BOY DIES, NURSED BY "SCIENTISTS"

With Diphtheria Stamford Child Played a Week With Others--Several Catch Disease and Neighbors Are Angry.

Stamford, Ct., Nov. 8--The people of lower South street, a fashionable residential section, are indignant tonight over the death of Caleb L. Litchfield, jr., 12 years old, son of Caleb L. Litchfield, who is head of the advertising department of the Compositum Magazine and is a half brother of Helen Litchfield of last week.

The boy was treated by his mother and Mrs. Gemmell until Saturday, when Dr. E. E. Rowell was called in. He found the child had a malignant case of diphtheria, notified the health department and the house was quarantined. The health department was beginning an investigation of the case, in response to anonymous complaints and allegations that it was being treated by Christian Science methods.

The boy was quarantined in the Litchfield home tonight are Mr. and Mrs. Litchfield and their three remaining children and Mrs. Gemmell and her two children, Beatrice, the eldest daughter of the Litchfields, seriously ill of diphtheria, and the two other children are more or less interested.

"It's a wicked shame that boy should suffer and die for lack of timely medical treatment," said Mrs. George Keeler, a neighbor of the Litchfields.

Dr. Rowell reported that when he was called in the disease had reached a hopeless stage.

City Health Officer Borden said tonight the case was under investigation. He has not reported it to the prosecuting attorney's office.

"It is true," said James Litchfield, grandfather of the deceased boy, "that my son and his wife practice Christian Science, and I believe Mrs. Gemmell assisted my son's wife to care for Caleb in accordance with the dictates of their religion. But they called in a medical doctor just as soon as they learned that the boy's case was serious."

New York, Nov. 8--The Republican ticket has been elected by a vote in the electoral college that will exceed that of 292 given Mr. McKinley in 1900.

The latest estimate is that Roosevelt will have 325 electoral votes to 151 for Parker. The result of today's balloting was astounding even to the most sanguine of the Republican managers. Confident as they were of success they were not prepared for the astonishing figures which followed the closing of the polls, bringing into the Republican column not only all parts of those states but had claimed as safe for their candidates, but with the possible exception of Maryland, every state classed as doubtful.

Democratic successes are confined to the solid south, in which Kentucky is included, and Mr. Parker has not carried a single state which did not give its vote to Mr. Bryan four years ago. Unofficial returns indicate that he has lost some of those which the Nebraska candidate held for his party.

As a dramatic climax to the sensational majorities given him, came President Roosevelt's formal announcement that he would not be a candidate for re-election, lending the only exciting aspect to an election night otherwise so one-sided that it was impossible for even the victors to attain that degree of enthusiasm that usually marks the occasion. Late in the night came an announcement from E. G. Palliser, manager of campaign for Thomas E. Watson, the candidate of the People's party, that as a result of the overwhelming Democratic defeat steps would be taken to form a new party. To this end, according to the announcement given out, Mr. Bryan, Mr. Watson and Wm. R. Hearst would hold a conference in New York in about a week's time.

Beginning with the state of New York which gives a republican plurality of approximately 185,000, the tale runs practically throughout the country, Kentucky alone showing Democratic gains. Indiana is credited with at least 40,000 plurality; Iowa, 125,000, and Pennsylvania heads the list as the banner Republican state, with the magnificent plurality of 235,000. Even the Republican governor in Massachusetts, Douglas, defeated steps would be taken to form a new party. To this end, according to the announcement given out, Mr. Bryan, Mr. Watson and Wm. R. Hearst would hold a conference in New York in about a week's time.

statement from W. L. Douglas was given out tonight:--

"To say that I am profoundly gratified at the result of the balloting does not fully express my feelings. To be honored with the election as governor of Massachusetts on the Democratic ticket in the presidential year is surely an earnest of all parties. I am also much pleased with the vote in my own city.

As governor, I shall endeavor to serve the interests of the whole people and shall devote my energies to securing relief for our over-burdened industries from the lawmakers at Washington. I shall also do what I can to bring about a refection in the level of living for our people."

The Figures in Massachusetts

Boston, Nov. 8--Complete returns from the city of Boston give Parker 49,433; Roosevelt, 38,559.

In 1900 the vote for president was Parker 45,127; McKinley, 36,244.

The total vote for governor in Boston was Bates 28,775; Douglas, 62,619.

The vote for governor last year in Boston was Bates 28,465; Gaston, 47,282.

Parker carries the city by 10,743 plurality. Douglas carries Boston by 34,943 plurality.

Douglas Defeats Bates

Boston, Nov. 8--Sufficient returns have been received up to 9:45 o'clock tonight to indicate the election of Wm. L. Douglas (Dem.) for governor by 29,000 to 25,000 plurality.

