YOUTHFUL, WRINKLESS SKIN EASY TO HAVE

You who desire to gain a youthful appearance, will go well to make the acquaintance of the two simple but valuable prescriptions given here.

To make an effective wrinkle-chaser, mix an ounce of saxolite and a half pint witch-hazel. Bathe the face in the solution—immediately every wrinkle is affected. It acts wonderfully on sagging facial muscles the lotion possessing remarkable astringent and tonic properties.

To get rid of an aged, faded or discolored complexion, buy an ounce of common mercerized wax at any drug store and apply nightly as you would cold cream, erasing in the morning with soap and water. This will slowly absorb the undesirable surface skin, revealing the younger, brighter, healthier skin underneath. I know of nothing to equal this treatment as a facial rejuvenator.

INSIDE HISTORY OF BUNKER HILL GUN

It Was Taken to Quebec by Major Tapp Whose Grandfather Got It From British Government.

Col. J. L. Herbert Nelson, president of the Quebec Literary and Historical Society, tells the story of the Bunker Hill gun as follows: "The real story of this piece of cannon appears to be unknown. I am of the few remaining who do know its history, and therefore feel justified in making the following statement concerning it: "On the 4th of November, 1871, Capt. C. E. Montisambert, Quebec Garrison Artillery, and I were commissioned to re-examine B Battery C.A. (the first of the permanent corps) and at the same time to take charge of all the military buildings and stores, transferred to the militia department when the last of the Imperial garrison sailed from Quebec on 6th of November. Among a multitude of obsolete materials we noted this strange bronze gun in the sheds in rear of the present R.C.R. quarters on Louis street. A few days later Major W. B. Tapp, a retired British officer, whom we had known, came to us, claiming that this bronze gun was his personal property, that it had been a heirloom in his family for about a century, that being determined to fix himself permanently in Quebec he had caused the gun to be brought from his home in England, and that pending the creation of a new home here he had requested one of the military storekeepers to house it, where we found it. He asked us to take charge of it until such time as he would claim it. He further volunteered the statement that the gun had formed part of the armament of an American troop of war or privateer captured off the harbor of Boston in the early days of the Revolutionary war by his grandfather, then an officer in the Royal navy. This officer had either received the gun as a reward or kept it as a legitimate loot.

"During the summer of 1878, our new commandant, Lt.-Col. T. B. Strange, R.A., caused the gun to be mounted on an improvised carriage in the centre of the Citadel square, in the exact position it now occupies. "In May, 1878, being on leave of absence, I visited the United States and among other cities Boston, and among its sights, the Bunker Hill monument. At the summit of this monument, mounted by a long flight of stairs, in a quadrangular chamber, to my surprise I found affixed to the walls two bronze guns of the exact size and appearance of our Citadel gun. A third but similar gun was in several fragments also affixed to the walls. On one of these was an inscription to the effect that in the year 1728 four bronze guns were cast by order of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, that all were used during the war of independence, two of these were intact at the close of the war—the third exploded, (hence the fragments) and that the fourth had completely disappeared.

"There could be no doubt that Major Tapp's gun was the fourth gun referred to in this inscription. It exactly corresponds to its fellows in size and above all by the embossed oval escutcheon with the arms of Massachusetts—an Indian holding a bow above a lone star.

"I mentioned these facts to my brother officers after my return and I think gave the information to at least one of the Quebec papers of that year, 1878. Up to 1877 there was no inscription whatever on the gun itself. That year and the year following I was on leave and returned to England. After my return I noticed for the first time that the inscription, which still exists, had been deeply cut into the metal of the gun. I observed to Colonel Strange that there was no proof that this gun had ever been used and captured at the battle of Bunker's Hill, in fact the inscription was at variance with Major Tapp's first statement to Montisambert and me. He replied laughing, "What does it matter? No one will be the wiser, but it will tickle the fancy of our American visitors."

"Whether Major Tapp gave his consent to this inscription I never heard. In 1880—when B Battery C.A. was transferred to Kingston, we left the custody of the gun to the incoming garrison. "Major William Horro Tapp never created for himself a home in Quebec, he resided in a private family at Mount Pleasant. Probably for that reason he never claimed the gun."

WAS A CONFIRMED DYSPYPTIC

Now Finds It a Pleasure to Enjoy Meals

Here is a case which seemed as bad and as hopeless as yours can possibly be. This is the experience of Mr. H. J. Brown, 324 Bathurst St., Toronto, in his own words: "Gentlemen—I have much pleasure in mentioning to you the benefits received from your Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets and can cheerfully recommend them. I simply had confirmed dyspepsia with all its wretched symptoms, and tried about all the advertised cures with no success. You have in Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets the best curative agent I could find. It is now such a pleasure to enjoy meals with their consequent nourishment that I want to mention this for the benefit of others."

