These magnificent Ships are all AMERICAN BUILT, and constructed expressly for Packets. They are all New and of the First Class, being built on the most improved principles, and of the best materials. They possess all modern improvements which conduce to health and comfort, as a superiorsystem of lighting and ventilating, the very best Provisions, and a careful medical superintendence. The Captains have been carefully selected as first rate sailors and men of humanity, and an experienced Surgeon is attached to each Ship, and no expense is spared to render this the best and the most popular conveyance to America. As Train & Co. have made such arrangements in Liverpool as will Protect their friends from the fronds and impositions sometimes practised there, they believe that those who pre-pay passages cannot but see the adlieve that those who pre-pay passages cannot but see the advantage of being able to engage with a Respectable House, on favorable terms, for a well known Line of magnificent Packet Ships, and in this way avoid the disrespect, annoyance and delay which they so often experience, when they engage with Agents who are but slightly connected with transient

As a proof that their Immigration business is conducted on principles uniformly honorable and humane, and that they have been distinguished for the most exact fulfillment of all their Engagements, we are permitted to refer to the Very Rev. THEOBOLD MATFIEW, Cork, Ireland.

NEW LIGHTS, or LIFE IN GALWAY. A Tale of the New Reformation. By Mrs. J. Sabliett. 18mo., 443 pages, muslin, 28 cd.

EXTRACTS PROM NOTICES OF THE PRESS.

EXTRACTS FROM NOTICES OF THE PRESS.

4 New Lights, or Life in Galway, is an original tale by Mrs. Saddier, and upon the whole the best and most finished of her powerful and most interesting tales in illustration of Irish history and Irish character. The New Lights are the converts to Protestantism obtained by soupand stir-about, and the story is intended to illustrate what is called the New Reformation in the West of Ireland. The characters are well drawn and clearly marked, and never, save in her rich and varied, and wholly impretending conversation, have we ever seen Mrs. Saddier to so great advantage as in the whole plan and conduct of this story. The work is marked by genuine Irish simplicity and archness, love of fine and touching pathos, violent passion and mediag tendertiess of heart, sweetness of temper, supernatural patience and resignation, strong fath and aricant picty. Mrs. Saddier is a true irish woman, and has a most wonderful facility of compelling us, even in spite of ourselves, to love and know her countrymen and countrywomen. We recommend her book most warmly to all classes of readers, but especially to those who are pretending that Ireland is about to especially to those who are preteiding that Ireland is about to upostatize from the field. An Irishman is no Irishman when not a Catholic."—Irelandon's Review.

"Mrs. Feither is much admired as a writer of tales, and this new production of her gifted pen will be sought for with avidity. One of its aims is to expose the proselytising efforts made in Ireland during the late famine?—Catholic Herald.

6 Mrs. Suffier has contributed many interesting volumes, original or translated, to the growing Catholic Library of America; but the last is the last of all. * * We cordially recommend the work to all our renders."—American Ceit.

"We have read this work with great satisfaction, and regard it as one of Mrs. Paddien's best efforts. The picture of frish sufferings and frish firmners is true to life. It is a clear and true expose of the proseletizing system recently pursued in Ireland, by the establishment of Four Houses and other tricks, to bribe the famishing poor from their ancient faith. to bribe the finalshing poor from their ancient faith. The Irrivitions are correct, and display in the wester an intimacy with Irish character, which is rarely met with in books on Ireland. The work can be read with interest, presit and pleasure?—Bultimore Cathodic Mirrer.

"This is a new work from the pen of a lady already well and most favorally known to the Catholic public throughout the world speaking the English language, and whose contributions to Catholic literature we always welcome with definite?—St. Louis Shepherd of the Valley.

"We welcome the work before us as one which paints with artistic truth and reflects faithfully the innermost feelings of our people in joy or in sorrow?"—New York Truth Teller.

We are sorry we are mayorlably precluded from giving extracts from this exciting work, which we hope to do on a fiture occasion. In the meanting we carneally recommend such of our readers who wish to enjoy a real literary luxury for half a deliar, to apply at once to Mr. Doyle or Mr. Homesity, in the Arcade, where the volume is for sale. — Toronto Efferor.

"The question need not now be demanded, 'Have we an authoress amongst us?' for in truth, we have; and one whose reputation occupies a more clevated position than the flood of trashy writers whose work now immiste our literature, and are landed for beyond their merits by those who should know bettee. Mrs. Sadher has written several well told tales; but we consider the present work the best she has produced.'—— Montreal Transcript.

"As a description of Irish character and manners, most graphic and true to nature, we cannot but speak in very high terms of 'New Lights.' We doubt not that this work will have an extensive sale."—Montreal Pilet.

"This tale is delicated to the People of Ireland, and is written in a spirit of deepscated sympathy for their unfortunate condition. With regard to its peculiar religious tendencies, we have no opinion to express. As a merely literary production, it will add new lustre to the already high reputation of the gifted anthoress. Some of the delineations are graphic in the extreme, and the dialogue throughout is truthful and dramatic.'?

—Montreal Sam. "The question need not now be demanded, "Have we an

-Montreal Sun.
"New Lights" is in every chapter elegant and readable, and it several places reminds us of Professor Wilson's "Lights and Shadows of Scotch Life," than which we could pay neither author nor authoress a higher compliment."—Montreal Commercial Advertises.

"This new work from the pen of Mrs. Sadlier, will we don't not add to the abready well carned reputation that the lady enjoys, as the authoress of several charming Irish tales, in which the manners and national characteristics of her comm which the manners and national characteristics of her countrymen are delineated with great power, and admirable fidelity."—Montreal True Witness.

"This, the best production of Mrs. Saddier's clever pen is most appropriately dedicated to the people of Ireland. It is without exception or question, the most felicitous picture of the state of Ireland that has been drawn by any artist of the the state of freehold that has been drawn by any artist of the present day. We know of no writer of Irish romance except poor Bantin, who has so thoroughly comprehended or honestly exposed the real causes of Irish discontent, wretchedness, and insubordination. * * If the scene were laid in Carolina, instead of Conemara,—if the victims were negroes and not of European complexion—Savages and not civilised beings— Pagans instead of Pagass—then indeed might Mrs. Sadlier hope to eclipse Mrs. Stowe in English popularity, and have her apotheosis proclaimed at Stafford House, as it is the press of this country will fling the "cold shade of silence" over her admirable tale."—Landon Cetholic Standard.

DOCTRINAL AND SCRIPTURAL CATECHISM. By the Rev. Pere Collet. Doctor of the Sorbonne. Translated from the French, by Mrs. J. Sadlier. For the use of the Erothers of the Christian Schools.

This is considered by competent judges as the most complete, and at the same time, the most concise Catechism of the Christian Religion and Computer Litters that here the Manual Control of Society Litters that here the Christian Religion and Society Litters that here and at the same time, the most concise Catechism of the Christian Religion and of Scripture History that has yet been offered to the public. It is admirably adapted for adults requiring instruction as well as for children. The answers are all so condensed that they are easily committed to memory; and there is not a single point connected with religion, either of doctrine, discipline, or ceremonial, that is not tully explained.

We know that this work requires only to be known to secure for it a very wide circulation. In order to place the work within the reach of every person, we have determined to put it at the following prices: 12mo. 440 pages, half bound, is 104d; muslin, 28 fd; to schools and colleges we will put them at $25 per 100.
