Caldwell A Great Player.
New York, June 16.—"Ray" Caldwell, star pitcher and regular pitcher of the Yankees, is the most useful man in the team in baseball when he gives his best. Caldwell is a right-handed pitcher, but he can play every position in the field except that of catcher. As a first baseman he plays well, and he can cover a world of territory in the outfield.

In the last three days "Ray" has hit three home runs, in each case the ball flying far into the right field stand. In the first two instances he performed the feat when he was sent in as a pinch hitter and the third he made in the course of a regular game. That he is perfectly cool at all times will be conceded when it is understood that each time that he hit out a homer two strikes had been called on him. He waited till he got the ball he wanted and then put all he had behind his swing. If "Ray" is properly backed this season he should win more games than any twirler in the American league.

Exhibition Game Today.
This afternoon the Commercial and Alerts, of the East End League, will play an exhibition game at Glen Falls. Each team will have a strong line-up and a fast game is anticipated.

Chappelle Showing Form.
According to a Milwaukee sport writer, Larry Chappelle, known as the $18,000 beauty, who was purchased last year by the White Sox and who failed to live up to expectations, is beginning to show real form again. He is batting at .385 and is holding his own in the lineup.

Last Night's Bout.
In New York Freddie Welsh, lightweight champion, outboxed Johnny Luntz in a ten round bout.
In Brooklyn, Johnny Dundee, bantamweight, secured the decision in eight of the ten rounds.

Welsh Acquiring Wealth.
Freddie Welsh bids fair to become the wealthiest fighter in the ring. Since he acquired the title the Britisher has picked up approximately $50,000, and now he is to receive a nice purse for a battle with Charley White at Denver in September. If he wins he will receive $18,000; if he loses he will receive $15,000. In addition he will receive fifty-one per cent of the moving picture privileges. Welsh has already beaten White.

Harvard and Yale Crews.
Coach Guy Nickalls of the Yale crew in an article in Thursday's issue of the Yale Alumni weekly says he believes the Harvard and Yale crews are on a level this year but that Yale has more room for improvement. He regards the Harvard "varsity" as the "best crew which the Crimson have had in a decade."

Of Yale, Nickalls says the attack of pneumonia poisoning the oarsmen suffered recently has weakened the boat. "Just how far this will throw us back," he says, "it is just now impossible to say."

A Great Swimmer.
Frank Beaupre, former English and Australian champion swimmer, saw Duke Kahanamoku in competition during the Hawaiian tour of Australia and comments interestingly on Duke's style of slow arm action and quick leg work. He says: "The sensational speed of the Hawaiian clearly demonstrates that too quick an arm stroke is neither necessary nor advisable. His arms move slowly but they take full power from each thrust, and lift the body many more inches forward than if a short, quick thrust were made. At the same time the legs operate with a propeller-like motion of the feet and ankles, alternately, rapidly and without coming out of the water. Not only does this keep up the legs and give the body the most advantageous angle but it affords continuous propulsion."

In watching Kahanamoku perform distances over the distances came the opportunity to define the rhythm of his stroke, and it is distinctly six leg beats and two arm strokes, more precisely, three downward beats of each leg to the full double arm stroke."

Won Open Championship.
Short Hills, N. J., June 16.—Jerome D. Travers today won the national open golf championship of the United States. His score was 297. Tom McManis was second with 306, and Robert MacDonald, Buffalo, third, with 307. Travers has won four national amateur and five metropolitan, as well as several other important golf championships.

Francis Oulmet, amateur champion, could not control his clubs and finished with 317.
Chick Evans, a young Chicagoan, who holds the western amateur title, also played disappointingly.

Fairville League.
The game last evening in the Fairville League resulted in victory for the Portlands over the Courtneys, 5-3. The contest went five innings. The North End men had a few new ones in their lineup and presented perhaps the strongest team they have yet put up. The Carletons played gamely but did not possess the hitting power of their opponents, who wielded the big stick in the right time to run in scores.

Sharkey assumed the mound for the victors with McNulty receiving and in the first inning the three Carleton men were struck out. In the next two seasons, Sharkey retired behind the bat, McNulty covered first and Tom Tracey relieved the pitcher. He did good work in the fourth inning, at a critical period with the bases full, he put two strikes on him, who on the third ball singled to short was put out and the hopes of the Carleton men for several runs were dashed to the ground. Fitzgerald and Joyce were the opening battery for Carleton. In the third Fitzgerald retired in favor of Beatty.

There were some features which drew applause, as usual. A running catch by Tom Tracey from first was a nice exhibition and McNulty when behind the bat, ran after a foul right among the

TELLS OF SEARCH FOR STEVANSON
"The only thing that would seem to explain the theory that Stefansson still lives," he said, "was the fact that the 700 mile trip, which he essayed over the ice from Herschel Island to Prince Patrick Island, was so daring that it is generally assumed that he had some other destination in mind and had reason to know that he had a fair chance of reaching it. He set out with an outfit of six dogs and was accompanied by two expert ice men from Nome. It is believed by many that he, experienced as he was in matters pertaining to the north country, would never have attempted the trip without having some means of escape in case of a disaster. The explorer's determination to locate the lost tribe of the blood equino may have resulted in this great trip."

WHY, The Leather Alone

in Invictus Shoes costs as much as the retail price of some shoes that claim to be "just as good."

Empty words and idle boasts don't give shoe service—that requires honest leather, skilled workmanship and attention to details. And these cost money.

Just how much money they do cost is what controls the price of Invictus Shoes.

Invictus Shoes are not made to sell at a price—but to give the maximum of service, comfort, style and wear.

Their economy lies in the fact that they give far more of each than the difference in their price would indicate.

This Summer's Oxfords Will Prove INVICTUS ECONOMY To You—Easily AT ANY INVICTUS AGENCY which has astounded scientists by its apparent lack of caution.

Of the fate of Forbes, Murray, Beuchet, Morris, Barker, Brady and King there can be no doubt. Theirs was the first expedition to leave the Karluk when it was apparent that she could no longer withstand the pressure of the ice and their effort to reach Herald Island was so apparently hopeless that Captain Robert Bartlett insisted that they sign a statement relieving him from all responsibility before they set out on what was to mean their death. It is known that they found that the ice had left the island and that they could not manage and Australia. He has sold pictures of all three places to concerns in every corner of the earth, and since locating in Nome has become a recognized authority on pictures relating to conditions where the sleds bowl along after the dog teams.

Cadet Inspection.
In addition to the inspection of the St. Andrew's Cadet Corps as mentioned in the Times-Star yesterday, St. Luke's and the High School Cadet Corps were also inspected by Lieut. McClellan of Halifax. Both made an excellent showing. Both corps have been instructed by Sergeant R. Dooe who has been most successful with them. The High School corps were under Capt. Harry Flood, with Lieutenants Howard Hustin and Ronald Ritchie, while the St. Luke's corps were commanded by Capt. Walter Dunlop, assisted by Lieutenants Murray Hatheway, Guy Nichols, and Adjutant Fred Stevens. Following St. Luke's corps inspection, supper was tendered the inspecting officer, at which a good time was enjoyed.
