Because of a Fair Face

Finding himself already late for an important business engagement that the day's work had crowded over into the evening hours, Jack Devon decided to take a short cut down to his office and turned his car into a narrow, ill-lighted side street so precipitately that the joit sent his cap and goggies spinning into a dark recess therein.

dark recess therein.

Immediately bringing the machine to a lumediately bringing the machine to a stop-he sprang out to recover his property. While groping nearsightedly about he was startled by the quick closing of a door nearby and a swish of skirts across the sidewarlk. He looked up just in time to see two feminine figures seated in the tonneau of his car and to be greeted with an anxious: the formeau of mis cur and to swith an anxious:

'Oh-h, Jack-do hurry,' I was so afraid you'd failed us! As it is we shall barely be able to make the train! Please hurber,

Jack Devon strode to the side of the car with a nangry, "Well, of all the nerve-" but stopped short at sight of the apeaker; and who now, seeing her mistake, half rose, furbling violently with the tonneau door, as she hysterically exchaimed:

the tonneau door, as she hysterically exclaimed:

"Oh, I thought you were Jack! He was to take us to the train. And—and—and—manama is so ill,I want to get her home at once. You'll pardon the mistake?"

She threw her veil back, disclosing a face of marvellous beauty. The young man, noting the golden hair and the violet eyes uffused with tears, rose gallantly to the occasion by profuse apologies for his first discourteous words and for not being the original Jack," supplemented by a most pressing offer of him self and car for the transportation of "mamme" to the station in time for the foclock express west.

mented by a most pressing offer of himself and car for the transportation of "masma" to the station in time for the 16 o'clock express west.

To his delight, both apology and offer were accepted without demur by his unknown passengers. Through her enveloping well, the invalid marmured almost insuffice thanks, and a name which was quite so. But the daughter bestowed a dazzling smile on the man who had so opportunely appeared on the scene, and this aione was reward enough for the suddenly susceptible Jack Devon. It made him quite forget the goggles hiding in some dim corner. He returned the smile, cranked up the machine smd springing to his seat soon had the car purring a rapid way toward the railroad station. As he slowed down before the entrance, the big clock hands pointed to 5.52.

Then it was a mad rush to the waiting trah—giving him only time for the pressure of a soft hand and a fervently expressed wish that they might meet again—before the train began to move.

It was now too late for his engagement, so he took the car to the garage and went home. But all the way he berraied his stupidity in not having found out the destination of his new friends—and after arriving at his bachelor quarters, he squandered several valuable hours in dreaming of the golden-haired violet-cycd girl, who by her beauty, had made him forget that he'd know more about that blue-eyed girl if il took a year!

But it iddn't! When over a late breakfash be opened his paper the next morning, he first thing that next his eye was an account, in glaring headlines of the escape of "Slimpery Jake" and his wife, the two most successful widellers in the whole country. And it was also recondition as it is a side street less than a block away from a half-dozen watching dejectives!—

WINDOWS

Every child goes to the window to look out. They see through the glass; but there were windows before glass was made. What is the meaning of the word? It means wind-row, the aperture through which the wind rows as in a boat, or, as the old English results. boat, or, as the old English reading gives it, a wind-door a door to shut out the wind and cold, Glass was not faveuted then. "A window shalt thou out the wind and coid, Glass was not faveuted then. "A window shalt thou make in the Ark, a space to let in the air." Doves go in and out of windows, yet there is no glass; the windows of between are grand openings to let down blessings in great abundance.

There is no mistaking why suffrageites want the vote. Miss Barbara Wylle did not put the cart before the horse when she said, on landing at Montreal, "Women claimed the franchise because they had a right to it." She added, as a mere afterthougt, "We also want to exert an influence on legislation in regard to subjects such as public health and social questions, which, we think, more important then commerce, and the things that men think most important." Incidentally the battle is for the redressing of social wrongs, but first, last and in the middle, for women's "rights." (Victoria Times.)

--A GERMAN ALLEGORY.

On a recent trip to Germany, Dr. Harvey Wiley, the government's purefood expert heard an allegory reference to the subject of food adul-teration which, he contends, should cause Americans to congratulate themselves that things are so well ordered in this respect in the United States. The Germany allegory was substan-

CROWS KILLED BY STORM.

