WAVEX International Inc.

Mr. Thomas Larsen CEO

Key products/services: Sporting goods

Wavex International Inc. is a technology based company that specializes in developing and marketing patented sporting goods and industrial products incorporating its revolutionary WAVEX TechnologyTM, including tennis racquets, graphite golf shafts, hockey shafts, bicycle frames and hammer handles.

The premise for the WAVEX Technology TM follows Newton's first law of physics. According to the law, vibration will travel continuously through a straight line, but will dissipate as it travels through a non-uniform object. WAVEX Technology TM incorporates a series of waves on products, converting them to non-uniform objects thereby reducing vibration and providing superior performance characteristics.

During the Team Canada mission, Wavex and Mitsui & Co., Ltd. of Tokyo, Japan will sign a memorandum of understanding to commence a series of initiatives that could see the emergence of consumer demand for its new generation of WAVEXTM superior performance tennis racquets in the Japanese domestic market.
