A PAPAL ENCYCICAL LETTER READ IN THE CHURCHES.

London Meeting on the Treatment of Dillon and Mandeville in Prison—Dillon and Mandeville in Prison—Dillon and Mandeville in Prison.

DUBLIN, July 13.—A Papal encyclical letter was read to-day in all Catholic churches in the diocese of Dublin. In the Pope's letter he has heard with regret that excited meetings have been held at which inconsiderate and dangerous opinions regarding the recent Papal decree have been uttered, ever the authority of the decree itself being unspared. He has seen with pain torrid interpretations put upon the decree and statements made that it was prepared without sufficient enquiry having previously been made.

DUBLIN, July 14.—Michael Davitt writes that he has no recollection of promising C'Donnell's solicitor Mr. Parnell's aid in prosecuting his suit against the Times.

LONDON, July 14.—The House of Commons on Saturday to take action with reference to the imprisonment of Mr. Dillon and the death of Mr. John Mandeville.

FIVE THOUSAND persons assembled in Hyde Park on Saturday to take action with reference to the imprisonment of Mr. Dillon and the death of Mr. John Mandeville.

FAREWELL.

The following is a copy of the address presented Rev. Father Walsh Friday afternoon on behalf of the congregation of St. Francis Xavier church on the occasion of his departure for his parish at Frankfurt.

Though we knew, about seven months ago, that your stay with us would be but temporary, it is nevertheless with feelings of regret that we bid you adieu.

Your labors during the last seven months have been arduous and of a peculiar character; peculiar because you were neither our parish priest nor curate; arduous because of their extent, and the results show how well you have achieved them and how admirably qualified you have proved yourself in discharging them.

We say that it is with regret that we are so soon to separate, but we, however, have great pleasure in assuring you that you will convey with you the love and esteem of us all, and to show you our sincere wishes for your success in your new position.

Now, dear Father Walsh, good-bye, and may God bless you and prolong your days in good health as well as in strength and usefulness.

address and presentation, and replied briefly, thanking the congregation for their kind expressions and for the pleasant relations that had existed between them during the seven months he had been here.—Brookville Recorder.

RESTIGOUCHE.

At Restigouche, on the 27th inst., the Solemn Benediction of the three bells, procured as a very great cost from France by the Right Rev. Mgr. C. Guay, will be performed by the Right Rev. John Lanzevin, D.D., Bishop of St. Germain de Rimouski.

The advantage of such an excursion at this season of the year will impress itself on everybody. The sights and beauty of the country along the river and down the bay are most impressive, in particular the spot where Jacques Cartier planted the cross—the sign of grace and salvation—when he took possession of this part of the new world for France.

LONDON, July 16.—In the House of Commons to-day Attorney-General Webster asserted that he had neither received nor given the Government any information in reference to the case of O'Donnell against the Times.

A PACKED COMMISSION.

The Tories Choose a Tribunal of Their Own to Consider the "Times" Charges Against Parnell—The Irish Leader Refuses to Accept the Bill Without Explanations.

LONDON, July 16.—In the House of Commons to-day Attorney-General Webster asserted that he had neither received nor given the Government any information in reference to the case of O'Donnell against the Times.

Mr. Smith said he hoped it would, but if it was proposed it could not be. It is for Mr. Parnell to say, he said whether he accepts the proposals of the Government.

After midnight Mr. Smith formally moved that the House permit the introduction of the bill. Mr. Parnell rose to oppose the motion. He expressed surprise that Mr. Smith should make such a motion without desiring to make an explanation.

Now, dear Father Walsh, good-bye, and may God bless you and prolong your days in good health as well as in strength and usefulness.

It appears to me the Government desires to put the cart before the horse, to keep the question of the authenticity of the forged letters in the background, but I shall give no chance to the hon. member to back out of it, and if I find on examining the details of the bill in committee that they fail to ensure the fair enquiry which I demand I shall claim my right.

Mr. Smith, replying, said that he had given in the terms of the motion the fullest description of the measure, and that on the second reading the Parnellites would have an adequate chance of discussing the measure, so also in committee, when the names of the judges would be given.

The Parnellites intend to raise pointed debates on the Irish estimates in 'early' at the Tories are largely in favor of dropping the commission bill if Mr. Smith's conditions are not accepted.
