Inquest On Death Of Recent Suicide

Jury Last Night Found William Ambrose John Came to Death by Self-Inflicted Wound.

"We the jury empaneled to enquire into the death of William Ambrose John, which occurred on the evening of the eighth day of September 1920, at the Peoples Palace, 36 St. James street, in the city of St. John in the county of St. John, find that his death was caused by a bullet wound through the heart inflicted by himself while in a despondent mood." (Signed) R. J. Todd, foreman; Hugh Millie, John B. Magee, Charles Hanson, I. D. Sparks, W. V. Hatfield, T. S. Hill.

The above was the verdict returned last evening at the inquest held before Coroner Horace A. Porter, in the guardroom of the police court. Little further light was thrown on the tragedy than has already appeared in the papers.

Dr. A. E. Leslie was the first witness called. He told of having received a phone message on the night of the eighth from police headquarters saying that there had been a shooting at the Salvation Army Hostel, St. James street, and asking him to go down. He arrived at the scene and found a man lying on a bed dead with a wound in his heart. A revolver was lying near by with one exploded shell in it. There were also three letters lying on a chair. Death in his opinion was due to rupture of the heart and shock caused by a revolver bullet.

Alfred D. Gerahy.

Alfred D. Gerahy, who rooms at the Peoples Palace, said that he came into his room about 6.30 o'clock on the night of the 8th. About ten minutes later John came in. He made some remarks about going away. Patrick Mahoney was in the room at the time. John went into his own room and shortly afterwards they heard a shot. They rushed into John's room and found him lying on his bed unconscious but breathing faintly. John's room adjoined his, but he had heard nobody else in the room. Everything was quiet. He judged that John lived about five minutes after the shooting.

Interview Spirits.

To the foreman Gerahy said that John had told him that he was a spiritualist. In a conversation the previous night he had told him that he was going to interview the spirits and if he heard any noise during the night not to be alarmed. John was acting in his usual manner on the night of the tragedy. He had never seen him a confident nor told him anything of his home affairs.

John Richards.

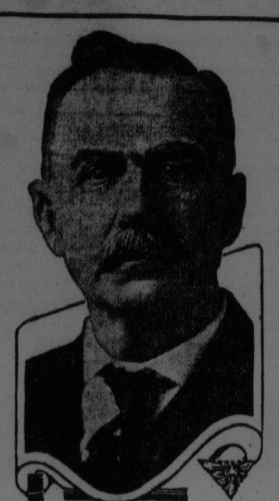

John T. Richards, marine and labor agent said that he had some slight dealings with John. The latter had come to him on Saturday afternoon, the 4th inst., and asked him if he could get him a job on a boat going back to the old country. His family, he said, was in poor circumstances. He was tired of Canada and he would like to get back home. He (Richards) said that he would do the best he could, but did not promise anything definite. In the meantime a captain from a boat leading in Newcastle, N. B., that was bound for Swansea, John's home town, came down to the city looking for a man. He told him about John but the captain demurred about taking him as he was inexperienced. Later he refused to take him. Richards said he saw John again on Monday and advised him to get work in the city and in the meantime somehow might turn up John again. He asked him about chances on Wednesday and he told him that he could do nothing for him.

Patrick G. Mahoney who was the first to see John after the shooting, gave evidence that was mainly corroborative of Gerahy's.

Salvation Army Officer.

Commandant Sheard, officer in charge of the Peoples Palace, told of the tragedy. He rushed upstairs and found John lying on the bed. He put out the fire in his clothes, and he did so John breathed his last. He telephoned the police. John and a companion, Johnson, came to the hostel on the fourth of August. They told him that they were in straitened circumstances and had no money for lodging and board. He arranged for

W. H. JOHNSON, of Portland, Ore., who says no one could have done him any greater kindness than the friend who advised him to try Tanlac—Gains fifteen pounds.

"Not in a long time have I enjoyed such good health or felt so well generally as I do since taking Tanlac," said W. H. Johnson, 319 East 10th St., Portland, Ore., who holds a responsible position with the Northwest Transfer Company.

"About a year ago I began suffering from lack of appetite and stomach trouble and since that time—that is, nearly a year—I have felt so poorly that I could hardly do my work. My food seemed to do me little good, if any, as my digestion was bad, and I lost both weight and strength continually."

"After every meal there was a dull, nagging pain in the pit of my stomach that kept me feeling miserable for hours."

"The gas from my sour undigested food would blow me up terribly and my nerves were so upset that I would be awake half the night unable to sleep. I was constantly having dizzy spells and could not hold my head straight up quickly but what everything seemed as dark as night to me."

"I was telling a friend one day how bad I felt and he advised me to try Tanlac and I just want to say he couldn't have done me a greater kindness."

"I have picked up all of fifteen pounds in weight, my appetite is fine, and although I am eating just anything I want my stomach never gives me a particle of trouble. My sleep is sound and restful and my strength and energy have been so renewed that my work is no longer a burden to me."

Tanlac is sold in St. John by Ross Drug Co. and P. W. Moore and the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative—Advt.

Seamen's Institute Home For Sailors

Man of War men Being Entertained—Great Changes Being Made to Interior.

