

MOULTON COLLEGE.

AT our prayer-meeting Tuesday evening, March 17th, we had the Rev. Mr. Bishop to lead. He spoke to us on the subject of prayer, Luke xi. The thoughts he left with us were very helpful and inspiring.

SEVERAL of the students of M. L. C. had the privilege of listening to Handel's famous oratorio, "The Messiah," on Monday, March 23rd. The soloists were all celebrated artists, Albani taking soprano. Her rendering of the solo, "I know that my Redeemer liveth," was especially effective.

DURING the past month we have had Chancellor Wallace, Dr. Rand, Rev. Mr. Bishop, of the Central Methodist Church; Rev. Mr. Weeks, of Walmer Road; Rev. Mr. Eaton, of Bloor Street, and Rev. Mr. Neil, of Westminster Church, to lead our chapel exercises, and we have been much benefited by their encouraging words.

THE students were all very much pleased when they learned that the vacation at Easter was to be longer by two days than heretofore. Some complaints were heard about the requirement that we should remain till the end of the day before the beginning of the vacation, and herein is verified the saying, "The more we have the more we want." However, our return will be very much brightened by the prospect of hearing in the near future the renowned pianist Paderewski.

MOULTON has been very kindly remembered by her friends during the past weeks. On the afternoon of February 28th, Mrs. Newman entertained the graduating classes of Moulton and McMaster, and although the weather was unfavorable, a goodly number of guests were present, and a very pleasant afternoon was passed. Mrs. Holman also gave an "At Home" for the graduating classes and a large number of friends, on March 13th. The students enjoyed these "At Homes," and appreciate the kind thought and interest which their friends show toward them.

WOODSTOCK COLLEGE.

THE members of the class of '96, having striven through weary years of preparation, are at last approaching the time when they are to reap, as the fruits of their labors, class honors and certificates of various kinds. But these confidently expected attainments are by no means the only source of gratification to the learned seniors. Social privileges and enjoyments come apace. Two very pleasant receptions have already been tendered the class by some of the "better halves" of the Faculty. The first of those, on March 6th, was given by Mrs. McKechnie and Mrs. McCrimmon in their commodious rooms in the
