OPEN MUTINY

Will Mr. Hazen be deposed from the premiership? His supporters are in a very angry mood, and attribute recent disasters to his lack of the qualities of leadership and fighting force. Thus, the Moncton Times says:—

"The reverse in Carleton, and the result in Northumberland do not mean that Mr. Hazen has lost the confidence of the people. They do mean, however, that a leader must lead, that he must counsel his followers as well as one or all of his colleagues and that when the time for action comes he must act with firmness and decision. The results in Northumberland and Carleton afford a lesson in party management and control that should not be lost sight of. It will be well if it is taken advantage of."

This is a very mildly worded rebuke, but the significance of it is unmistakable. The Frederick Glenier is more violent and asserts that the government allowed itself to be "hoodwinked into becoming the victim of a conspiracy." The Chatham World charges that Mr. Hazen and his colleagues pursued a "crooked and weakened course."

All of which points to universal dissatisfaction with Mr. Hazen's leadership, a feeling which would certainly not be discouraged by his ambitious colleagues. The next meeting of the cabinet will be rather warm. The Chatham World intimates that Mr. Morrisey must get out. No doubt Mr. Morrisey has some such feeling himself. Then there are the questions looming up in Kings and Albert, which call for firmness and decision as the Moncton Times describes it. The present situation in this province is fairly well summed up by the Halifax Chronicle which says:—

"Canadian politics has had no more conspicuous example of bungling and ineptitude than the record of Mr. Hazen during his eight months in office. He was returned to power with an overwhelming majority, on the distinct pledge that his government would be non-partisan and on a platform of promises which he has signally failed to implement with performance. Not only this, but when the federal campaign opened he threw himself into the fight on behalf of the Tory party and was pardoned before the country as one of the winning provincial premiers who were going to carry Mr. Borden into power. How little real strength he had in his own province, apart from the liberal support which had placed him in the premiership was revealed by the almost total annihilation of the Tory party at the polls. He emerged from the federal campaign greatly discredited, not only because of his utter failure to lead New Brunswick in the Borden column, but because of the part he played in the cowardly attack on Hon. Dr. Pugsley; and now come the smashing defeats in Carleton and Northumberland to further shatter his prestige, as a political leader. The liberal opposition victories are significant of a remarkable change of sentiment in the sister province since the general elections in March and, unless all signs are deceptive they spell the beginning of the end of the Hazen administration."

PULP AND PAPER

The supply of pulpwood in the United States is fast being reduced. Paper mills in Michigan and Wisconsin are looking to Minnesota for pulp. "With the plants of these states all working on this limited supply," says Chairman Mann, of a special committee, "Canada appears to be our only salvation. If we cannot arrange matters so that pulp timber can be brought in cheaply, the price of print paper will go sky-high."

There is now an agitation for the repeal of the tariff on pulpwod and paper from any country which does not impose an export duty on pulpwood. Apparently the latter suggestion is made with an eye on Canada, for already the provinces of Ontario and Quebec have restrictive legislation, and there is talk of more of it. But Canada has no cause for fear. Discussing the subject the Ottawa Journal well says:—

"But the outstanding element of the matter is that experts in the United States, at any rate—no matter what may be said on this side the line—seem to be convinced that the United States paper mills must shortly depend upon Canada for their supply of pulpwood. That places Canada in a position of vantage, in a position where without biting off her nose to spite her face she may pick and choose the conditions upon which she will consent to the disposal of her forest wealth. There is at least no reason why she should ever lend herself to the spoliation of her forest domain at the dictate of American need, and without any adequate return in the employment of Canadian labor in Canadian territory. American demand would exhaust the almost limitless pulpwood berths in Canada at the same rate as that at which it has exhausted the white pine forests of the Northern States. American need should never be given a chance to deplete the forests of Canada when we can build pulp and paper mills ourselves. And while it would be of the simplest essence of commercial common sense that we should keep the avenues of our trade with other countries open, there are many good reasons why when we are to hold as in this case, a natural monopoly, we should provide that the raw material which Canada alone possesses should be manufactured for the most part in Canadian territory."

Hon. Mr. Morrisey, in an interview published in the Sun, refers to peculiar conditions which exist in Northumberland county. The time has come when no conditions in any county can any longer justify coalition in provincial politics. The position in which Mr. Morrisey finds himself is not of his own making. It was made for him by Premier Hazen and his Conservative colleagues. However, looking at the matter from the point of view of the coalition principle, which prevailed when he entered the government, the die is cast and the Liberals of New Brunswick are done with mixed politics. The verdict is not the verdict of one man, but of a great party, and as a member of that party Mr. Morrisey will find himself in his present anomalous position intolerable.

It is understood that the agricultural department of the province is arranging to receive daily bulletins regarding the health of the three thoroughbred stations and fifteen thoroughbred mares in Kentucky. This will relieve the suspense of the public during the period of the embargo.

The Halifax Chronicle throws this little bomb into the hockey camp. "Members of amateur hockey teams are now being chased around with a satchel full of money to secure amateur players. The money is for travelling expenses."

The agitation for a sanitarium in this province is to be renewed by the New Brunswick Medical Association. The subject is one of so great importance that it cannot much longer be treated with indifference by the legislature.

Hayti merely loses a tyrant when it loses President Nord Alexis. It will be fortunate if it does not find another tyrant in his successor. The revolution has, however, been unexpectedly peaceful.

The Chatham World informs Mr. Morrisey that there will be no more coalition in Northumberland, and formally announces the withdrawal of all Conservative support.

CHAUFFEURS PLEAD
GUILTY TO CHARGE OF MANSLAUGHTER

Hartford, Conn., Dec. 2.—W. E. Kibbe, and W. H. Phair, chauffeurs, whose reckless driving of automobiles, it was charged, had caused two deaths, pleaded guilty in the superior court today to manslaughter. Phair was sentenced to not less than three nor more than four years in state prison. Kibbe will be sentenced tomorrow. The latter car struck and fatally injured Mrs. E. T. Smith, while Phair's machine killed Robert E. Harriman, the car at the time it was alleged, being driven at a terrific speed. In passing sentence on Phair, Judge Cose characterized the killing of Harriman as a "grave instance of criminal neglect."

William McKinnon
Richibucto, Nov. 30.—The sudden death occurred here on Saturday, of William McKinnon, about midnight. He had been in his usual health, indeed seemed rather in more than his usual spirits. On Saturday night he went home about 11:30 and shortly afterwards went to his room to retire for the night. His wife left the room to get some article of clothing, and on her return, found her husband lying in the bed with his arms outstretched. He did not speak and she found that he could not revive him. A doctor was hastily called, but life was found to be extinct.

The sympathy of the community goes out to his wife and large family in their sudden and great bereavement.

41 KING STREET.THE ANCIENT GAME
(From Punch)

Swiftly she swung her shining creak,
And blushed like any rose.
As, spilt on lightly on the cheek,
The ball rolled to her toes.
The ball rolled to her toes,
Wonder, when I tell you that
She wore a charming picture hat,
Gilded in the air!

I held her hands, to put them right,
Showed where her feet should go.
And told how drives went out of sight,
And put her to and fro.
Through she could not see her cheating eyes,
She could not form her toes.
And these I made of ample size
Upon my humble knees.

She missed, with many a smiling look,
And blamed me for it all.
Because my words were long,
Her eyes clean off the ball!
Lo! was the sport, but I'm afraid
We trifled with the name:
Observing friends declared we played
A much more ancient game!
