RIPANS

ONE GIVES RELIEF.

NO MATTER WHAT'S THE MATTER
ONE OF THEM WILL DO YOU GOOD.

Rev. Frederick R. Marvin, long-time pastor of the First Congregational Church, of Great Barrington, Mass., and at one time a practicing physician, a graduate of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York, says of Ripans Tablets: "The formula has long been in favor with medical men, and the method of preparation in the present form is modern and a great convenience. I always keep a vial of the Tablets upon my dressing table, and use them with confidence whenever occasion arises. For a disturbed condition of the digestive organs I know of nothing so good, and for an 'all round' family remedy I do not believe there is anything better to be had."

HEALTH AND HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Small green pears that are not of use for any other purpose make an excellent pickle prepared as apples.

For delicious chow-chow, cut into good-sized pieces four quarts of green tomatoes, one dozen onions, twenty-five cucumbers and two good cabbages. Put the vegetables in a stone crock in layers, alternated with a sprinkling of salt, and let them stand over night. In the morning drain the vegetables in a colander, return them to the crock, and cover with equal parts of vinegar and water, and let them remain over night. Drain off the vinegar the second morning. While the vegetables are draining put into a large preserving kettle six quarts of vinegar, four pounds of sugar, one pint of grated horseradish, half a pound of mustard seed, half a cup of turmeric, the same quantity of cinnamon and black pepper, and one ounce of celery seed. Let this mixture come to boiling and then cook five minutes. Take the kettle from the fire and put the drained pickles into it and let it stand at one side to become cold. Gradually stir one cup of olive oil into half a pound of ground mustard, then thoroughly mix with the pickles when they are cold. Fill small jars with the chow-chow and cover.

For green tomato pickles.—Wash one peck of green tomatoes and cut them into thin slices. Peel two quarts of white onions, slice them and add to the tomatoes. Put the vegetables in a large earthen bowl or crock, sprinkle a little salt on them and cover and let stand over night. In the morning turn the vegetables into a colander to drain, and then put them in a porcelain-lined kettle and pour over them vinegar. Cover the kettle and put it over a moderate fire, allowing the vegetables to cook slowly until they are clear and tender; then again turn them into a colander to drain. Put fresh vinegar into the preserving kettle and add to it two pounds of brown sugar, half a pound of white mustard seed and one tablespoonful each of ground cloves, allspice and celery seed. Put the kettle on the back of the fire for the vinegar to heat slowly. When the tomatoes are drained mix with them one teaspoonful each of turmeric and cayenne pepper and half a tablespoonful of ground mustard. When the vinegar has reached the boiling point turn it over the pickles, mixing them well together with a wooden spoon. Add a small cup of salad oil, and put the pickles to one side until they are cold; then put them into jars and cover.

Another green tomato pickle that is very satisfactory is made thus: Wash and slice one peck of green tomatoes and six onions. Pack the sliced vegetables in a jar, sprinkling a large cupful of salt through them. Let them stand twenty-four hours, and then turn the vegetables into a colander and drain. Put the drained vegetables in a preserving kettle, cover them with fresh water and put the kettle over the fire and let the contents boil fifteen minutes. When the vegetables are cool take a four-quart jar and pack them in, making alternate layers of vegetables and dressings. To make the dressing put in a bowl half an ounce of ground mace, the same quantity of ground cloves, one teaspoonful each of black pepper and ginger, two pounds of brown sugar, two papers of celery seed, half a teacup of white mustard seed and a quarter of a pound of ground mustard. Mix together and moisten with a little vinegar to make a paste. Have enough vinegar boiling to fill the jar and pour it over the whole.

Fairly jumped into success—
Pearline. Right from the very start. Notwithstanding all these hundreds of years of precedence behind that old-fashioned, back-breaking way of washing with soap, too.

Now, why was it? Why is it that hundreds of millions of packages of Pearline have been used in the few years since this washing-compound was invented? Just do your washing and cleaning with Pearline for a month, and you'll see. It takes away the rubbing, but without any risk of harm. That puts it at the head of every known aid for washing.
