The defendant is said to receive a large income as traveling canvasser, but none of it goes to his family, to whom the charitable public of Forest have extended their sympathy by raising a subscription fund, with which Mrs. Fraser has been enabled to start a modest little candy business. It is alleged her husband maintains a house in Toronto. His wife did not arrive in time to appear against him in the Police Court this morning, and Fraser was given the option of ball in two sureties of $250 each.

Lecture on Missions.

Lecture on Missions.

Rev. D. J. Caswell's missionary address on "Men and Missions," delivered in Christ was charactering and was enjoyed by a large audience. The speaker carried the minds of his hearers into every corner of the mission field, and dealt with the magnitude of the work attempted and the different results attained under dissimilar circumstances. The interest throughout was quickened by graphic pictures drawn from real life, depicting the ludicrous customs and religious exercises in vogue in the heathen world. The Bishop of Huron, on the conclusion of the address, thanked the speaker for his lecture, which he praised in the highest terms. A liberal missionary collection was taken up, after which the meeting was brought to a close.

This Evening at the Grand.

Miss Clara Louise Kellogg and her well-known concert and opera company will be at the Grand Opera House this evening in a programme which cannot but prove attractive. The first part will be miscellaneous, while the second will consist of the entire fourth act of "Il Trovatoro" in full costumes and with appropriate stage settings. The Washington press says:

"Miss Kellogg, as Leonora, sang her part with the strict accuracy for which she is noted, and the high notes were particularly effective, and received genuine applause."

The Montreal Star remarks: "Miss Kellogg, to whom the role of Leonora naturally fell, showed herself throughout a true artist, appearing to great advantage in the impassioned scene with Manrico toward the close of the third act, and rising to true grandeur in the 'Miserere' and closing scenes of the fourth act."
