

Lives of the Chief Justices of England,

FROM THE NORMAN CONQUEST TO THE DEATH OF LORD MANSFIELD.

BY LORD CHIEF JUSTICE CAMPBELL.

2 Vols. 8vo. 30s.

"Although the period of history embraced by these volumes had been previously traversed by the recent work of the noble and learned author, and a great portion of its most exciting incidents, especially those of a constitutional nature, there narrated, yet in 'The Lives of the Chief Justices' there is a fund both of interesting information and valuable matter, which renders the book well worthy of perusal by every one who desires to obtain an acquaintance with the constitutional history of his country, or aspires to the rank of either a statesman or a lawyer. Few lawyers of Lord Campbell's eminence could have produced such a work as he has put forth. None but lawyers of his experience and acquirements could have compiled a work combining the same interest as a narration, to the public generally, with the same amount of practical information, for professional aspirants more particularly."

Britannia.

A Lecture on Arctic Expeditions,

DELIVERED AT THE LONDON INSTITUTION,

BY C. R. WELD, ESQ.

Second Edition. Map. Post 8vo. 1s.

"An intelligent general view of the subject of Arctic Discovery from early times, a rapid but well-informed sketch of its heroes and its vicissitudes in modern days, a hopeful view of the chances of Franklin's return, and an account of the circumstances of the original expedition and of the voyages in search, which will be read with considerable interest just now."

Examiner.

Aunt Ida's Walks and Talks;

A STORY BOOK FOR YOUNG PERSONS.

BY A LADY.

With Four Illustrations. 16mo. 5s.

"One of the most pleasing little books of stories for children that it has been our lot lately to meet with. The tales are chiefly translations from the German or Swedish: the framework is supplied by walks in the neighbourhood of Heidelberg, by aunt Ida and five little English nieces."

Guardian.

The Heiress in Her Minority,

OR, THE PROGRESS OF CHARACTER.

BY THE AUTHOR OF "BERTHA'S JOURNAL."

2 Vols. 12mo. 18s.

"In this work there is a due admixture of religious instruction of a higher class—more practical, and evincing a greater degree of learning than in most works of the same stamp. On the whole, the book is a small, readable, compressed cyclopaedia, with a copious index and distinct chapter headings—a very mine for youth, and a happy anodyne for the restless hours of a wet day in a country house, when 'bat and ball' are forbidden, the skipping-rope is laid aside, and les graces, battledore and shuttlecock, archery, and other amusements of the same genus, are impossible. Then take up these green covered volumes, ye restless imps, and sit down in the broad bow-window to revel in the beauties of the insects, and the birds, and the glorious flowers, which the 'Heiress' brings before ye."

Morning Chronicle.