Jack Sullivan Make an Attack on Webber, the Informer!

New York, August 11.—During exercise hour in the West Side prison today, Jacob Reich, alias "Jack Sullivan," one of the four Rosenthal murder suspects confined there, made a vicious attack on "Bridgie" Webber. Reich was pulled off by other prisoners and keepers before he had done Webber any particular harm, and a watch will be put on the pugnacious "King of Newsboys."

Reich also paid his respects to Baldheaded "Jack" Rose in the choicest language of East Fourteenth Street. The epithets shouted by Reich at Rose amazed even the prisoners held for examination in the Magistrate's Court. Reich had read the morning papers. What aroused him was the report that Webber, in his testimony before the Grand Jury yesterday, had gone into details concerning the payment of 1,000 in cash to "Lefty Louie," "Gyp the Blood," "Whitey" Lewis, and "Dago Frank" Cirofici, the four gun-men who killed Herman Rosenthal.

According to the published account of Webber's testimony the informer said Reich had been sent twice in the capacity of messenger to Lieut. Becker, with a demand on that police officer to make good to Webber $1,000 which had been turned over to the murderers.

When Reich got the full significance of this he began to boil up, but his anger did not explode until he, Webber, Rose and Harry Vallon were turned out at 7 o'clock for exercise in the corridor outside their adjoining cells.

No sooner had the quartette of prisoners been turned loose than Reich who had a reputation as a fast fighter, made a rush for "Bridgie" Webber. The gambler retreated, but Reich got to him and landed a couple of smashing blows. Then keepers and prisoners crowded in and pulled Reich away from Webber, who retreated to his cell.

Then Reich cut loose vocally. He denounced the confessions of Rose and Webber as lies, and gave his opinion of Rose in a tone of voice that penetrated to every part of the prison. His denunciation took the form of accusing Rose and Webber of framing up lies to satisfy the District Attorney.

astounding Evidence Before Grand Jury.

New York, August 14.—In the relentless search for evidence to convict the murderers of the gambler Herman Rosenthal, the State's attorney and the Grand Jury have unearthed a wealth of information showing the gamblers and keepers of disorderly houses paid sums aggregating hundreds of thousands of dollars yearly for police protection.

Evidence now before the Grand Jury shows that every form of gambling and vice paid a prescribed toll, and that these tariffs varied according to the location in the city.

The monthly tariffs paid to the police vary. A first class uptown gambling house paid $1,000; a middle-class gambling house paid $500; an East Side gambling house paid anywhere from $100 to $400; high-class pool rooms $600; poker dice games paid $300; uptown disorderly houses paid $600; while the East Side resorts paid $100.

With the co-operation of all the banks in the city, District Attorney Whitman has been able to secure the names of four police inspectors whose bank accounts run into several hundred thousands.

One inspector is said to have accumulated a million dollars. The indictments of these officials are not before the Grand Jury.

ing pressed at this time, as the State's Attorney is devoting his chief attention to entrapping the murderers of Rosenthal.

Rose's Confession as Lurid as Dime Novel.

The expected murder indictments by the Grand Jury were not handed down yesterday owing to the time taken up by testimony of various witnesses who appeared before that body. One of these was Jack Rose, who, it was learned, held the jury spellbound for two hours when he repeated in an oratorical flow of excellent English the confession of his part in the murder plot and his alleged graft relations with Lieutenant Becker, which he has already made to District Attorney Whitman in writing. One of the jurors is reported to have remarked that he had not heard the equal of the story portrayed in any melodrama or saffron-hued dime novel.

The one additional fact of importance which the little bald-headed gambler added to his previous accusations against the police lieutenant was, it was learned, that Becker himself was in effect the paymaster of the murder crew. When Becker, "Bridgie" Webber and Rose met in front of the Murray Hill baths on the morning of the murder, according to the testimony of the witnesses, Becker borrowed from "Bridgie" Webber the $1,000 "blood money" in large bills, handed it to Rose, who handed it to Schoppa, who then passed it on to "Gyp the Blood" and his three thugs companions.

Becker, according to Rose, said to Webber, "Bridgie" I owe you $500 already. Lend me another $1,000 and I'll make it all right with you."

"Two days later," Rose testified, "Webber sent Jack Sullivan to Becker to get the money back, but he never got it and he has not got it yet."

Involves Sullivan in His Confession.

Rose also involved Jack Sullivan the "Newsboy King," and close friend of Lieut. Becker, in the murder plot. Rose is said to have declared that Sullivan after riding around the city the night of the murder with Lieutenant Becker, went to "Bridgie" Webber's gambling place, and seeing that the gun-men were there, went to the Hotel Metropole to locate Rosenthal. Rose, it is further said, told the Grand Jury that Sullivan then returned to Webber's and told the gun-men where Rosenthal could be found.

