In addition to this business Hon.

Mr. Hearst intends to consult with the Imperial authorities and with Canadian officials at the front and in England in regard to the best ways of making use of the two million dollars that will be available this year from the proceeds of the Provincial war tax.

The Government, since the commencement of the war, has taken a deep interest in and tried in every way possible to assist wounded Canadian soldiers in England, and representatives of the London office have done what they could to minister to the comforts and happiness of our wounded heroes. The Prime Minister desires personally to investigate the character of the work being carried on and to make any additional arrangements that may be necessary for the continuance of this work in the most complete and effective manner popssible.