After the terrible windstorm of last Saturday night Moreer county should be tid of crows for some time to come. Stituday light Mover caunty should be uid of crows for some time to come. About 5,000 of them were hilled on the farm of Win. Logue, ficar Deep Creek, in the west end of this county, according to reports of people from that section. The high wind did much damage in that vicinity, and securs to have struck the farm of Mr. Logue with more force than any other spot. All the shocks of fodder in a large field were torn down and scattered over the place, and roosting in the field and the nearby trees was an unusually large flock of crows. The wind picked the birds up like thistledown and tossed them against the fences and trees, tore them out of their roots in the branches, twisting their wings and scattering offer of dead and crippled crows in the trail of deatruction large helifield. A BOOST FOR TELEPHONE GIRLS. (Detroit Free Press.)

According to the report, German 12-inch guns have a probable life of 220 rounds, and their 14 and 15 inch guns 200 rounds, and their 14 and 15 inch guns 200 rounds, are probable life of the American 14-inch gun is 150 rounds, a showing vastly superior to that of the British guns, which are good for about 60 rounds, but greatly below the record of the Krupp output. Even more important is the statement that the new 14-inch Krupp guns obtain an initial velocity of 3.00 foot seconds and a muzzle energy of 27,650 metric tons whereas the American guns have an initial velocity of only 2,500 foot seconds and 20,320 metric tons muzzle energy. These are matters that would probably count largely in war.

(Howard County (Mo.,) News.)

If a man is really looking for a wife instead of a society butterfly, an heiress or a chorus girl, we heartill recommend for his consideration a telephone girl. For even temper, patience, promptness and meekness, telephone girls have the world beaten. They are girls with practical ideas and common sense; they are girls who will help you save your money and make you an all-round housewife. We have never seen one that wasn't neat and clean, and they would very probably be the most orderly housekeepers you could get. And one of their greatest virtues is their ability to control their tongues. They are accustomed to being quarreled at and bameaned, yet thoy are not moved to an outburst thereby. We know they are sometimes imposed upon and are seldom rated at their true worth. If you are in need of a good wife, get a telephone girl. (Howard County (Mo.,) News.)

ENGLAND SITS SUPINELY BY.

(New York Herald.)

England occupies her usual place in the picture, as she did during the hostilities between Turkey and Italy, unwilling through timidity, and by selfishness, and selfishness, aided by both, to rise to the occasion, to rise to the interests in Egypt and India. She has not great statesmen as in the days of Palmerston and Disraell, and her leaders are trightened by the fetich of the Mohammedan subjects of the Empire.

It is a hugaboo fowered by duli tradition. India is not all Mohammedan, and the Mohammedans date not rise.

An Emalsh fiset at the Derdanelles, a first showing of the number fist, an insistence on the reforms for which the Balkan States and Greece are fairly ablaze would bring to the side of England in the Mediterranean list, with her navy on brough timidity, and by selfishness, and Ran States and Greece are fairly ablaze would bring to the side of England in the Mediterraneau Haly, with her navy on hand, to support a just cause.

Thus England would be able to make her demonstration at Constantinghe without any necessity for weakening her Channel feet, held as a guard against Germany, and with England's adherence the Truice Alliance would be multi-field.

But instead of peacemaker. England drifts, missing her great opportunity.

Farting or formersable, overver, is the number of Scottish names in the Prinsian, and more especially in the Durch army. The exploit of Campbell of Campains, of the Bismarch Culressiers, was captured a French sagle in the reawiry diarge at Marsha-Libur, in the Franco-Prinsian war, is well known to military fame. It is not so generally known that perhaps the majority of the officers of the Durch army are of Scottol discens and paranymica. Fergussims and Macdonalds, Partisons and Gunhams bristle in the army list. It is even more remarkable that these Seach patronymics are practically confined to the army. FREE TESTING OF FARM SEEDS.

During the season 1912-13, the Seed Branch of the Federal Department of Agriculture will test free of charge samples of seeds of grasses, clovers and cereal crops. This has been the policy of this Branch since the passing of the Seed Control Act.

As a guide to growers, dealers and others who desire to have samples test-ed for purity, grading and germination, a leaflet of instructions has been prepar-ed. Under twenty-three numbered paraed. Under twenty-three numbered paragraphs there are described, among other things, how to prepare, pack and address samples of seeds of various kinds. Useful notes are given on qualities affecting the value of seed. It is pointed that injury to what from front or out that injury to wheat from frost or dampness is usually apparent in the color and shrunken condition of the grain. While a hulled kernel of sound oats is usually semi-transparent and not brittle, a frosted kernel is dark and was a properly at the tip and ist mealy, particularly at the tip, and uscally brittle.
