The Wash Day.

Labor is greatly lightened if an E. & F. Special Wringer is used. These Wringers are specially made for us. The rubber rolls are soft and elastic; they wring dry the thick and thin parts of the clothes equally well. They are also fitted with ball bearing—like a bicycle. Thus the actual work of turning the wringer requires but one half the effort that old style wringers required.

JUDGE LANDRY NOT YET READY TO GIVE DECISION

Was So Busy With Other Court Work That He Could Not Spend Necessary Time on the Crockett Case—Will Give Decision at 7.30 Tonight

FREDERICTON, N. B., June 25.—The circuit court opened at 10 o'clock Judge Landry stated that as he had been engaged in court all day yesterday up till after six, he had not yet prepared his judgment in the case of the King vs. Crockett on the application to postpone the trial. There were some authorities he wished to look up, which in justice to himself he thought most necessary. He would, therefore, state that at 7.30 this evening he would deliver his decision.

REVENUE OFFICERS MADE A BIG HAUL

Had a Sharp Fight but Arrested Thirty Five Moonshiners and Destroyed Thirteen Still.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., June 25.—The party of revenue officers who had a fight with alleged moonshiners in Stokes county, yesterday, having captured 35 moonshiners and destroyed 13 illicit stills. The captured men were chained to the mountains in the North End, and taken to Mount Airy, this State, where they were lodged in Dobson County Jail by United States Commissioner F. W. Simmons. The officers state that between three and four hundred shots were exchanged with their prisoners before they were any opportunity of rescue by confederates. Among those taken was James Smith, the alleged ringleader of the illicit distillers in that section, and at one time a government revenue collector. The capture was effected by surrounding the camp of the moonshiners, who surrendered after a fight lasting fifteen or twenty minutes.

CAPITALISTS TRIED TO KILL UNIONISM

Is the Defense in the Haywood Trial.

Assertion Made That Orchard Was Merely a Tool in the Hands of the Mine Owners

BOISE, Idaho, June 25.—Beginning with the appearance of the first witness for the defense on the stand today the story of Harry Orchard's life will be traced by a succession of witnesses called not to sustain but to contradict all the material facts testified by the chief witness against Wm. D. Haywood. Orchard himself will be in court again today, and counsel for the defense will lay the foundation for his impeachment. The presentation of Clarence Darrow, the attorney who is conducting the defense, has cleared the stage for the new interpretation of motive of the pendence for or against the defense claim, the puppet who played the principal part in the many tragedies and stirring events between the year 1899, when the troubles in the Cour D'Alenes reached their height, and the close of 1905, when Governor Steunenberg was assassinated, followed by the arrest and confession of Orchard and the arrest of Haywood, Moyer and Pettibone, early in 1906. Darrow's development of the motive the defense attribute to Orchard and his explanation of the circumstances on which the State of Idaho bases its claim, that he is guilty in common with Pettibone and with Moyer of a conspiracy to murder the leaders in the fight against the methods of the Western Federation of Miners, opens a field for conjecture.

CAPT. DIXON AND HIS MARITAL TROUBLES

He is Deeply Wronged by the Walsh Family He Says.

A Lengthy and Interesting Hearing in the Police Court This Morning—Letters Threatening to Kill

William B. Dixon, who is well known as a captain of teams trading along the Atlantic seaboard, and who in the last few years has been occasionally noticed in police court proceedings, is in jail on a remand from the police court and before he is liberated may have to face the judge and jury of the supreme court for writing threatening letters to his second wife in which he stated he would kill her. For such an offense he would be liable to a term of years in the Dorchester penitentiary. The captain is quite an orator. He has been charged with assault but in the proceedings the threatening letter was put in evidence and the case against him is more serious than ever, for it was said in the court this morning that it can be proven that he not only assaulted his second wife but that he committed bigamy by becoming wedded to Mary Walsh of the North End while he had a lawful wife alive. From his own confession he has committed another crime also. When his second wife learned that he had wife No. 1 alive she refused to live with the captain and then he wrote some very threatening letters. One last summer was written in red ink. He claimed it was written in blood and in it threatened to kill her. At that time he was allowed his liberty by the police magistrate with the understanding that he would leave the city never to return and never to bother wife No. 2. This morning in the police court with No. 2 was put on the witness stand. She said her name was Mary Walsh. On Saturday evening last the prisoner came to her father's home in the North End, and gained admittance before her sister knew who he was. When he got into the house he struck her on the face and dragged her into another room. She screamed and he let go of her when she threatened to call the police. He then ejected him from the house. He came back the second time raving like a madman and took to Mount Airy, this State, where they were lodged in Dobson County Jail by United States Commissioner F. W. Simmons. The officers state that between three and four hundred shots were exchanged with their prisoners before they were any opportunity of rescue by confederates. Among those taken was James Smith, the alleged ringleader of the illicit distillers in that section, and at one time a government revenue collector. The capture was effected by surrounding the camp of the moonshiners, who surrendered after a fight lasting fifteen or twenty minutes.

TROUBLES IN FRANCE.

