Who's the Best Youngster in the American League? | PHILLIES DROP TWO "EDDIE FOSTER!" SAYS BAN JOHNSON

Eddie Foster, third baseman of the Washington club, is the best young player to come into the American League this year, in the opinion of President Ban Johnson.

The head of the American League voiced this opinion when asked to name the best all-round young ballplayer of this year's vintage. This is what Johnson says of Foster:

"Foster is but one of several very fast players, who have made great records in their first season's efforts. When every view of Foster's work is considered, however, I believe he is entitled to the honor of leading the

"It is different now, however, for he has learned his lesson well, and o realizes it is up to him to keep himself in condition to deliver the best baseball that is in him.

BOBBY OFFERS AN EXCUSE. Hamilton Spectator: "Only a short time ago one or two of the Canadian League club owners were finding fault with the delay in the publication of the league averages, claiming that this would result in fewer sales than would otherwise have taken place. While admitting that the delay in the averages did not help matters any, and taking advantage of the opportunity to state that the averages are still held up by two of the official scorers, the Berlin official having forwarded his returns, it must be pointed out that the big league clubs are not buying up many youngsters as they are found in the Canadian League. Instead, they are waiting back for the draft, as they did last year, when they took one by purchase and seven by draft, claiming that players in Class C company are far from ripe enough for use in the big show, and that even after they are picked up they have to be placed in some minor league school for a year or two before they are ready enough for any kind of a thorough Tesreau pitched in grand style, and after the game, was given credit by the official scorer for a no-hit victory, although previously one hit had been recorded against him.

The disputed play came in the first inning. Paskert hit a fly near the plate for which Merkle and Wilson ran. Each fielder got under the ball. Then fearing a collision they permitted the ball to drop to the ground. After the game the official scorer reversed his decision on the play, and decided to cross out the hit for Paskert and gave Merkle an error, as the latter said he had touched the ball when he saw that Wilson would not run into him. not run into him.

New York, Sept. 7.—Although no definite announcement has been made by the management of the Garden Athletic Club that the bout between Packey McFarland and Ad. The demand of Wolgast for more money, after his failure o dispose of his share of the moving picture priveleges, has not been met by the Garden Athletic Club, and will not be met.
