QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Miscellaneous.

DOING STATUTE LABOR.

Can you let me know the meaning of section 7 of the Act relating to the duties of pathmasters? Sec. 7 states that a day's statute labor is to consist of eight hours of faithful work, exclusive of the time of coming and going to and from the place of work. Should time be counted from the time a person leaves home, or from the time a person gets to the place where the gravel is to be put (on our division we had to pass over the place where the gravel was to be put to the gravel pit, about a mile further), or should time be counted from the time they reach the pit. The men had been told that work would be started at half-past seven and quit at half-past eleven. Ontario.

Ans.—It must be a section of the township by-law that you refer to, as sec. 7 of the statute on the subject (Ontario Statutes, 1904, Chap. 25) does not make any such provision. We would have to see the by-law in order to answer your question definitely; but, going upon your statement alone, we would say that the time would begin from arrival at the place where the gravel was to be put.

ENTICING SERVANT AWAY.

A hires B for $20 per month, to Dec. 1st, about 5 1/2 months. B tells C on a Sunday that he is hired for a month, and names the wage. C says he will give him a little more to leave A and go to him. A finds it out from B, and writes C that B is hired with A to Dec. 1st, and can't go. C goes to A and tries to get him to let B go; says B can do A harm, even to burning his buildings; says A had better not go to law, as he would have the costs to pay, even though he won his case. A refuses to let B go. C goes to B, out at the field, and ratifies his Sunday agreement. This is on Saturday. Next Thursday C meets B and tells him unless he comes at once, he (C) will hire another man, and B will be out of the job. B leaves A Friday noon, without completing his first month, and goes to C.

1. Can A collect damages off C?
2. If so, how? SUBSCRIBER, Ontario.

PORTABLE FENCING, ETC.

1. Can you suggest a portable fence that might be moved from one field to another without needless labor? We have been using stakes driven into the ground and rails wired to them, but found it unsatisfactory. I would prefer one in which rails could be used, if such are suitable for the purpose, but an idea of any kind would be received gratefully.

2. Has there been any change made in the number of crosses required to register a Clydesdale, and what are the required number now for a filly and gelding?
3. Is a horse by the name of "England's Glory," which was around about thirty years ago, registered, and if so, what was his number?

4. Whether are pigs bred from a Tamworth or Berkshire sow, crossed with a York hog, the most profitable to a farmer?

5. Have you any way of getting rid of sparrows around the barn? The shotgun seems to take an endless amount of using on them, and does not seem to lessen their numbers much. J. H. B.

Ans. 1. We can suggest no better device by which rails can be utilized than that you have used. Woven wire, or galvanized wire, looked upon as being as well suited for this purpose as any other. It is now, stamped with the name of the manufacturer, and stamped with the number of the wire, and stamped with the number of the gauge. It is also stamped with the name of the manufacturer, and stamped with the number of the wire, and stamped with the number of the gauge.

ported by John Kemp, Weston, travelled in Peel County.

4. The York-Berkshire cross is preferred.
5. We know no better plan than shooting and destroying the nests.

REGISTERING CLYDESDALES.

I have a Clydesdale mare that has three straight crosses in her breeding from imported stock on the sire's side. If I breed her to an imported horse, can I get her offspring registered, and what proceeding would be necessary in order to having them registered? W. A. M.

Ans.—Her female offspring having four crosses by registered Clydesdale sires would be eligible for registration. Stallions to be eligible must have five crosses. Write the Registrar, F. M. Wade, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, for blank forms of application for registering Clydesdales. The rules are printed on these forms.

QUESTIONS RE BROODER ILLUSTRATED.

1. May the heater for that brooder plan, which you had in your paper March 29th, be made of tin instead of iron?
2. Does the lower smoke pipe go into the heating chamber?
3. Does the lamp chimney go inside the lower smoke pipe?
4. Can the heat reflector be made out of a round piece of tin without making it into a cone? A READER.

Ans.—1. Yes.
2. Yes.
3. Yes.
4. It can, though more heat will be wasted.

GOSSIP.

Mr. Frank Harding, Secretary of the American Cotswold Association, writes: "The demand for Cotswold rams to go to the ranges and to farms where comparatively few sheep are kept, is as strong as for any previous year in my memory. There seems to be no question in the mind of sheep owners as to the place the Cotswold ram occupies. There is no breed of sheep or grade flock but what a good Cotswold ram crossed on them will improve the value of the fleece and the price of the carcass. Sales of Cotswold rams from the east to the west exceed those of any other breed. In point of number of sheep recorded the Cotswold stands second only. We don't see so many Cotswolds advertised for sale as some of the other breeds, but this should not be taken as an indication of their standing. The supply of registered breeding stock this year is not as large as the demand, still I do not look for increased prices over a year ago. A greater number of Cotswold sheep are being imported this year from England than for ten years past, and a good exhibit of Cotswolds may be looked for at the principal fall fairs."

SHORTHORNS AND YORKSHIRES FOR CANADA.

Mr. A. T. Gordon, Combscausway, Insh, has sold an important draft of highly-bred Shorthorns to Mr. H. J. Davis, Woodstock, Ontario. There are eight of them altogether, and they include a couple of nice heifers—a Rosewood and a Dairymaid, the former bred by Mr. Duthie, Collyvale, and both in call to Mr. Gordon's notable prizewinning sire, Escanator, a two-year-old Jealousy heifer, a yearling ram bull, which was a prize-taker at the Turiff Spring Show and Sale, and a very promising bull calf, out of a Chippie cow, by the famous Cornerstone.

From Mr. W. B. Wallace, Broomhouse, Edinburgh, Mr. Davis has bought three very fine Yorkshires sows, four years of age. One of the sows was bred by Mr. Wallace at the Ayr and Edinburgh Shows. The other two were bred by Mr. Wallace's first-prize pen of sows, and were the second prize pen of sows at the Edinburgh Show. Mr. Davis is a member of the Ayr and Edinburgh Shows, and a member of the Edinburgh Show. He is also a member of the Edinburgh Show, and a member of the Edinburgh Show.
