

Supply—C.B.C.

Mr. Bell: Some of us have no children.

Mr. Blackmore: The trouble is we have so many people who do not realize what is going on. They did not realize what was going on in Czechoslovakia until it was too late; they did not realize what was going on in Rumania until it was too late. Now, it is an easy thing for it to happen right here; and when you bear in mind that the communist organization is counting on taking over Canada and the United States not later than 1961, it becomes a serious thing. Up to the present time they have not failed once in attaining their objective. They boast about it.

In the light of those facts we cannot be too careful. I say to the minister, I have no desire to be unkind to the C.B.C. or to anyone else. They give wonderful programs, but what value would it be to give us programs of the highest quality and the best on earth if at the same time there were people speaking over the C.B.C. who were indoctrinating our youth so they would cause us some of these days to do something like what happened in Czechoslovakia; and it could happen. Let us not be deluded in this matter.

The first thing I would suggest to the minister is that he get someone who will be reliable to find out for him just exactly what is the communist line. At the present time there are several kinds of communist lines. One is coexistence. They are preaching coexistence all the time. The effect of coexistence is to get us to let our guard down. That is the first thing. They know perfectly well there is no coexistence so far as they are concerned. They have already told us that they would put on a peace offensive that would amaze us, and then when we got our guard down they would smash us. Do not forget that when they say they will smash us they mean it. The words of Khrushchev last September are just as clear as words can be. Words could not be any clearer. Do you imagine he did not mean what he said? I have already quoted them for the record this year.

In the light of this I ask anyone whether a person can devote too much time to this matter on the floor of the house?

Bear in mind, there is no opportunity to speak out and discuss this matter for months; we have to wait until the C.B.C. estimates come in. I am just as tired as anybody else in this house; I am just as anxious to get home, but I would certainly be ashamed if I went away and left unsaid the things which I ought to say because I realize the terrible danger. I have tried in this house to convince hon. members of the terrible danger that lies before us, but in most instances they have not shown they could even dimly appreciate the things I have been telling them.

When one of those hon. members sits down with me and spends half an hour two or three times and sees some of the things I have, he is a different man entirely; because they are facts.

Some hon. Members: Oh, oh.

Mr. Blackmore: Yes, I know all about the silly remarks. The simple fact is that we have been so misinformed, Mr. Chairman, by the propagandists who have been working over the air and through the newspapers that we just do not know anything about realities. I refer to just one case.

Before the Chinese trouble began, in both the United States and Canada there was a line of propaganda put out by all the various communist organs that the communists of China were not real communists. I ask if there is any hon. member in this house who did not have that impressed upon him until he believed it. That is right; they were presented as being merely "agrarian reformers". What was the purpose of that propaganda? It was to lull the people of the United States into a sense of security regarding China; and they were completely indoctrinated and all believed this line of thought, then what happened? China was taken away from us, one, two, three and there is no doubt that they proved to be real communists after that.

That is just one example. This was done by Edgar Snow and two or three other men. If anyone cares to read into this matter—and I say for the sake of common sense we should read into it—I would suggest that one should take the book "While you Slept" by John T. Flynn and learn what was done, how it was done and how completely deluded we were. The radios and magazines were all used in putting across this communist line.

Another line that was put over was that concerning Syngman Rhee. It was said that he was one of the most wicked men in the world. One of the quotations I have here refers to Syngman Rhee as a wicked old man. The only wicked thing about him was that he wanted his people to be free from communism; he was a wonderful man.

On October 2, 1942, the communist organization of the United States declared an anti-Chiang Kai-shek campaign, and some of the most wicked, vile and unjustifiable statements were made and spread far and wide about Chiang Kai-shek. These statements were just as untrue as they possibly could be. These were spread abroad by the communist Daily Worker of the United States, backed up by certain other organs, all working to influence the people of the United States to
