The new short cape or collarette is worn with waists, coats or jackets and is a decidedly chic accessory. (For Description see this Page.)

This elegant toilette comprises black velvet Russian shirt-waist with a linen collar and a high gored skirt of striped silk. The shirt-waist is one of the newest styles. The back has a button at the center and a pointed yoke at the right front wide and the left front quite narrow, to bring the closing at the left side in true Russian style. Pretty fullness in the right front panel over a leather band and a knife-plaiting of silk is arranged down the closing which is made with button holes and large fancy buttons. The skirt is made of satin band worn with the linen standing collar. The style of the shirt-sleeves are finished with straight link cuffs.

The skirt is made with its nine gores all straight at the center and bias the side edges, that stripes, plaids and pattern-goods of any width can be perfectly matched at the seams. It presents the fashionable back and a moderate flare.

Those who like for novelty will be pleased with the shirt-waist making up corse, black satin cloth or flannel. The hat of black felt braid shows striking decoration of curling black plumes, white chiffon plaiting, pink roses and a row of black chiffon.