The fact that a lot of prescriptions or so-called "cures" have failed to help you is no sign that you have got to go on suffering. Try Na-Dru-Co, Dyspepsia Tablets and see how quickly this sterling remedy will give you relief and start your stomach working properly. If it doesn't help you, you get your money back. SUITORS LASHED OFF END OF GIRL'S TONGUE

Became Enraged Because She Refused to Elope With Him.

New York, Aug. 30.—Fred Menner, an ardent young suitor, enraged because Mary Degilio, a pretty Italian girl, refused to elope with him, drew a knife today, and slashed off the end of her tongue. He also cut the girl about the face and she was taken to the hospital in a serious condition.

A crowd pursued Menner and had almost kicked him into unconsciousness when he was rescued by the police and locked up.

"Do you know what an oath is?" asked a Virginia judge of an old dorker, who wanted his vote sworn in at an election. "Yes, ah. When a man swears to a lie he's got to stick to it."

SENATOR POIRIER IN ANOTHER SCREED

Says Real Savages are Found at St. John., N. B.

Montreal, Aug. 30.—The Acadicians are rejoicing all through New Brunswick because justice has been done them at last, by Rome in giving them Mgr. LeBlanc for Bishop, and in so doing he has chosen an excellent priest, French Canadian in sympathy. They rejoice because of the help that this will give to their religion and to their national sentiment. They expect renewed attacks from the Irish people but they do not fear them, so writes Senator Poirier of Shediac, N. B., in a letter today to Le Canada, Senator Poirier is holidaying at Manoulin, "I am at the end of the world among the Obidjays" he writes, "perhaps you believe that they are savages. Not at all. It is at St. John, N. B., that the real savages are found."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hill's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from two drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. TWO CHILDREN DEAD ATE MUSHROOMS

There Mother also in Serious Danger—Father Has Recovered.

Listowel, Aug. 28.—As the result of eating poisonous mushrooms, both of Hector Sutherland's children have died and his wife is in serious danger.

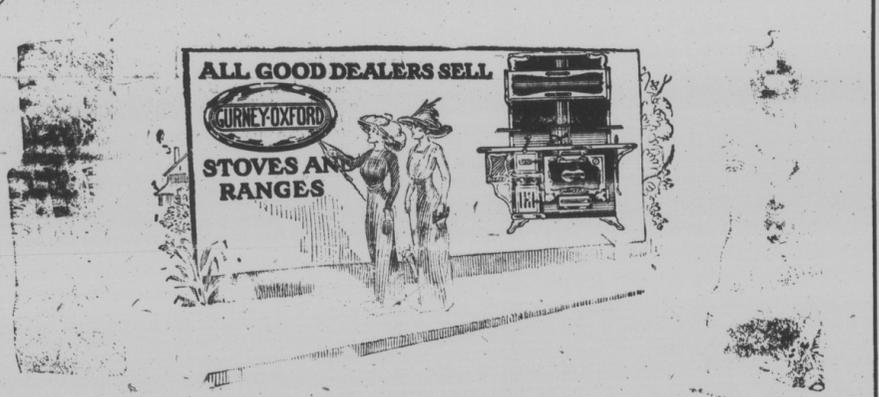

Mr. Sutherland who is a clerk in a hardware store here, gathered a basket of mushrooms in the fields last Sunday morning, and all of the family, which included himself, his wife and two children, ate of them at noon. About midnight all took ill, except Mr. Sutherland, with vomiting, and physicians were called. The boy named Richard, aged two years and two months, died on Tuesday afternoon, and the girl named Marguerite, a year and four months, died at seven o'clock this morning. Mr. Sutherland himself took sick on Monday night, but seemed to have entirely recovered.

The wife is very low and will have a hard struggle at the best.

Mr. Sutherland has frequently gathered and eaten mushrooms and thought these were all right. From his description, however, at least two of those eaten were of the deadly amanita variety, which, resembling outwardly the edible mushrooms grows out of a cup-like root and is virulently poisonous. The town is deeply stirred at the terrible character of the fatalities, which it is hoped will not be further deepened by the loss of the mother.

SMOKED FORTY DAILY FOR OVER TEN YEARS

London, Aug. 24.—It was stated at the inquest on Saturday at Kensington on Sigmund Edenfield, 36, a stock broker, lately of the Madrid Hotel, who well soiled, that he had smoked 40 cigarettes a day for the last ten years. He suffered from heart disease and was found lying dead in bed, face downward. "Accidental death" was the verdict.
