BACK TO THE CATTLE MARKET.

The King street West Kickers Succeed in Routing Out the Dog Pound, tion, I would like to talk to you about," said ox Ald. Defoe to the Markets and License Committee, yesterday. "Are you going to persist in the idea of having it in King-street west. I would suggest that you abandon the project. We want to know what course for where the led lived. Among their contents when the led lived. It is with regard to the dog pound ques edopt as we have been given notice to pro-ceed with our injunction or withdraw the cluding the boy, Adjai, who was to become application."

where the lad lived. Among their captives was his mother and her three children, including the was the own that our injunction or withdraw the application."

Ald. Saunders suggested that the committee pass a resolution abandoning the project on the understanding that each party pay its own costs. This was consented to by Frank Lee and ex-Ald. Before, and the resolution was formally passed. The pound is to be taken back to the Western Cattle Market. In order to obviate the difficulty experienced by some of the railway companies in collecting freight charges on cattle in the Western Cattle Market, the committee, on suggestion of the City Commissioner, determined to have notices put up on pens where animals were held on which the freight charges and not been paid, informing the public of the fact. This, it was thought, would go far towards remedying the evil. License inspector Awde was privileged to employ an assistant inspector, and to make the selection himself. Ald, Foster wanted Mr. Awde to be instructed to employ a married man for the position and a Canadian citizen at that, but his motion was defeated. Ewart & Johnston were given the contract for the building of the dog-wagon at $175. Ald, J. E. Verral complained of the exorbitant prices for feed charged by the present lessees of the Western Cattle Market. The alderman alleges that hay the open market price of which is $11 a ton is being retailed at $30.
