Czar Has a Birthday And Looks Well on It

This is the best portrait ever printed of Czar Nicholas of Russia. Like most really "best" portraits, this one is a snapshot photograph taken at a royal picnic by somebody who was a member of the party. The man on right is the Grand Duke of Hesse.

St. Petersburg, May 18.—The customary official observances today marked the forty-third birthday anniversary of the Czar. During the day the foreign diplomats presented messages of congratulation in behalf of their respective rulers and governments. The good wishes of Emperor William II. were presented in person by the German Crown Prince, who journeyed to St. Petersburg especially for that purpose.

OUR LETTER FROM PARIS

American Art Colony in French Capital is Rapidly Growing—Portugal's Elections Set for May 28th.

Paris, May 4.—Some years ago this bault Blason, an eminent French art critic wrote that the American painters who had come to Paris to learn would stay to teach. The prophecy has been fulfilled.
Ten years ago the American art colony was of moderate proportions; now it is not only far outnumbered but of one nationality but has developed into a school of painting, the leaders of which are such men as Frisoele, Richard Miller, H. O. Tanner, Myron Barlow, Lionel Walden and Chauncey Ryder. Every year, drawn by the growing renown of these painters, an increasing number of art students land from America. The young masters mentioned above are besieged with applications for tuition, and the big French academies such as Julian's are becoming alarmed at the diversion of what was once a most profitable stream. The Montparnasse Quarter, the art center of the south bank of the Seine, once the cheapest quarter in Paris, is now becoming one of the most expensive, for it is here that all the American students pick their tents; one street, the Rue Boissnadre, has barely a French resident, and is popularly known as "Little America." Women take a prominent part in the exponents of the new school. Elizabeth Nourse and Beatrice Howe are probably the best women painters in France. They have received the distinction that a foreigner can receive, and their pictures are to be seen in prominent positions at the principal exhibitions in Paris and the provinces. The work of the new school is quite distinctive, resembling neither that of eminent French painters nor that of the home American celebrities. Its principal characteristic is its eminently decorative quality, combined with graceful composition and rich and harmonious color. The pictures are full of the effects of the advanced impressionists, but they are not so bold and harsh as the work of the latter school. Senhor Joao Chagas, who has just been appointed Portuguese minister in France, is enquiring for the future prospects of his country, and sends this message to America: "We are confident that once the Constituent Assembly is in working order the greater powers will follow the example of Brazil and the Argentine republic in giving official recognition to the republic of Portugal. We trust that America will be among the first, for in that country we feel that there is a peculiar sympathy for us in our efforts for a greater and truer Portugal."

Senhor Joao Chagas considers it idle to discuss the possibility of the restoration of the crown. "Any move in that direction," he said, "would be serious but only in the sense that it would be fatal for those who attempted it. Let the world be assured that the great

Interesting Items Gleaned by the Standard Correspondent in the Tantramar Town—Wedding of Miss Dixon.

Sackville, May 17.—One of the prettiest home weddings here this season took place on Wednesday afternoon when Miss Gladys Dixon, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Dixon, became the bride of Manuel Hurlie, of Strathmore, Alberta. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. A. Rogers, D. D., assisted by Rev. Thomas Marshall in the presence of a large company of friends of the young couple. The rooms were prettily decorated, the bride standing under a floral arch. The bride was charmingly gowned in white satin with veil and orange blossoms and carried a bouquet. The bridesmaid, Miss Isabel Gillis, of Flatlands, wore pale blue silk and the flower girl, little Miss Eunice Dixon, white with blue ribbon. Mr. Clarence Dixon, of Sackville, supported the groom. After an elaborate luncheon, Mr. and Mrs. Hurlie left on the C. P. R. for Lethbridge, the former home of the groom. The bride's going away gown was of dark green broadcloth with hat to match. The groom's present to the bride was a handsome pearl brooch. The bride is one of Sackville's most popular young ladies and will be much missed. A large number of friends gathered at the depot and showered the young couple with confetti and good wishes. They will return to Sackville before leaving for their future home in the west.

The choral union of Shediac deary at St. Paul's church on Thursday and it was an occasion of much interest. The choir consisted of 50 voices under the direction of Prof. Woodhouse. Rev. Canon Smithers was the preacher. Dinner and tea were served in the church school room for all the visiting members.

Rev. D. S. Hatt, of Dorchester, gave an enjoyable Diamond recital on Thursday evening in the Sackville church. Middle Sackville under the auspices of the ladies' aid, ice cream and candy were served at the close of the service.

A regular pastor for some weeks. The death occurred at her home in Frosty Hollow this morning of Miss Myrtle Read, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Read in the 19th year of her age. She was a victim of tuberculosis and her illness was a lengthy one. Several brothers and sisters survive to comfort the sorrow stricken parents.

A former prominent resident of this county passed away on Sunday at the advanced age of 81 years, Mr. William Avard. For the past four years he has resided with his daughter, Mrs. Wheatley, wife of H. J. Wheatley, of St. John, N. B.

Mr. Avard conducted a general store at Great Shemogue, and also held several important offices. The last surviving member of the family of the late Joseph Avard, Esq., of Great Shemogue is removed by his death. Mr. Avard formerly Miss Eliza True-man, of Point de Bute, preceded him by four years. Beside Mrs. Wheatley, two sons survive, Messrs. A. T. and J. H. Avard, of Cambridge, Mass. The remains were brought here for interment.

Dwight Brothers, who have the contract for the construction of Sackville's new wharf have arrived with a number of men and are at work. The completion of this wharf will fill a long felt want at this port.

Three young lady graduates were heard at an interesting recital on Tuesday evening in Beethoven Hall. They were Misses Rita Brennan, St. John, vocalist; Hilda Hoggins, of Ottawa, reader, and Vera Murray, Chatham, pianist. Among Miss Brennan's selections were "With Verdure (Clad)" from Hans' Oration, "The Creation," and "The Serenade," by Schubert, in all of which she showed herself a thorough student, as well as one with a future promise.

Kingston charmed the audience by her rendering of "As You Like It," "Love Mary," "The Palace of the King," and "The Serenade," by Schubert.
