Familine. It Relieves Pain. Good for Swollen Limbs

Mn. H. R. Sysvans—Dear Sir: I have lately witnessed decidedly good and striking effects of your FAMILINE in case of Erysipelas of nearly strices and there years standing. When I first saw my satient, a lady of some 50 years of age, she was complaining of a severe swollen condition of her feet; the skin was tense and angry-looking painful on the alightest motion and likely to burst at any moment. She had tried many remedies without relief, and my first treatment failed in its effect. I suggested that the feet be painted with FAMILINE morning and night, and then enclosed in soft cotton dressing. When I saw her last about three days ago, the pain had wholly vanished, the swelling reduced to almost the normal condition and the inflammation subsided. With proper care as to diet and slight constitutional treatment, I think she has nobling to fear from her old disease in the fiture.

I ought to state that I was led to try FAMI-LINE in this case simply on the recommendation of my wife, who had been pleased with its effect in a severe case of burn, also in a painful backache, resulting from a settled cold. Notwithstanding that it professes to be a "proprietary" article, I cannot conscientiously deny its admirable compo-

In His Last Ditch. We have sufficient evidence before is to justify the belief that Mr. Surveyor-General Adams is in a desperate strait regarding his political status in Northumberland-so desperate, in fact, that he has determined to resort to the gious strife in the hope that he may play the role of martyr to the Roman of the Department here to that gentle-Catholic religion. He seems to imagine that the Roman Catholics of the County are very easily to be imposed upon, and that all he has to do is proclaim himself champion of their faith, bid them array themselves on his side and then, by playing among bigoted Protestants his old role of scoffing and defi-Unfortunately for Mr. Adams and the little ill-assorted coterie who are interested in sustaining him, they have se-

Roman Catholics in this County first from one office and then from another, after years of faithful and honorable service, replacing him with a political supporter of another faith; who has respected neither right nor religion in his dealing with settlers and others, where his little political plans were to be promoted-we say when such a man comes forward to array men of any creed against this paper, we are not afraid to stand upon our record and fight him on the ground he has chosen.

With the poet we can say:--

Whose hands are pure, whose doctrine and whose life Coincident exhibit lucid proof That he is honest in the sacred cause but we deem religion too holy a thing to be dragged into political affairs, especially by a man whose claims upon the religion he would prostitute are so slender as those of Surveyor-General Adams. In a time when our community is as free from the baneful experiences of religious discord as it has been for many years, and when good neighborhood and amity mark the intercourse of all our citizens, this man chooses to set deliberately about the work of stiring up the dangerous and slumbering agency. He would bring about the state of things so aptly limned by Berwhen in our days rengon is made a political engine, she exposes herself to have her sacred character forgotten.

It may safely be assumed that resort to the latter course will never be had in these columns, but we know that nothing would better please the political trickster who attempts to make such desperate use of a church for which we honestly believe we have far more respect than he has. We believe that in this matter the church will respect itself and hold aloof from entanglement with the fortunes of so desperate a character and that its honest adherents will not he misled by specious and wicked appeals to their prejudices against knowedge and reason.

Mr. Adams adroitly couples his name mith that of Mr. Landry of the Board of Works Department, and Roman Catholics are told that as soon as these two gentlemen took office in the Government we opposed them because of their faith. It will not be forgotten that the people of this County learned with surprise in July, 1878 that Mr. Adams had to Sir John A. Macdonald's speech in entered into a political alliance with favor of the Syndicate bargain. Mr. Hon. Robert Young of Caraquet. At Blake said: the time few Roman Catholics, at all events, approved of his doing so, eswhen it was known that Mr. Young and his old associates would have had to give place to an entirely new Government but for Messrs, Adams and Landry uniting their fortunes with them. At that time we gave Mr. Adams credit for acting for the best, and while we thought a new Government would have been better for the country we were willing to trust to the future rather than judge either him or Mr. Landry polling day will be Saturday, 29th. Mr. Landry is, we learn, to be returned withoutsopposition and we have no doubt that Mr. Adams will be similarly treated n this constituency.

Does that sound like opposition to are hundreds of electors who know that on the day the above was published more than one better Roman Catholic than ever Mr. Adams was held himself ready to oppose his return because they believed he had sold his principles. The opposition to him was not because he was a Roman Catholic, but because he had become an apostate and sold himself to Robert Young of Caraquet. So far as Mr. Landry is concerned we have always admired him as a public of the day the above was published on the tity would be thus strength that they would be thus strength that it would experience a feeling of relief on both sides of politics if they should hear, as the result of this debate, that hon, gentlemen opposite, countedling the public affairs, had agreed to yield a little to the wishes of the country. I say that there is but one way in which you can imperil the future of the country and render possible that dark flow that they would be thus strength that it would experience a feeling of relief on both sides of politics if they should hear, as the result of this debate, that hon, gentlemen opposite, countedling lines:—

