

The third resolution calls upon us - and especially the permanent members of the Security Council - to settle our difference peacefully. We have already, all of us, accepted that specific obligation by acceptance of the Charter. Furthermore, the inclusion in this resolution of the words "the mighty popular movement for peace and against war-mongers", which have a peculiar meaning in the communist lexicon, seems to bring this resolution also into the field of propaganda.

If the practice of introducing resolutions for the purpose of propaganda persists, then, Mr. President, even under your distinguished leadership, this Assembly will find it difficult to make that contribution to peace which we so ardently desire to make. We must, however, in spite of all obstacles keep everlastingly at the task. Only by so doing can we maintain in the minds and hearts of all people, faith in the United Nations as the best, possibly the only hope for the prevention of a war, which, if we allowed it to occur, would engulf and destroy us all.
