World Office, Monday Evening, Oct. 23. Monday Evening, Oct. 23.

To-day's local stock market was thoroly and and uninteresting, trading being narrow and prices equally so. The more enticing movements of Wall-street have absorbed the local speculative business for the time being, and consequently this element of price assistance is lacking. As is usual in a dull market, gossip manufacturers have eased to dispense their interesting items, and nothing but the ordinary routine juter-fered with to-day's quotations. It can be definitely stated that no industrial concessions will be granted in connection with the big Russian loan, which is being negotiated. Each of the foreign banking groups will be on absolutely the same footing.
The Americans do not seem to be particularly pleased with the terms offered by the Russian government. The extent of their participation is still undecided.

Mr. Knowles' chief points were that a man's religious life can't be determined by observation of outward and superficial matters, but indulgence in innocent games was a great enemy to sin. It was better to play billiards or whist at home with only family than Religion and Sports. whist at home with one's family than to have to go to questionable places to play. World Office. Monday Evening, Oct. 23. This authority has been proverhially inclined to make large estimates. The market showed the effect of heavy buying and covering, and made new high records for the movement in all options. The killing at frost reported to-day must be regarded as about final in preventing new developments over a large part of the cotton belt, and the date should be regarded early as compared with recent years. Last year the visitation was nearly a month late, and the damage to the growing crop as a result of yesterday's frost will probably be reported conclusively in favor of a shorter yield than earlier predicted by most authorities.
