A NARROW ESCAPE

The latter part of last week, Willie McNairnie, aged about five years, the little son of James McNairnie, attempted to cross the river near Capt. Steinhoff's. He broke through and managed to crawl out on the ice unnoticed by anyone. Drenched through by the icy water he went home around by the bridges, a long walk around. On reaching home he found no one there, and taking off his wet clothing, crawled into bed.
The plucky little fellow was no worse for his bath, and the wet clothing was evidence of his adventure.—Wallaceburg News.

The design work turned out by the Victoria Ave. Green Houses always pleases, as particular attention is paid to that part of the business.

Miss Trotter, Chatham, is spending a few days with Mrs. Roy E. Marcotte.—Leamington Post.

For Us . . .

We can do your work just as well now as we can next spring.
Probably a trifle better. Not so busy now and therefore able to give better attention to all the little details.

If you have any work for us let us hear from you. We will be glad to give it our prompt attention.
