sleep. Mrs. Philip H. Ryan, Sand Point, N.S., writes: "I have been a great sufferer from nerve trouble. I was so weak and nervous I could not sleep at night, and my appetite was very poor. I could not walk across the floor without trembling all over. I had hot flushes and fainting spells. When I was on my second box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I began to feel better and kept on until I had used six boxes when I felt like a different person. I am never without them in the house and recommend them to all who suffer with their nerves."

Canadian National Railways-- OPERATING ONE HOUR EARLIER

Important Daylight Saving Change of Time at 2 a.m. Sunday, March 30, 1919

All clocks and watches used in operation of Canadian National Railway will at 2 a.m. Sunday, March 30th, be advanced one hour. To prevent serious confusion and inconvenience to the public the attention of all concerned is directed to the following conditions resulting from the important change of time:

If cities, towns, villages and other municipal bodies do not change their local time to correspond with the new Railway time, all concerned should keep in mind that while trains continue to leave Railway Stations on present schedule, such schedule will be operated one hour ahead of present local time. Therefore any municipality where local time is not changed to correspond with the new Railway time, passengers must reach Railway Station ONE HOUR EARLIER than shown in current folders and public time posters.

Where municipal time is changed to correspond with the new Railway time, passengers will not experience difficulty growing out of the change. April 2, 1919
