There was almost a general cheering at the news of Stanley's defeat. They say he himself took the result in dumbfounded amazement. Some one had provided a magnificent banquet to present to Mr. Stanley when his husband's triumph should be announced, but somehow it never reached her. Stanley himself sat staring blankly at the figures read out and the successful candidate, according to form, made a little speech, moving a vote of thanks to the returning officers. Stanley's agent had to judge him and explain to him his function to second a resolution which was refused, and finally was induced to get up, but only to call out curly, and move to second the motion.

THE GOVERNOR APPEALED TO. He Returned to Interstate and Let the Homestead, Pa., July 6.—Sheriff McClary telegraphed Governor Patterson while the fight was in progress, stating that he was unable to cope with the riot and asking for assistance. The Governor replied declining to interfere until all other means had been exhausted. McClary replied that he had endeavored ineffectually to secure a force, and the civil authorities were powerless to meet the situation. Governor Patterson again replied refusing to send the military, and expressing his opinion that the Sheriff had no alternatives to execute the law or enforce order.

DETAILS OF THE FIGHT. One of the Bloodiest Battles on Record at Homestead, Pa., July 6.—At an early hour this morning 300 Pinkerton detectives arrived in Pittsburgh from the east. They were rapidly marched to the Monacaqua River where they were loaded on barges and shipped to Homestead at 2:15 a.m. The news of their arrival spread rapidly and when the steam tug Tule, towed by the tugboat, arrived at Homestead, there were 5000 waiting to meet it.

THE PINKERTON SIDE. What the Man in Charge of the Detective Officers says. PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 6.—Captain F. H. Heine, who had charge of the Pinkerton men at Homestead, was brought to the city at noon, with five companions, who were wounded. Among the fatally injured is W. F. Kline, Capt. Heine will recover. Capt. Heine has been in the employ of Pinkertons for many years and has had charge of the men in several large strikes. He was always considered a very conservative man. When sent this afternoon, he said: "I had charge of these men and they were picked up in Chicago and New York. They were a very fair lot of men. They number 300 all told, and I gave them strict orders not to shoot to protect ourselves we had to return the fire. Seven or eight of our men are hurt." Capt. Heine stated that he did not know much about the strike, but had been ordered to take charge of the men and protect the property and he did the best he knew how.