The figures indicate a plurality in Boston for Douglas (Rep.) of 31,775.

Returns from points outside of Boston in the state give Bates (Rep.) a plurality of about 20,000. Douglas for president is credited with the endorsement of Judge Parker for mayor of Boston or governor of the state.

Candidate Douglas carried the city by 25,100 more votes than was given by Parker for president in the city. The large gain of Mr. Douglas this year over the vote cast for Gaston in 1903, taking in connection with its remarkable running ahead of the endorsement of Judge Parker for mayor of Boston or governor of the state.

Returning to the presidential and gubernatorial contests, the greatest interest was centered in the contest in the 11th congressional district between John A. Sullivan (Dem.), the present incumbent, and Eugene N. Foss (Rep.), a leading exponent of reciprocity with Canada. Sullivan won out by a small majority. In the 10th and 10th districts, the Democratic candidates, Congressman John A. Kellher and Wm. S. McNary, were re-elected by large majorities.

HEAVY SENTENCE FOR NOVA SCOTIA FIREBUG

Halifax, Nov. 8--Andrew Griswold on two charges of arson, was today sentenced by Judge Wallace, in the county court to seven and five years in Deception.

(Special Correspondence of N. Y. Evening Post.) Headquarters General Staff, Japanese Army, Liao Yang, Sept. 21--Everything has gone forward for the soldier in the next battle--even the brass band--except winter clothes. Cannon and munitions, extra horses, rice, machine guns, shovels, and pickaxes, and the telephone has been strung to the extreme trenches where the opposing outposts are in touch, daily shooting each other. Poles are now strung of barbed wire (galvanized) from one bank of a hill to another, and in places are being strung to the tops of hills. In the recent battle general headquarters was connected with corps headquarters, corps headquarters with each division, and each division with many of the temporary positions of its troops. Patrols carry detachable transmitters and can talk a wire across the main wires and "call up" their commander. A "superior" ten miles away, incident on account of a necessity to speak with a superior, need not happen in modern warfare.

Prince Kaigin went off this morning, following his brigade of cavalry--the only brigade of cavalry we have seen. Our army is always hidden. Dr. Westwater, the Scotch medical officer, who was here during the Japanese occupation, showed us photographs taken by the correspondents on the Russian side, and they made it conspicuously clear that our fellows in industry on that side have been much more severely treated than we have been in the matter of opportunity to see.

They were left with him pictures of officers observing the Japanese from the Hills-Like-Outspread-Fingers; batteries in action; panoramas of cantonments in valleys, etc. They were pictures that looked like war. On our side we do not even see headquarters at their cantonments "central" in line of battle. We may not see batteries in action unless they break regulations and run away; we only discern in the distance flashes from the twelve-foot big mules. We are safely under 200 yards or more outside where shells fall; which is comforting to our families, but hardly worth conferring a summer at home for.

Experts' Conclusions in Clash With Facts

For casual diversion on these hillside we fall back upon the six solid volumes of the expert on war, Mr. Bloch, the banker of Warsaw, who has been spending his years of retirement finding reasons why war would never be practicable. He arrived at the conclusion that "the day of the bayonet is over." "In future," he said, "war will be demonstrated at ranges which will render the use of the bayonet impossible, as soldiers cannot get within 300 or 1,000 yards of each other. At every forty yards the Japanese succeed by rushing trenches in the night and meeting Russian four-colored bayonet with Japanese sword-bayonet at the edge of the ditch. Not one important position has been taken by the Japanese in these 200 miles that was not taken by a rush and a bayonet charge, and at several points had individual encounters and even three strokes.

Another of Mr. Bloch's conclusions is that smokeless powder having been invented, the old secret of smoke is lifted, and "every soldier will see the havoc" among his comrades, yet not be able to see when the shots have been fired. "Can you imagine anything so trying to the nerves?" He went on to consider the possibility of an army composed of men not delicate or sensitive in nerves, and not suffering much from wounds, and their relatives ought not to fear the extension of life. I have told you of Japanese bayonet charges over the hills, and over the tops of hills of comrades without showing that they thought of them or their fate at all. Mr. Bloch also says that there would be "but 1,000 yards wide swept by the fire from both sides in which to hunt for the enemy. Melinite bombs would make dust of farmhouses and all other cover for the advancing troops. Still, this very day, we have received details of the work of the Army of Gen. Noto on our right in the Liao Yang battle, and it says:--

"Sept. 2--Both wings attacked at 4 a. m., and though enemy resisted very obstinately, we heard reports that in other places they had retreated to our right. The infantry approached enemy to within 300 yards. Part of the wing pressed on close to 50 yards. Halls of enemy's bullets and machine guns