"Through a mist of smiles and tears, and tolls and dreams, Ooh I how long ago its seems. Looking back across the years. Silver threads are in my hair, And the sunset shadows slope Back along the hills of hope, Back along the hills of hope, that before us shone so fair. And for us might be weather, Omes no more with golden weather, Omes no more with golden weather, Fields, and woods, and sunshine gay, have always admired him as a public man creditably representing the French element of our population. After having been the friend of Mr. Adams in his election to his present position and largely instrumental in disarming opposition to his unopposed return thereto, we are now opposed to him. Why? He and his friends say, because he is a Roman Catholic. We ance of the same church, win enough say he is condemned and opposed by votes from both to secure his re-election. the people as well as the ADVANCE— 1st: Because he broke faith with us and them in promising that if he were re-turned unopposed to the office for which he sold himself to the Youngs of Glouces-ter, he would not use the influence and 7th Because he has generally made use if the position to which he was elevated by all classes, without regard to religion or party, to persecute and trample upon hose against whom after pleaging his versonal hone to the contrary—he arrayed himself in Dominion politics.

8th Because he is not a good Roman attable or christian, but exemplifies, in the characteristics of the free-thinker.

9th Pecause he would prostitute religion to patch up his political rottenness.

We might enlarge the counts against Mr. Adams, but it is not necessary. We ask Roman Catholics whether he is the kind of a man they would have to represent them, where they desire to win respect either for their religion or their citizenship? It is not necessary for the ADVANCE to repudiate the charges that are made against it by hireling and even Protestant pens, in such a man's interest, because it ha been an open page since 1874 which all have read. We have earnestly striven to promote amity and good feeling be tween citizens of all denominations and feel assured that no paper in the Province stands better in the confidence and respect of Catholics and Protestants alike. Our columns have been open to all for the furtherance of their good works and we have denied none save when they have offered controversial matter. And when the time for another election for the Legislature comes we shall be found loyally supporting those whom we consider the best candidates. Among these Mr. Adams will find, not himself, as before, but a Roman Catholic who will command the respect of his co-religionists as well as other electors of the County generally-one who will be able to hold the best position attainable in the Province without the sacrifice of principle or appeals to unlike Hon Michael Adamsas Mr. Adams is unlike a good Roman Catholic-and who will set his face against all misdoings such as those we have enumerated above. We, therefore, respectfully submit them and our remarks for the electors, and especially those of the Catholic faith. An Elequent and Patriotic Appeal One of the most eloquent, as well as patriotic appeals ever heard in the Commons of Canada, was that of Hon. Edward Blake, the other day in replying

If we are to decide between the con tract and the offer, I unhesitatingly say that I advise my friends to accept the offer instead of the contract, and I believe that such will be the opinion of the country too. (Cheers.) The hon. gentleman said that the Government must stand by the contract. I did not know it. I do not know it yet. I do know it. I do not know it yet. I do not know there is any obligation under which the Government rests to stand by the contract. Are governments infallible? Do they never make mistakes? Is it not a nobler, more moral, more patriotic course, if you find you have erred, to acknowledge your error, withdraw the false step, and

"The Coming of the Princess and other Poems." The Coming of the Princess" and other Poems-by Kate Seymour Maclean, Toronto: Hunter. Rose & Co. 1880. Messrs. Hunter, Rose & Co, deserve vell of the Canadian literary public for the books they have lately brought out, and for the powerful, stimulating influence ing over Mrs. Maclean's signature in the is an accumulation of power and sweetness that surpasses even our somewhat sanguine expectations. Our young nation is awaking to a consciousness of vigorous life, and voice. Especially noticeable is the hopeful prophetic tone of the introductory religious prejudice-a man, in fact as verses, which constitute an altogether exquisite lyric:-A little bird woke singing in the night, Dreaming of coming day, And piped, for very fullness of delight, His little roundelay.

ming he heard the wood-lark's carol loud. Down calling to his mate, Like silver rain out of a golden cloud, At morning's radiant gate. And all for joy of his embowering woods And dewy leaves he sung,— The summer sunshine, and the summer floods By forest flowers o'erhung.

Thou shalt not hear those wild and sylvan note When morn's full chorus pours Rejoicing from a thousand feathered throats, And the lark sings and soars.

Oh poet of our glorious land so fair,
Whose foot is at the door:
Even so my song shall melt into the air,
And die, and be no more. But thou shall live part of the nation's life; The world shall hear thy voice Singing above the noise of war and strife, And, therefore, I rejoice!"

A less spontaneous and thoroughly musical poem than this one, would be unable to survive the presence of two blemishes, which exist therein probably on ac-

$161.774 This large sum of $161,774 might all an additional $500 for travelling expenses have been kept in Canada; would all on a special mission in the North West have been kept in Canada if the Government were sincere Protectionists. A little forethought, a little earnestness only was required. It was not necessary that the River du Loup section of the Grand Trunk should be actually handed over to the Government before preparation was made M. P. from New Brunswick, is allowed $2, for procuring those locomotives. Kingston, St. John and the Moneton works could have supplied them all in good time if the Government had chosen that all should be made in Canada. There is even less excuse for importing cars than for the importation of locomotives, and this $161,-774 expended in Canada, would, have given employment to some hundreds of our own mechanics.

The prices stated do not, we believe.
