—Hamilton, many years ago, was dubbed the "Ambitious City," and retains the name at the present day. If the ambition of its people was for establishing a clean, healthy, orderly, well paved, lighted, and drained city, the title has been fully established.

—Quite a feature of Carnival week will be the presence in Hamilton of delegates to the meeting of the North American St. George's Union to the number of several hundred. These will come, bringing their wives or sweethearts from all parts of the United States as well as Canada.

—It is quite true, we believe, that no city or town in Canada can well compete with Hamilton in the line of trades processions because of the great variety of its manufacturing industries. Every manufacturer in this busy industrial city, with its thousands of workmen, is determined to make this a spectacle worthy of the efforts put forth in time and money for Hamilton's Great Summer Carnival. Every branch of commercial and manufacturing industry will be represented in the procession. Articles will be manufactured along the route; competition will be keen as to most effective displays; bands of music joining in at intervals throughout the line of march, the hundreds of fine horses and their gay trappings and floral decorations will enchant the eye of the beholder.

—There are more than a hundred manufacturing concerns in Hamilton, and all these will, where possible, be in full operation on every day (excepting that of the Trades Procession). The proprietors and managers are asked to grant every facility to visitors to inspect these industries while at work which will afford a splendid opportunity to many who do not live in manufacturing towns to see, in full blast, processes of manufacture of which up to that time they had only a distant notion.

—According to advices received by the railway authorities in Hamilton as well as by the Carnival Committee, there is bound to be a crowd on the occasion of the great event. The question of accommodating visitors is entrusted to an active committee, which has already secured between one and two thousand beds in the city, and will aim to provide several thousand more. The citizens are offering with great liberality to look after visitors, and no stone will be left unturned to make the trip a pleasant one.

—Labor day was celebrated in Halifax on Tuesday by a grand demonstration of the workmen from the various factories and establishments in and around the city, embracing printers, shipwrights, caulkers, carpenters, joiners, planers, brass workers, founders, plumbers, tin workers, boiler makers, carriage builders, cabinet makers, upholsters, ropemakers, skatemakers, shoemakers, bakers, masons, bricklayers, stonecutters, painters, decorators, plasterers, laborers, railway men, gas and electric light employees. It was the largest parade of the kind ever seen in Halifax. May not the Halifax managers of the Summer Carnival at that beautiful spot wisely take what hints they can from the citizens of Hamilton, which projects this scheme, first of Ontario cities, or of Montreal, which has had many winter pageants, or of any other cities which have experience in this kind of thing? Halifax cannot afford to be outdone; she must make her Carnival a pronounced success if she wishes to pave the way for another.