Walter Brindle, manager of the Seamen's Institute, has made arrangements to have cinema shows for the crew of H. M. S. Constance every evening while the warship is in port. Mr. Brindle would like to have had a concert for the men but this is impossible on account of the renovating work that is going on at present in the institute. The men are being made welcome and the writing room and reading rooms have been thrown open for their benefit as well as sleeping accommodation for those who are on shore leave. Free street car tickets and free writing materials are being provided for the members of the crew and Mr. Brindle is also changing money for any of the men who want it.

Being Renovated.

The Institute is at present in a state of renovation and repair and extensive changes are being made. A gallery is being built in the concert hall which will allow of a total seating capacity when completed of 600. An extra emergency exit has also been added.

All the rooms upstairs have been cleaned and painted while the big billiard room has been made into three separate rooms, and now consists of a reading and rest room, billiard room and a dormitory with accommodation for twelve men. The addition of this dormitory will increase the number of beds that the Institute has at its disposal from seven to twenty. Several other changes will be made so that by the time the winter season opens the Institute will be real comfortable and attractive.

Given Three Years Suspended Sentence

Peter Yapp and Peter Wood Charged With Stealing—Other Police Court Cases.

A suspended sentence of three years each was given Peter Yapp and Peter Wood by Magistrate Ritchie yesterday afternoon. The two were charged with stealing together and stealing a coat, a suit, and a pair of blankets, the property of Mustafa Abraham.

Considerable evidence was given in the case Saturday and the evidence of Detective Bladecombe and Donahue completed the case for the prosecution when the case was taken up yesterday morning.

George Brooks charged with the non-support of his wife was remanded.

Victor McLaughlin pleaded not guilty to being a habitual loafer, and to the charge of vagrancy. Officer Gibbs stated that the mother of the accused had complained of ill treatment at the hands of her son, that he refused to get up in the morning and would not work. The case will come up again Tuesday.

William Williamson, a coachman, was fined $2 for standing in the right place at the depot when a train was arriving.

A dozen drunks were remanded. Two prohibition cases, one against a man named Hoffman, the other against Louis Huerria, were resumed after a month's adjournment and were again postponed.

GUESSING CONTEST AT THE EXHIBITION

Close Contest in Guessing at Protestant Orphans' Booth

The guessing contest in connection with the Protestant Orphans' Home booth at the exhibition is now in its third year. It was given by four persons viz: Leslie Rolston, Germain street, West St. John; Mrs. S. C. Matthews, Oak street, city; Mrs. H. Roberts, First street, and George Bridgen of Forest street. The three adults will settle the winner of the two annual theatre passes to the Imperial and the Opera House theatres among themselves; but Master Rolston is the winner of the first prize in the child's contest and receives a mechanical electric toy railroad, with trucks, etc. The second prize, the child's mechanical boat, was won by Stanley Rankin of North Sydney, a visitor to the city and the exhibition.

Master Rolston was the victim of a recent shooting accident and is now in the hospital being treated and his winning at the booth may help to cheer him during his time of confinement in the hospital.

There were thousands of guesses as to how many of the new small Canadian pennies were in the jar. It was baffling as the casks were mixed with beans. It was a novel exhibit as every person won a prize and the total amount went toward a good cause.

PROFITEERING RESPONSIBLE FOR HIGH COSTS

Inverness Mine Workers Make That Assertion in Trades Congress Resolution.

PROFITEERING RESPONDS

Windsor, Ont., Sept. 13.—President F. J. Gancey, of the Windsor Trades and Labor Council, welcomed the delegates to the Annual Trades and Labor Congress, which opened here today at the armories in the name of organized labor of the city. Mayor J. B. Windsor, Hon. Walter Halls, minister of labor and health, in the Provincial Government; Walter McGregor, representing the Border Cities Chamber of Commerce, and W. C. Kennedy, M.P., also gave addresses of welcome and Tom Moore, president, formally declared the convention open.

A feature of the morning session was the address of Hon. Mr. Halls, who declared that the present Ontario Government had adopted many of the planks of the labor platform and had made a record in passing progressive legislation on the statute books of the province. He also warned the delegates that the greatest danger to organized labor lay in disension with its ranks. He declared that the Farmer Labor Government had placed more progressive legislation on the statute books last session than had ever been done in the same length of time in the history of the province.

He asked that the government be given a chance. He declared that though the government was not a Labor Government, it was sympathetic to labor and anything it had done in the past or would do in the future would be for the greatest good to the greatest number.

President Tom Moore, acknowledged the welcome on behalf of the delegates, and declared the convention open.

The high cost of living is brought to the attention of the Congress by Inverness Local Number 4512, United Mine Workers, with a resolution in which the opinion is expressed that high prices at present are due in no small measure to "unjust and iniquitous profiteering."

CONDEMNNS LAXITY OF WEDDING PERMITS

Port Arthur, Ont., Sept. 13.—"With reference to licenses, you have as much chance of civil marriages as a married man," declared Chairman W. G. Gregory, of the Ontario Public Administration, during a discussion introduced by Magistrate Patterson, of Port William, at the hearing here on Saturday. The magistrate, during examination, introduced the subject of marriage by magistrates of Ontario and followed with a statement that "the peddling of marriage licenses in the city of Port William was a joke."

"You can buy a marriage license in any place from a grocery store to a junk shop," said the magistrate, who also declared many couples in the city procured a license, hung it up at the head of the bed and considered that sufficient ceremony.
