Library of South Africa

By William Douglas Mackenzie, D.D., and Alfred Stead.

Dr. Mackenzie is Pastor of New England Congregational Church, and Professor of Systematic Theology, Chicago, Associate Author of "Austral Africa; Losing it or Ruling It," the acknowledged Standard History of Africa.

Twenty Years in South Africa, contact with the people and close study of all questions affecting its welfare, enable him to write from personal knowledge and experience.

ALFRED STEAD, Associate Author, is so well known through the REVIEW OF REVIEWS as to need no introduction.

Four Complete Books IN ONE MASSIVE VOLUME

This Volume is composed of four books, the title of the whole is "The Library of South Africa."

The First Book gives an account of the history and races of South Africa. The history of the Transvaal will be brought down to the year 1881; it also describes the "Famous Men, Cities and Industries of South Africa." Here will be found a history of the leading explorers, politicians, missionaries, hunters, native chiefs and warriors, with some account of their adventures and work. There will also be found in these pages full information regarding the principal cities of the land, and of the two great industries which have poured wealth into Africa by bringing treasures out of it, namely the Diamond Industry of Kimberley and the Gold Mines of the Transvaal.

The Second Book is entitled "President Kruger and the Transvaal." Beginning with his earlier years and his share in the Great Trek, the story passes to his religion and farming life; then it brings us to his activity as a revolutionist in the War of Independence, his election as President, his sudden accumulation of vast wealth and the policy which he has pursued during the last fifteen years.

The Third Book is entitled "Cecil J. Rhodes, Capitalist and Politician," and comprises many chapters descriptive of his life and influence.

The Fourth Book, entitled "The British-Boer War, 1899-1900," is divided into two parts, the first of which describes its causes and occasion, and the second deals with the actual progress of the war.

This Book Presents to the Reader a complete and accurate account of that wonderful country, thus enabling him to form a clear idea of the land and people where this most fierce and ruthless war is raging, and to understand the problems that have led to armed conflict.

In Illustration the Work may well be called Picturesque Africa

Native Chiefs and Savage Tribes, Beautiful Scenery and Triumphs of Skill, Market Place and Residence of Mining King, Product of Farm, of Shop and of Mine, Cities teeming with Life, Humble Home of Ranchman and Farmer. The Boer, the Englishman, the Outlander, the Kafir, the Hottentot, the Bushman, the Zulu, all pictured from life.

These superb engravings are made from photographs. All battles truthfully pictured direct from the scene of action, many of which have been secured at great personal risk and at enormous expense by the authors' friends and relatives who are now in the midst of the conflict. Scores of beautiful full-page half-tone illustrations from original photographs add to the beauty of the book and enhance its value.

A New Map of Africa, 15x20 inches, in Five Colors

This book will contain a new map of Africa, 15 x 20 inches, in five colors, worth fifty cents; this is included in the book without extra cost to the purchaser. All political divisions with population and topography as they exist to-day are clearly shown. This new map shows the territory owned and colonized by the different European nations. It shows also the ports and mountain passes.
