The editor shook his head and the newsgatherer retired.

Next day he came up again. "My little item was crowded out. At least I din't see it in the paper. I brought you some more news," and he handed in an item about a cat as follows:

"A remarkable animal—The family cat of our worthy and distinguished fellow-townsman Smith, who keeps the boss grocery store in Ward No. 13 (bottled beer always on tap), vesterday became the mother of five singularly marked kittens. This is not the first time this unheard-of event has taken place. We understand Mr. Smith is being favorably spoken of as a candidate for alderman. He selfs more sugar for a dollar than any grocer in town, and is a generous, whole-souled fellow."

The editor groans in his spirit as he lights a cigar with the effort. It is not long before he hears that Smith is going around saying the editor; is a chump, and is not independent enough to suit the public, etc.

Many of the readers will say that this sketch is overdrawn, but thousands of editors all over the country will lift up their right hands to testify that they are personally acquainted with the guilty party.

Police Stop the Pattle.

For several nights during the past week there has been a sham battle in the rayine at the point known as Shaw's Grove, the boys on the Givens-street side opposing those from Ossington-avenue.
