THE KILLING FROST.

IN CANADA. From all parts of the country come accounts of serious damage to fruit and vegetables by the frost of Friday and Sunday nights. Around Hamilton the frost has done incalculable damage to fruits and garden truck. At Thorold the frost badly damaged grapes, peaches, strawberries and cherries and early vegetables. The grain crops are all right. At Port Dalhousie on Sunday night there was a very hard frost, making about a quarter of an inch of ice. Early corn and other garden vegetables have grapes are damaged. At Meaford grapes are all gone and strawberries are damaged very materi-The frost caused considerable damage been cut down entirely. Peaches and to vegetables and fruit in the vicinity of Chatham. At Welland the frost is supposed to have killed nearly all the small fruits. Grapes, pears and peaches are badly damaged, also the apple crop, all garden stuff and grain that was far enough advanced has been destroyed.

Similar accounts come from Dundas, Merritton, Oakville and Grimsby, and many other points. At Niagara Falls the frost has done thousand of dollars' damage. Ice half an inch thick formed. The peach, apple, cherry and plum trees are badly damaged, and grapes and bush berries. TWO BOYS DROWNED.

Tragic Finale of a Day's Fun at Waterford. Waterford, May 13 .- On Saturday a number of boys were fishing up the pond, and three of them, Edward and Lewis Green, aged 15 and 13 years respectively, and John Chart, about 13 years, had just got into their boat and were ready to start back, when one of them, leaning too much to one side, upset the boat. Lewis Green managed to reach shore safely, but his brother Edward remained to help young Chart. He and the latter were both drowned.

NOTICE—ROBERT J. SMITH, LICENSEE of the premises known as the Duke of York Hotel, No. 921-625 Dundas street, has made The Scrap Bag.

Vogue, New York's authority on the "correct thing," says that cycling-or wheeling-gowns are made up in the same weight of cloth as the riding habits. Nothing of lighter weight will answer without risking the wind's frolicsome humor. Paris tailors put a heavy satin lining in cycling skirts to give greater ease to the motion required to turn the wheel, and it is well worth the extra expense to get rid of all possible friction. Facings of leather, and inserting weights in the bottom of the skirt, are both very necessary adjuncts. The favorite cloths are fancy heather mixtures from Scott Adie's or clouded checks. Something flecked with white, the surface effects running into browns, greens, blues or grays. As for the kind of bodice or jacket-there are three or four styles, all very fit and pretty. The open or closed Eton for instance, or the coatee, very open, with vest and rounded corners, or the same almost closed with square corners, and the trim-belted Norfolk jacket, or the basque jacket. single-breasted, with coat collar, showing a chemisette and tie. Propriety and severity of style must be observed in cycling gowns as they are, in fact, another form of habit. A little indulgence in quiet coloring may enter the necktie or hat trimming, but everything voyante must be tabooed. The hat for spring wheeling should afford shade to the eyes. The sailor-brimmed hat answers nicely, and should always be accompanied by a veil. Leggings, of course, are made to match the habit. Boots or ties may be of russet or black patent leather, with flat low heels. Dent gloves, small lapel bouquets, always give a smart finish to the cos-

A writer on "Hygienic Dress" says of corsets: "Out of harmonious line with the ribs, they throw a great many muscles out of use, interfering with the natural breathing, the powerful intercostal muscles beneath the corset become shriveled and partially paralyzed; it becomes impossible to properly distend the diaphragm, and therefore the proper amount of life-giving oxygen is not inhaled. The corset wearer makes her own record in the misshape of her body, in her inability to breathe correctly, and in defrauding the system of oxygen. It is needless to say that the blood becomes impure, and that functional action of important organs is interfered with. Digestion and circulation are ruined, and the complexion declares the folly and the sin as plainly as Cain bore the mark of murder on his Greta-"Belle tells me she's sorry she ever married you!" George-"She ought to be. She did some nice girl out of a mighty good husband!'

It is said that Mrs. Evans, wife of the ex-lord mayor of London was in her maiden days a maid of all work in a country inn. When Mr. Evans, then a wealthy London merchant, met her for the first time she was attracted by her modest ways, and, falling in love soon after, had her educated and married

Tea gowns are the most delightful and artistic garments that we possess. The newest have a Watteau pleat down the center of the front. White cloth on thick cream flannel, trimmed with chestnut brown velvet, looks well, or the same may be made with a side panel of straw-colored accordeon-pleated silk. Two shades of mauve or mauve and pansy-colored velveteen look pretty. With tea gowns particularly dainty slippers should be worn of bronze or patent leather, or kid to match the color of the deshabille. The Biking Love Song is the latest Oh, come, my love, and bike with me; The moon is in the sky.

Together let us fly. We'll take the steep hills hand in hand, And on the thank-you-marm Your lover true, pray understand.

We'll wheel through all eternity;

Will keep you far from harm.

And blacken your sweet eyes, Though all the world shall jeer and scoff. I'll tumble off likewise. I'll smash my head for your sweet sake,

I'll break my neck for thee, I'll take a header in the lake,

No matter how muddee,
