[From THE DAILY COLONIST, Nov. 11.] THE CITY.

It is announced as very probable that Mr. Justice McCreight, of Westminster, will shortly resign his seat on the Bench.

ONLY ten candidates, three in the preliminary and seven in the final, are writing the civil service examination which opened yesterday at the city hall, Rev. Dr. Campbell presiding as government examiner. The examination will in all probability be completed

THE west wing of the new parliament buildings is so far completed that the work of removing the government printing department to the new quarters he's begun. The press room in the basement is bright, large and air; the general offices, private office for Col. The fittings are not in yet, but leading to the floors are of stone and the floors of blocks laid on a cement foundabeen done to make the wing fireproof.

Last night a number of Victoria business men interested in mining property on Texada island decided at a meeting held in the Williams building to incorporate under the name of the Texada Island Gold Mining Co., Ltd. The company is to be incorporated under the imperial act, and the capital will be the arrival of one of her passengers here $125,000. The property owned by the incorporators is the Potassa claim lying reached this city. Altogether the Willapa close to the Golden Slipper on the west coat of Texada Island. A gang of men have been at work for some time developing the claim, and have now a shaft thirty-five feet down with average assays running $18 in gold, silver and copper. The vein is nearly four feet wide at the bottom of the shaft. The mine is close to the water and can be worked economically and to good advantage.
