Orillia-born Gordon Lightfoot, whose compositions are respected and sung by dozens of noted artists will appear at the Fredericton Playhouse, Tuesday, November 22 sponsored by the UNB Engineering Society.

When Lightfoot takes up his position on a stage, clad in faded blue jeans, cowboy boots and granny glasses, he looks like any other folk singer. When he sings, his broad musical background and talents set him apart.

With a season as star of an English-made country and western TV show, two years experience with Country Hoe-down, a recent tour of England with Ian and Sylvia, a brand new album, numerous CBC specials and hundreds of appearances at night clubs and coffee houses under his broad western belt buckle, the accomplished, talented Lightfoot comes through.

After a half dozen years of just singing to make a living, his voice and material have bridged the gap between the amateur and the sheerly professional.

Lightfoot's material deals with the way life is for most of us, in one way or another. His themes range from love, Vietnam, the new Toronto-Dominion Bank building to hope and peace in the future.

When he sings, regardless of the material, there is an authority that the ear is quick to respond to.

Lightfoot will appear at two shows, at the Playhouse on Tuesday, November 22 at 7 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. Tickets are available at the Playhouse for $1.50.
