

THE WHITE SWAN

"Peace be to this house," said the voice of the priest.

And there was peace—for the child lived, and the man has loved, and has kept his vow, even unto this day.

For the visions of the boy, who can know the divers ways in which God speaks to the children of men!

(1)

THE END