HE Red Triangle Fund is making an appeal to you. It is asking you to have your due share in the $2,250,000 which the Young Men's Christian Association is raising for its 1918 war work. What your due share is only yourself can say, but surely it is just as much as you can give.

The war-work of the Y. M. C. A. is entirely dependent on gifts from the general public. The needs of the work are many. You have been told what they are in other advertisements of the Red Triangle Fund.

Your gift goes to provide the men now fighting, with the things they need and desire and which would not be provided if it were not for the Young Men's Christian Association. Through the Red Triangle Fund you are giving the men overseas many of the comforts and advantages which you are enjoying at home. Who is there among us who does not feel ready to share all that we have with those who have gone from us, surrendering all?

The money we give to the Red Triangle Fund is made to accomplish great things. Even a small gift has its powers of blessing and service many times multiplied when given through the Red Triangle Fund.

We ought to welcome the opportunity of the Red Triangle Fund. All that we have to do is to give our contribution to those representing the Fund. From the moment our gift is made our money goes to do its designated work. Through fine and prudent administration our collated gifts provide the men overseas with comforts and boons that they deserve and which we ought to supply.