ARGELIERS, France, June 25.—Marcellin Albert, "Redeemer," arrived here yesterday and was cheered by twelve thousand persons who had gathered to meet him. He met the members of the committee and announced that the Premier proposed that if the Wine Growers would give up their illegal attitude he would release the prisoners, withdraw the troops, and take the most lenient view of everything that had occurred, and would do his utmost to advance the interests of the Wine Growers. The committee resolved, owing to the unsatisfactory nature of the law passed and the vagueness of the promises made by M. Clemenceau, to continue the government peacefully until full satisfaction had been obtained. M. Albert himself voted in favor of this. He then called a meeting of all the citizens for tomorrow night, he will instruct them as to the plans of the future. It was stated last night that the committee stipulated that Albert should surrender himself to a justice. He agreed to do so on Wednesday. MONTPELLIER, France, June 25.—M. Ferroul, the ex-mayor of Narbonne, who is in prison here, declared yesterday that he would take the first opportunity to publicly disavow the action of Marcellin Albert in calling upon Premier Clemenceau at Paris on Sunday.

FIVE JURORS SO FAR IN COLLINS TRIAL

Little Interest Taken in Albert County Murder Case.

The Prisoner is Quite Serious Now, and Closely Follows the Proceedings—Jury Likely Complete Today

HOPWELL CAPE, June 25.—The second trial of Thomas Collins for the murder of Mary Ann Macaulay was begun at the June session of the Circuit Court this morning at 11 o'clock. Chief Justice Tuck presiding. Solicitor General Jones appeared as Crown prosecutor, and H. A. McKeown and J. C. Sherron being present on behalf of the prisoner. The attendance at the trial was not very large this morning. When the prisoner entered the court room he appeared very pale, but had gained considerable flesh. During the picking of the jury the prisoner took careful note of the proceedings. He appeared serious throughout the morning. He was neatly dressed. Hon. H. A. McKeown challenged several of the takersmen and up to one o'clock five members of the jury had been selected. They are: William J. McGorman, farmer, Hopewell; Lemuel J. Beck, farmer, Elgin; Winifred Nelson, farmer, Hopewell; Clifford Stevens, farmer, Elgin; Arthur Tringey, farmer, Hopewell. The trial is being continued this afternoon.

SIX BATTLE SHIPS CALLED DEFECTIVE

The Navy Condemns the Oregon Class and the Iowa, the Kearsarge and the Kearsarge for "Soft Ends."

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 24.—Alleged serious defects in the construction of the Oregon, the Massachusetts, the Indiana, the Iowa, the Kentucky and the Kearsarge, are made the subject of an article in the last issue of The Navy. The author says that the long stretch at bow and stern is a serious mistake. It also comments on the open space in the armor about each gun, "which is so great as to invite the immediate wrecking of every gun by a hostile ship shooting moderately straight, according to the standards of today." The article says in part: "The 'soft end' ship, especially the ship with no armor protection for her steering engine—a ship that is like the six named—is easily rendered unmanageable, practically put out of the fight, by a few shells in this unprotected region. The unfitness of such ships for battle was beautifully demonstrated in the destruction of the fast Russian armored cruiser Rurik by a Japanese cruiser squadron in the recent war. "The Rurik was a 'soft end' ship; the Japanese disabled her steering gear almost at the first fire, and the Japanese could take his heavy cruisers in pursuit of the other ships of the Vladivostok squadron, leaving his smaller cruisers to finish up the Rurik, and they sank her. No battleship in either the German or French navy—even those as old as the Oregon—has soft ends. "During the late war in the Far East the English built 'soft end' ships of the Russian fleet were easy victims; the French built continuous belt ships, notably the Sevastopol, demonstrated the virtue of that element in their design. "Another grave defect common to the six ships named, and a defect that is absolutely inexcusable, is the invitation offered to hostile projectiles by enormous gun ports. Both in the turrets and in the casemates of all these ships the open spaces in the armor about each gun is so great as to invite the immediate wrecking of every gun by a hostile ship shooting moderately straight according to the standards of today. "The mechanism of the broadside guns, the French built continuous belt ships, stand wholly unprotected, while the huge ports in the turrets—ports up the turret, and they sank her. No battleship in either the German or French navy—even those as old as the Oregon—has soft ends. "The matter of the dispute of the boundary line on the Salisbury property was referred to the president of the conference, and the chairman of the district and the superintendent of the circuit to settle the matter.

TROOPS PASS THROUGH EN ROUTE TO SUSSEX

Two Regiments in the City Today on Their Way to the Annual Camp—St. John Men Also go.

As early as seven o'clock this morning trains began to arrive in the city, bringing the troops from the western section of the province to the annual New Brunswick militia camp at Sussex which opens today. The trains stopped in the city for some time and the men were given a chance to stroll about. The streets leading to and from the depot were filled with the soldiers and the red coats along with members of the 10th city a real military appearance. At 9 o'clock the special conveying the 6th Regt. arrived and in a few minutes later the 7th Regt. arrived. The local field ambulance unit commanded by Major Walker and Capt. Jones boarded the train with the 7th Regt. which left for Sussex shortly before 11 o'clock. Fortunately the weather is fine today, as several regiments will have to erect their own tents upon arriving at the camp grounds. Two years ago, the first day of camp was one which will be long remembered by all present. The rain fell in torrents and the soldiers put in a very uncomfortable night, especially those who were unfortunate enough not to have their tents erected in time. It is expected that the camp will be completed by tomorrow night. At that time about 2,500 men will be under canvas. The 8th Hussars will go into camp this afternoon. No St. John men are members of this cavalry unit this year except Major Fred Markham, who is in command.