For several days it had been reported that Sullivan was on the point of confessing. His indictment for murder is anticipated.

Becker Said He Could Fix Whitman. Webber, who was also a witness, testified, it was learned, that this was his understanding of Sullivan's duty, but said he could not swear that the former newsboy had performed it. Both Rose and Webber told of the assurances which they said Becker gave them of protection after the murder.

"If we had not known that Whitman had the number of the gray automobile," said Rose, "we would have felt all right. Becker said: 'Don't worry about Whitman, we can fix him all right,' but it didn't look to us much if he could be fixed when we knew that he got up out of bed less than an hour after the murder and was on the scene."

American Schooners Condemned.

Ottawa, August 14.—The Marine Department was advised to-day that the Admiralty Court of Nova Scotia has condemned the Gloucester fishing schooner Hattie Heckman, seized at Barrington, N.S., for violation of fisheries regulations.

The schooner now reverts to the Canadian Government, but what will be done with her is to be considered. In some previous cases the seized vessels have been released on bonds, and with a nominal fine. This is the third American schooner to be confiscated within a month for poaching. The others were caught on the Pacific.

Bitten by a Dog.

Yesterday afternoon a twelve year old boy named Brookings, who lives on Signal Hill, was badly injured as a result of a bite from a fierce dog. He was going down to a fishing stage at the North Battery when he was set upon by a savage brute, owned by a person named Critch. The canine jumped at the boy like a tiger, seized him by the face and tore a portion of flesh from the right jaw with its teeth. The youth, whose face was disfigured, and with blood flowing freely from the wound inflicted, screamed bitterly and attracted the attention of two women who beat the mongrel away. The victim was then hurried to the General Hospital where the wound was cauterized and properly attended to, although fears of blood poisoning are apprehended. The parents of Brookings intend to summon the owner of the dog to have him repair the injury. Dogs in the habit of biting should not be allowed at large unmuzzled.

Gas is Coal With the Trouble Taken Out.

Gas is really nothing more than coal, only with gas you have the coal less the dirt, ashes and smoke. These have been taken out by the Gas Company. The weight, too, has been taken out, for when you use gas you don't have to carry it up from the cellar in buckets, straining your back in the attempt. All of the drudgery has been removed. The gas company has taken everything out of the coal but the heat—and that's the one thing you want. This they deliver to you right to the burner of your range. You only have to turn a tap and strike a match in order to have it.

If your mind is half made up to buy a GAS RANGE, remove the remaining doubt by thinking of last summer and the many days when your kitchen was like a burning furnace. The gas range never overheats the kitchen.

Phone the gas company, or call at their showrooms and get full particulars.—June 20, 1912, a.t.f.

Fisherman Catches Whale.

Last week some of the fishermen of Conchman's Cove, found floating in the water at the entrance of the harbour, a whale and they immediately set to work and towed it ashore. The whale measured one hundred feet in length and should prove profitable to the fishermen in whose possession it now is.

On Second Thought.

BY JAY E. HOUSE.
Generally speaking, a man of leisure is one who has time to carry on a friendly correspondence with other men.

Buck Kilby says his ambition is to see a race for office between a politician named "Bill" and another called "Honest John." Buck says there is nothing he enjoys so much as the spectacle of the intelligent voter in a hole where he has to think for himself.

Most men get along with one distinction, but this Mr. Zybyso appears to have two. He sounds like a waiter and resembles a club sandwich.

A calm and patient man is one who can wait for the election returns until they announce them from the stage of the theatre.

The more they have the easier it is to get it. The purse with a tight string usually is a small one.

If you are a woman you may as well make up your mind that you will, eventually, be either too fat or too thin.

The theatre will be pretty nearly ideal when they make it as comfortable as a church.

Remember the old problem concerning the ultimate destination of the pins? A man gets the answer every time he buys a shirt.

The second wife usually has the better time while she lives, but the expensive tombstone is erected over the first wife's grave.

Of all the discredited theories the one to the effect that cats can catch rats seem to dig the hardest.

Teacher Cured of Barber's Itch

Barber's Itch is a form of Ringworm, which, when once started, is most annoying and unsightly, and most difficult to cure.

But you can cure Barber's Itch and keep the skin wonderfully soft and healthy by applying Dr. Chase's Ointment. Just read what this teacher has to say about the healing power of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Mr. Chas. O. Poirer, Upper Caraque, N.B., writes: "Two years ago while teaching at Shippegan I caught Barber's Itch. A friend told me Dr. Chase's Ointment would cure me, as it had him."

"Not only was I cured by that single box, but it also cured two of my pupils, and this too quickly to be believed. One of them, a girl, had a running sore on the chin, which the doctor had tried in vain to cure. The other had a sore on the ear; water running out of it all the time. I can certify to the cure of these cases."
